CCIT NAMING OPPORTUNITIES

The Catherine R. Gira Center for Communications and Information Technology (CCIT) provides Frostburg State University's students with modern facilities that greatly enhance their ability to learn and thrive in FSU's most technology-intensive disciplines.

Among the building's features are a "green" roof planted with vegetation designed to reduce FSU's carbon footprint, technologically advanced video and audio studios and a multi-media learning center featuring a Planetarium, which adds a significant teaching and regional outreach facility.

This amazing new building creates many recognition opportunities for those who wish to have their name or that of a loved one permanently associated with the facility. Commitments can be fulfilled over time, up to five years.

Donors wishing to support the Center for Communications and Information Technology (CCIT) at $25,000 and above will have a chosen space named in their honor and the option to endow a separate fund for restricted purposes. The endowed fund supports the department that resides in that space unless it is a shared facility.

Donor support is essential to the future of this technologically advanced learning center and the opportunities it provides students of today and into the future. Gifts made to name spaces specific to a department are invested in an endowment that provides funding for enhancements to that department and the most up-to-date learning tools that enrich our students' experiences. Gifts made to name shared spaces are invested in a general endowment that supports all programs housed in the CCIT.
