“Messiah” to Be Performed by FSU Chorale, Choral Society

The FSU Chorale and the Cumberland Choral Society will present George Frederic Handel’s “Messiah,” Saturday, Dec. 9, at 8 p.m. and Sunday, Dec. 10, at 3 p.m. in the Performing Arts Center Pealer Recital Hall.

The performance, conducted by Karen Soderberg, will feature soloists Jolene Brubaker, soprano; Daria Gerwig, mezzo-soprano; Scott Priest, tenor; and Eugene Galvin, bass-baritone and an FSU graduate. The Handel Chamber Players is comprised of professionals from the Morgantown, W.Va. area.

Brubaker of Germantown, Md., is a choral singer and soloist in the greater Washington, D.C. area. For 10 years she has been the Choral Director at Quince Orchard High School in Gaithersburg, Md., where her choirs have consistently received superior ratings at district, state, and national adjudication festivals.

Gerwig is a graduate of Indiana

University and currently resides in Virginia. Her repertoire includes Bach’s “Magnificat,” Mozart’s “Requiem,” Bruckner’s “Te Deum” and Pergolesi’s “Stabat Mater.” Daria has performed with the Miami Opera, Palm Beach Opera, Washington Opera and Summer Opera.

Priest’s opera debut was with Opera Theatre of Northern Virginia, in the role of Ricardo on “Oberto.” A featured soloist with Virginia Opera, he received critical acclaim in the Summer Opera’s production of “Madame Butterfly.”

Galvin is a graduate of FSU and taught voice and opera workshop at FSU from 1991 to 1997. He is best known to Washington area audiences from his many operatic appearances with the Washington, Northern Virginia, Opera Camerata of Washington and Summer Opera Theater companies, and at Constitution Hall as Sarastro in “Magic Flute” under the baton of Victor Borge.

On the concert stage, his bass solos in the 1999 Messiah Sing-Along at the Kennedy Center Concert Hall in Washington were broadcast live over the Internet.

In addition to his B.A. from FSU, Galvin holds a DMA in Opera Performance from the University of Maryland, where he directs the Undergraduate Opera Theater, and an M.M. degree from the Catholic University of America. Galvin teaches voice at Shenandoah Conservatory and at Catholic University.

Tickets for the “Messiah” are $15 for adults and $8 for students and may be purchased at the FSU Performing Arts Center Box Office, x4145; The Art Department at 76 Baltimore Street in Cumberland, Md.,

or from members of the Cumberland Choral Society.

Join In “A Salute to Service” Dec. 11

“A Salute to Service,” a recognition ceremony of the service programs at

FSU, will take place on Monday, Dec. 11, at 11 a.m. in the Pealer Recital Hall of the PAC.

The Honorable Harris Wofford, Chief Executive Officer of the Corporation for National Service, and other distinguished guests will be on hand to recognize FSU’s service programs as national models.

Everyone is invited to attend this celebration.

On the day of the event, parking will be reserved in the PAC lot. The organizers of the event apologize in advance for any inconvenience this may cause to students, faculty and staff.

President’s Reception

All students and employees are cordially invited to the President’s Holiday Reception Wednesday, Dec. 13, from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. in the PAC Lobby.

Memorial for Jim Hollis

An on-campus memorial service will be held for Jim Hollis, the FSU student who died in an automobile accident last month, on Friday, Dec. 15th at 2:30 p.m. in room 201 of the Lane Center.

The FSU community is invited to attend and pay their respects to Jim’s family.

Commencement Slated for Saturday, Dec. 16

The 117th commencement ceremonies of FSU will be held Saturday, Dec. 16, in the Harold J. Cordts Center Main Arena.

Two exercises will be held during the day. The College of Liberal Arts and Sciences will present degrees beginning at 10 a.m. and the College of Business and the College of Education ceremonies will start at 2:30 p.m. FSU President Catherine R. Gira will confer graduate and undergraduate degrees.

The featured speaker will be former member of the Maryland House of Delegates Betty Workman.

Student speakers include Ann Genova for the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, Niki Rhoderick for the College of Business and Shawn Swisher for the College of Education.

Int’l Film Series to Present “East is East”

The International Film Series continues with “East is East,” Tuesday, Dec. 5, at 7 p.m. in Lane Center room 201. The series is sponsored by Center Stage and the Lane Center & Campus Activities.

Set in the early ‘70s, this 1999 British film centers on the conflicts experienced when a Pakistani family falls under the influence of contemporary English mores. Fish-and-chips shop owner Om Puri, the strict Muslim father of seven, expects his brood to follow in his footsteps. But his six sons and daughter have their own ideas and head in non-traditional directions after the eldest son runs away from home rather than comply with an arranged marriage. When the next two sons discover that a similar fate awaits them, they rebel, with repercussions that force the family to reconsider their structure.

The showing is free and open to the public. "East is East" has a running time of 96 minutes.

Contact the Lane Center Information Desk at x4411.

African Am. Film Fest.: "Do the Right Thing"

The fourth film of FSU's African American Film Festival, "Do the Right Thing," will be shown Monday, Dec. 11, at 7 p.m. in the Atkinson Room, Lane Center room 201. Co-sponsored by the FSU Department of History, Center Stage and the African American Studies Program, this showing is free and open to the public.

Master director Spike Lee blends music, humor and drama to explore themes of racism in this Academy Award-nominated film. Set in Brooklyn's Bedford-Stuyvesant neighborhood during the hottest day of the year, a host of characters struggle with internal and external pressures that finally reach the boiling point and change their lives. Danny Aiello, Samuel Jackson, Ruby Dee and Ossie Davis are among the stars appearing in this film, which has been described by the Christian Science Monitor as "the most powerful and important American film to come our way in years."

Released in 1989, "Do the Right Thing" is rated R and runs for about two hours.

Art

"Halogen"

"Halogen," a dynamic presentation of print, Web and multimedia design work by seven FSU designers, will be on exhibit Friday, Dec. 8, from 7 to 9 p.m. in the Stephanie Ann Roper Gallery as part of the Fall 2000 Portfolio Night. The portfolios of these seniors range from surreal digital art to clean, progressive imagery. The exhibit is free and open to the public.

The exhibitors are Robert Coburn, Michael Schade, Brad Berline, Julie Watkins, Richard Gilbert, Russell Redinger and Christopher Bruno

Coburn's work is heavily influenced by the electronic music scene and powerful, streamlined graphics. His graphics attempt to expand the connection between the visually based world and the world of advertisement and graphic design.

Schade's clean, linear designs range from logos to Web design and multimedia. He is currently an intern for Pat D'Atri at D'Atri D'Sign.

Berline will intern at McClarran and Williams in Cumberland, Md. Berline strives to achieve visual impact through strong graphics; his concentration is on graphics with an interest in photography.

Watkins has five years of professional experience, having interned at D'Atri D'Sign and working for a variety of groups such as AmeriCorps, FSU's Theatre Department and Penn Alps. Watkins is currently working for FSU's Cultural Events Series as well as Rhetoric Fonts, an electric type and image company based in White Plains, Md.

For the past three years, Gilbert has enjoyed doing print and multimedia freelance design for Concept 4 Inc. Electronic music, cutting-edge technology and minimalist art are evident in his designs. Gilbert's portfolio shows his diverse work experience and innovative style. His objective is to create an appealing and dynamic design that caters to the viewer's perceptions.

Redinger presents his print and graphic art in a surreal, biomechanical style. His designs are created using powerful three-dimensional imagery that fuses the worlds of man and machine. Redinger also works in the fine arts fields of painting, printmaking and sculpture.

Bruno will exhibit works from his focuses in multimedia and Web design, as well as a variety of print works. He studied under the late Peggy Hilton, who had encouraged him to pursue a career in graphic design.

"Out of the Fire"

"Out of the Fire," an exhibit of ceramics and sculpture by two FSU senior visual arts students, Steve Weslow and Windy M. Kroll, will open Friday, Dec. 15, at 7 p.m. in the Stephanie Ann Roper Gallery on the FSU Campus. The opening reception is free and open to the public.

Weslow and Kroll have similar styles, both working mostly in functional ceramics, but they have different sculptural sides, in displays ranging from traditional forms to science fiction.

Weslow, a resident of Frostburg, Md., will display his three-dimensional metal and clay sculptures, as well as his own outlandish original combinations. His inspiration comes from nature, marine life and his own outlandish original combinations.

Kroll, originally from Gaithersburg, Md., will display a series of functional ceramics, as well as her large vessels and metal tables. She is inspired by functional objects used in everyday life.

Following the Friday night reception, the exhibit will be open 1 to 4 p.m. daily from Dec. 17 to Dec. 20.

International Opportunity

All interested (especially new) faculty and staff are invited to the final New Faculty and Administrators' Workshop of the year 2000.

International opportunities for faculty and students will be highlighted, and chances to get involved in international activities on campus will be described by Amy Simes, Director of the Center for International Education, in the Fuller House Seminar Room at Monday, Dec. 4, 2 to 3:30 p.m. OR Tuesday, Dec. 5, 2 to 3:30 p.m.

Fuller House is on Braddock Road, adjacent to the PAC/Pullen parking lots, and is home to the CIE and the Honors Program. Holiday refreshments will be served. Following Tuesday's session, the two winners of the Best Attendance Award will be announced. Winners get lunch with the Provost!

What's next? Beginning in January, the Advising Mentor Program will begin workshops for all academic advisors.

Stafford Exit Interviews

Stafford Loan exit interviews will be conducted Friday, Dec. 8, in the back of Manicur Assembly Hall. These sessions are mandatory for all December graduates who received Stafford Loan money during their time at FSU. Students may choose any one of the following sessions: 9 a.m., 10 a.m., 11 a.m., 1 p.m., 2 p.m. or 3 p.m.

Students are asked to bring a pen, their driver's license and address information on three personal references (two of which being non-relatives).

The sessions will last approximately 30 minutes and will include information on repayment, deferment, loan consolidation and other topics. Students may contact the Financial Aid Office at x4301 with questions.

Perkins Exit Interviews

Perkins loan exit interviews to be held Thursday, Dec. 7, in the Lane Center, room 140. It is mandatory for all those planning to graduate who have had a Perkins loan to attend one of the following sessions: 9 a.m., 10 a.m., 11 a.m., 2 p.m. or 3 p.m.

You do not need to schedule a time. Simply arrive promptly for one of the sessions. Please bring your driver's license and address and telephone information for three references. Remember that your diploma will be held unless you attend one of these sessions. For information, contact Denise Fazenbaker, Perkins Loan Manager at x3186.

PEBESCO Rep to Be Here

Don Buhman, a representative of PEBESCO (Public Employees Benefit Service Corporation Organization) will be on campus Tuesday, Dec. 5. He will be in the Leake Room in the P.E. Center from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Employees wishing to have a consultation with Mr. Buhman should call the Human Resources Offices at x4105 to set up an appointment.

Deadlines

Incompletes, withdrawals

The last day for removal of incomplete grades for graduate students for the Spring 2000/Summer 2000 semesters is Dec. 11. Instructors may contact Marcy in the Registrar's Office at x4347 if they have questions or need "Change of Grade" forms.

Also, the last day to withdraw with a "WF" in a course for the Fall 2000 semester is Monday, Dec. 11.

Points of Pride

Temple University Press recently published The Maya Diaspora: Guatemalan Roots, New American Lives, co edited by James Loucky of Western Washington University and Marilyn M. Moors, adjunct professor in the FSU Department of Sociology. The book focuses on the Mayas who fled Guatemala in the 1980s and traces their journeys to refugee camps in Mexico and new homes in Belize, the United States and Canada. Contributors include anthropologists, sociologists, geographers and historians who have worked with these Maya in exile.

The Allegany County Commissioners proclaimed the week of Oct. 16 to 20 Child Care Providers Appreciation Week. During a reception at Allegany College on Oct. 19, Denise Payne, chair of the Allegany County Director's Association and President of the Western Maryland Association for the Education of Young Children (an affiliate of NAEYC), accepted the proclamation on behalf of the Allegany County Directors Association. A certificate of appreciation in recognition and dedication to the children of Allegany County by the Allegany County Council of Children, Youth and Families was presented to the FSU Children's Center and also accepted by Payne, who is also director/teacher of the Children's Center.

Dr. Tom Serfass, Assistant Professor of Wildlife Ecology, Department of Biology, was sponsored by the International Union for the Conservation of Nature and Natural Resource's Otter Specialist Group to participate in the workshop, How to Implement the Otter Action Plan, Hankensbuttel, Germany, Nov. 4-7. The workshop focused on developing a process and agenda for preparing a document (Otter Action Plan) to guide the implementation of a conservation strategy for the world's otter species. The meeting was attended by representatives from 18 countries. Dr. Serfass is responsible for compiling and editing the North American contribution to the Otter Action Plan.

Dr. Chandrasekhar Thamire, Assistant Professor of Mechanical Engineering, has produced the following recent peer-reviewed publications/presentations:

-- "Effect of Convection in Microcirculation on Diffusion to Tissue," Annual Conference of American Physical Society, Division of Fluid Dynamics, Nov. 2000.

-- "Buoyancy Driven Flow in a Narrow Spherical Annulus," Annual Conference of American Physical Society, Division of Fluid Dynamics, Nov. 2000.

The FSU Foundation Inc. and the Office of Annual Giving would like to thank and congratulate the following students who made the 2000 Fall Phonathon Campaign a success. Their dedication, professionalism and perseverance was the key to raising over $60,000 from FSU alumni during the 10 night telemarketing campaign:

International

Plan to Spend Your Summer Overseas

It's time to start planning for FSU summer programs abroad, which are open to all students who have completed two or more semesters by next summer. In the summer of 2001, FSU will sponsor five programs abroad: Social Philosophy in Germany, Social Work Field Experience in Limerick, Ireland, English and Spanish programs in the Andes of Ecuador, Art and Design or Humanities and Social Sciences in Ghana, West Africa, Watercolors and other courses in Oxford, England.

Summer in Germany

There will be an information meeting for students who want to spend five weeks in Germany studying "Social Philosophy" with Dr. Joy Kroeger Mappes. The program takes place in southern Germany near Stuttgart on the University of Maryland campus in Schwaibisch Gmund. Interested students should attend a meeting on Wednesday, Dec. 6, at 5 p.m. in the Fuller House.

Summer in Ireland

Students in the human services fields interested in obtaining field experience in Limerick, Ireland, during the summer of 2001 should attend an information meeting on Tuesday, Dec. 5, at 5 p.m. in Room 112 of the Guild Center. Dr. Maureen Connelly answer questions about the program and provide further details. This program is open to students who wish to gain experience working with social services agencies in Ireland.

Semester Overseas for Same Price as FSU

The International Student Exchange Program (ISEP) allows FSU students to register at FSU, pay FSU tuition and housing, and then study overseas for a semester, year or summer at one of over 200 locations. Students may take financial aid with them and apply for scholarships from the CIE. Choose programs taught in either English or in other languages. For the price of an airline ticket, this is a great way to earn credit while enjoying life in a foreign culture.

Intersession Programs in Quebec and Ecuador

Students who want to spend a few weeks living, studying and traveling in either Quebec or Ecuador over the intersession should visit the CIE to find out more about these programs. Application deadlines are nearing! The best way to learn a language is to speak it every day.

Study Abroad Programs

The Center for International Education offers a variety of ways for FSU students to see the world. In many cases students register at FSU during a semester abroad and can take all financial aid with them and transfer course credit back to FSU. For information on any of the programs or scholarships that may be available, check with Dr. Amy Simes at the CIE in the Fuller House on Braddock Road, call her at x3091 or e-mail her at asimes@frostburg.edu.

Beaches, Barbecues, and Kangaroos

FSU is now affiliated with AustraLearn, an organization that provides unique opportunities for students to study at a variety of universities in Australia. AustraLearn arranges cheap flights, a weeklong orientation program, pre-registration, and transcript evaluation. Students may choose from a variety of Australian and New Zealand universities, all offering a broad range of course offerings at campuses set in beautiful and exotic surroundings.

Pubs & Clubs in Newcastle, UK

Students interested in studying at the University of Northumbria in Newcastle, England, during the spring semester 2001 should contact the CIE to apply. Newcastle is one of the liveliest cities in the UK, just across the Channel from Amsterdam, and three hours north of London (one hour south of Edinburgh) by train. Course offerings are available in a wide variety of subjects. The cost of the program is the same as one semester (in-state) at FSU, and all financial aid will transfer. Applications are being accepted for Fall 2001.

Many ways to experience Culture Shock

FSU affiliates with the American Institute for Foreign Study (AIFS) which offers study abroad programs in a variety of locations at universities around the world. Programs are open to all majors. Currently the CIE is taking applications for spring semester 2001 programs. Spaces are still available in many locations. You may register at FSU and use your financial aid for all programs.

Octoberfest und Mayfest in Germany

FSU students who would like to take part in UMUC's semester programs in Schwabisch Gmund in southern Germany are advised to apply to the CIE. The campus is part of the University of Maryland system, and all credits transfer back to FSU. Live in a beautiful village and study on a campus with international students from over 80 countries. All teaching is in English.

Work/Volunteer Overseas

Students interested in working abroad should come by the CIE for information about internships, volunteer organizations and paid work overseas. Many organizations help students obtain jobs and work permits, and some help to arrange housing as well. Students can choose from short experiences (1-2 months) to longer experiences (4-12 months), or even look into a more serious commitment (1-3 years). Destinations are available throughout the world.

Information Sessions Every Tuesday

Each Tuesday at 3 p.m., students are invited to come by the Fuller House CIE Library for a free information session about study abroad. Students may access catalog, videos and the Internet.

Have a Happy -- and Safe -- Holiday Season

The Safety Office has a few tips for making it through the holidays safely:

SMOKE DETECTORS: Test and change batteries if required.

LIVE TREES FOR DECORATION: Cut a two-inch piece off the original stump before placing tree in water and taking inside. Do not place tree near heater, heat source or an exit.

LIGHTS AND WIRING: On decorative lights and wiring, look for frayed wires, loose connections, broken or cracked sockets and bare wires. Plug lights in before using to check them. Use three-pronged, grounded extension cords.

DECORATIONS: Look for flame retardant items. Keep all decorations away from heat sources. Dispose of wrapping papers, boxes, etc., before going to sleep.

WINTER DRIVING: Common sense and courtesy are the best two passengers you can have. Slow down, keep a safe distance from the vehicle in front of you, buckle up and don't drink and drive. Pull off the road to use your car phone.

The Human Resources Safety Offices would like you to return to work after New Years in good condition.
