University Theatre Leads Off Season with 'Damn Yankees'

University Theatre will lead off its 2004-2005 season of main stage and student productions with "Damn Yankees," coming to bat on Oct. 8, 9, 14, 15 and 16 at 8 p.m. and Oct. 9 and 16 at 2 p.m. in the Performing Arts Center Drama Theatre.

Based on the novel "The Year the Yankees Lost the Pennant" by Douglass Wallop, "Damn Yankees" is about the Washington Senators' number one fan, Joe, who strikes a deal with the devil and is transformed into a superstar rookie baseball player. The new Joe has a chance to lead the Washington Senators to victory over those damn New York Yankees. All the while, the devil intends to throw Joe a screwball at the bottom of the ninth. Will Joe's yearning for his wife Meg upset the devil's plans? Will Lola's charms be too much for Joe's integrity? Will Joe keep his soul and beat those damn Yankees?

Naomi Wallace's "The Trestle at Pope Lick Creek" will be presented on Nov. 12, 13, 18, 19 and 20 at 8 p.m. and Nov. 13 at 2 p.m. in the F. Perry Smith Studio Theatre. The play is one of several award-winning works by Kentucky poet/playwright Naomi Wallace. Set in 1936 at the height of the Great Depression, "Trestle" presents two teenagers who plan a game of "chicken" with an oncoming train, high on a trestle above a bone-dry creek bed. At first, the scheme adds excitement to life in this small factory town during an era of stifled ambitions. However, this youthful flirtation with death awakens other dangerous passions. A touchingly poetic play, "Trestle" is a powerful depiction of how economic depression contaminates individual lives. On seeing an early production, a critic with the Louisville Courier-Journal said, "After the play ended ... there was a moment in the darkness when I thought: 'This must be how it felt when people saw 'A Streetcar Named Desire' for the very first time.'" The play is recommended for mature audiences.

"Metamorphoses" will be presented March 4, 5, 10, 11 and 12 at 8 p.m. and March 5 at 2 p.m. in the Performing Arts Center Drama Theatre. One of the most unusual and highly acclaimed contemporary plays, Mary Zimmerman's "Metamorphoses" is an evocative, beautiful retelling of selected myths from the Roman poet Ovid. The stories of King Midas, Orpheus and Eurydice, Cupid and Psyche and Phaeton, among others, are included. Set in and around a large, shimmering pool of symbolic water, the play probes enduring questions about life, love, death and the inevitability of transformation and change. Time Out NY says, "Befitting its name, Metamorphoses is by turns romantic, witty, sexy and sublime."

The main stage season will wind up with, Oscar Wilde's "The Importance of Being Earnest" on April 15, 16, 21, 22 and 23 at 8 p.m. and April 16 at 2 p.m. in the F. Perry Smith Studio Theatre. Wilde's 19th century "trivial comedy for serious people" is arguably one of the greatest English satires to grace the stage. The amusement begins when bachelors Jack Worthing and Algernon Moncrieff both go by "Earnest" — a name that "seems to inspire absolute confidence" — in order to win the love of the women they adore. Gwendolen accepts her proposal from Jack, and Cecily from Algernon, but the women become heatedly confused when they meet and believe they are engaged to the same man. This witty comedy erupts when the formidable Lady Bracknell becomes involved, and, with the help of Miss Prism and a handbag, everyone is forced to discover the importance of being "earnest."

Tickets are $10 for the general public and $5 for students. Season discount tickets are also available. By purchasing three tickets for $30, you will receive a free ticket to "Damn Yankees." For reservations, call x7462, weekdays, 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Group discounts are available when booked in advance.

Join University Theatre for a season of student-directed productions in "Season Too!" All seats are $5 and will be performed at 8 p.m. in the F. Perry Smith Studio Theater. "The Piano Lesson" by August Wilson, will be presented on Oct. 29 and 30. "The Shape of Things" by Neil LaBute will be presented on Dec. 10 and 11. "Suicide In B Flat" by Sam Shepard will be presented on Feb. 18 and 19. The "Ornamental Hermit" by Jocelyn Beard will be presented on May 6 and 7.

Speakers

Brent Scarpo to Present Anti-Hate Message

Brent Scarpo, renowned speaker on anti-hate issues and solutions, will give two presentations on the FSU campus.

Scarpo's award-winning documentary, "Journey to a Hate Free Millennium," will be presented on Tuesday, Sept. 7, at 7 p.m. in Manicur Assembly Hall. The film seeks solutions to ending hate and the crimes that have become frequent events in our daily lives. The documentary centers around true stories taken directly from the shocking national headlines, including the student shootings at Columbine High School in Littleton, Colo.; the dragging death of James Byrd Jr., an African-American man in Texas; and the beating death of Matthew Shepard, a gay college student in Wyoming. This film explores the subject of hate by searching out the origins of how it is "taught and learned," the scope of its danger, beginning with childhood taunting and going as far as murder. Viewers are invited to create their own vision of a world free of hate, where senseless acts of violence are a thing of the past.

On Wednesday, Sept. 8, Scarpo will present the talk "Why Do You Hate Me?" at 7 p.m. in the Pealer Recital Hall of the Performing Arts Center. Over the past five years, Scarpo has addressed over 125,000 people in each U.S. state and 10 foreign countries. He takes his collective experiences and shares with his audience not only the issues of hate and diversity but also self-hate and self-esteem. "Why Do You Hate Me?" is an interactive program that explores solutions for individuals to become more vibrant, successful and creative people.

Both events are free and open to the public.

PlayRights Presents 'One Night' Program

PlayRights will bring its educational theater back to FSU Thursday, Sept. 9, with "One Night," to help students and the community explore the issue of dating violence. The performances will be at 3:30 and 7:30 p.m. in the Performing Arts Center Pealer Recital Hall. It is free and open to the public.

"One Night" is an original theatre program featuring four actors in a powerful story about rape among friends. One night, they get together to celebrate the end of classes, drinking beer, joking around and having fun. What happens behind closed doors later that night throws each character into an unexpectedly intense situation that will change their friendships forever. At critical points in the plot, the actors will stop the action and remain in character while audience members ask them questions to find out more about what really happened, as well as to uncover each character's motives, feelings, opinions and plans.

PlayRights was created by Equalogy Inc, a non-profit organization expanding awareness and promoting change on issues of equality.

For more information, contact Student Development at x4311.

Weekly Forums in Honor of James Hadra

FSU will launch a series of free weekly forums named for James Hadra, a long-time Frostburg State faculty member, volunteer at WFWM and community leader in the arts, to honor his positive influence on the community and his love of ideas.

All the talks will be Mondays at noon in Ort Library room 237 and are free and open to the public. Each program will last 50 minutes. Attendees are encouraged to bring a bag lunch; coffee and tea will be provided.

Upcoming programs are:

- Sept 13: Dr. Keith Schlegel, "Utopias and Genocide: Idealism Gone Amok."
- Sept 20: Kathy Powell (with Mary Jo Deffinbaugh and Ariel Kahan), "Reauthoring the Narrative: University and Community Relationships."
- Sept 27: Dr. Suzi Mills, "What the Scholars and Poets Could Learn from Community Music."

The forum is sponsored by Catholic Campus Ministries, United Campus Ministries and Hillel. For more information, call Gary Horowitz at x4271.

Appalachian Lab

On Thursday, Sept. 9, the second in the fall 2004 UMCES Appalachian Lab seminar series will present Brian Czech speaking on "The Steady State Revolution: uniting scientists and citizens for a sustainable society," another in the "Issues in Sustainability" group of talks. Czech, president of the Center for the Advancement of the Steady State Economy, and adjunct professor at Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University's Northern Virginia Center and a civil servant in the federal government, will speak at 3:30 p.m. in AL Room 109. Refreshments will follow.

Lecture on Civic Engagement Sept. 24

Dr. Susan Komives, a member of the University of Maryland College Park faculty, will speak on civic engagement on Friday, Sept. 24, at 2 p.m. in Lane University Center room 201. Her lecture is free and open to the public.

Komives is an associate professor in the Department of Counseling and Personnel Services at University of Maryland. She is a senior scholar with the James MacGregor Burns Academy of Leadership and has published widely on the topics of civic engagement and leadership on campuses. Her lecture is sponsored by the Faculty Development Subcommittee.

For more information, contact Ruth Wallinger at x4709.

Literature

Pulitzer Prize Winner to Read at Main St. Books

Pulitzer Prize-winning poet Stephen Dunn will be doing a reading from his new book of poems, The Insistence of Beauty, on Wednesday, Sept. 8, at 7:30 p.m. at Main Street Books in Frostburg. Dunn will also be available to sign copies of the book, which will be published by W. W. Norton on Sept. 7.

Dunn is the author of twelve collections of poetry, including Different Hours, for which he won the 2001 Pulitzer Prize for poetry, Loosestrife, a National Book Critics Circle Award finalist, and Local Time, winner of The National Poetry Series. He is the recipient of numerous awards for his writing, including the Academy Award in Literature from The American Academy of Arts and Letters, fellowships from the Guggenheim and Rockefeller Foundations and three National Endowment for the Arts Creative Writing Fellowships.

Dunn will be serving this year as guest editor of "Nightsun," the FSU-published literary annual of contemporary poetry, fiction and interviews. He is distinguished professor of Creative Writing at Richard Stockton College of New Jersey.

For more information, call Main Street Books at 301-689-5605.

Visiting Writer to Offer Poetry Reading

FSU's new Center for Creative Writing welcomes its first visiting writer for the fall semester, Gregory Djanikian, who will give a reading on Thursday, Sept. 23, 7:30 in Lane University Center room 140-141.

The author of four collections of poems and director of the creative writing program at the University of Pennsylvania, Djanikian was born in Alexandria, Egypt, of Armenian parentage. He emigrated to the United States when he was 8 years old. His insightful work investigates intimacies and distances, quarrels and gifts, romance and illness. What is it like, Djanikian asks, to imagine vengeance against the neighborhood thug? To realize "by the time we were finished/ we didn't know/ how far we had gone/ or where we had lost/ our own voices"?

Djanikian's probing and even-tempered poems navigate between largeness of feeling and compression of style. It is his "sense of precision about distances," Alec Marsh of The Boston

Gregory Djanikian

Book Review writes, "his awareness of engaging nostalgia, his willingness to step beyond cleverness, which makes his new book so valuable."

Djanikian's reading is free and open to the public. A book signing and reception, sponsored by the FSU Department of Student and Community Involvement, will follow. For more information, call the FSU Department of English at x4221.

Theatre

Shakespeare in the 'Burg: 'As You Like It'

This September, the Cambridge University American Stage Tour brings its lively and colorful production of Shakespeare's celebratory romance, "As You Like It," to FSU on Monday, Sept. 27, at 7:30 p.m. in the Performing Arts Center's F. Perry Smith Studio Theatre.

This feast of music, clowning and cross-dressing comes to you from students of Cambridge University, England. Each autumn the best of Cambridge's theatre talent cross the Atlantic to tour venues in the States – the show has been 11 months in the making with a full cast and crew working to create a thoroughly professional production.

CAST tours include the opportunity for American students and young people to participate in workshops, as a way of introducing them to Shakespeare or building on the knowledge they already have.

Tickets are $10 for the general public and $5 for students. For ticket information, call the FSU Box Office at x4145.

This appearance of CAST at FSU is supported in part by a grant from the Maryland State Arts Council, an agency funded by the State of Maryland and the National Endowment for the Arts.

Film

Int'l Films Launch with 'Demonlover'

FSU 2004-2005 International Film Series begins with the French film "Demonlover" on Tuesday, Sept. 14, at 7 p.m. in Lane University Center Atkinson Room 201. The series is sponsored by FSU Center Stage.

"Demonlover" is Olivier Assayas' breathtaking vision of our modern global world. On the surface, the film follows Diane (Connie Nielsen), a corporate mole who in trying to undermine a deal between two multinational conglomerates, uncovers a link between one of the companies and an interactive torture Web site known as "The Hellfire Club." However, she is challenged every step of the way by her amoral colleague (Charles Berling), an antagonistic and mysterious assistant (Chloe Sevigny) and an outspoken, pot-smoking American executive (Gina Gershon). The film captures a culture spiraling out of control in which reality is posited as a video game and where every twist escalates the film to a new level.

This film is presented as part of the Tournees program, made possible with the support of the Cultural Services of the French Embassy and the French Ministry of Culture.

Other films scheduled for this semester include: "Uncovered: The War on Iraq," Oct. 12; "Dirty Pretty Things," Nov. 16; and "La Belle et Le Bete" ("Beauty and the Beast"), Dec. 7. All film showings are free and open to the public. For information, contact the Lane University Center Information Desk at x4411.

Take Note

Study Abroad Fair Set for Sept. 14 at FSU

FSU's annual Study Abroad Fair will be held on Tuesday, Sept. 14, from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Delaney Plaza between the clock tower and the Lane University Center. If it rains, the event will be in the Lane Center's Atkinson Room.

Sponsored by the Center for International Education (CIE), this event highlights FSU's study abroad programs, along with many other programs, such as Arcadia University, semester at sea, Interstudy, Cultural Experiences Abroad and the Peace Corps. Representatives from these organizations, along with study abroad coordinators from University of Maryland Baltimore County and Salisbury University, will be on hand to answer questions and provide free literature.

Returning study abroad students will also be available to talk to their peers about what it was like to study or work overseas. Information about financial aid, scholarships, credit transfer, work opportunities abroad, internships and travel discounts will be provided, as well as prizes and refreshments.

For more information, call the CIE at x4714, or visit the CIE Web site at www.frostburg.edu/admin/cie/cie.htm.

Electronic Suggestion Box Open for Business

If you've always wanted to contribute your two cents, here's your chance. Send your suggestion to fsusuggestionbox@frostburg.edu.

An FSU e-mail address is required to make a suggestion. Suggestions are not anonymous.

Suggestions will be acknowledged immediately and a response should normally be expected within 10 days. If the response will take longer than 10 days the person making the suggestion will be told when to expect a reply.

If you have difficulty sending a suggestion to the box, contact Teresa Feck, x7092 or tfeck@frostburg.edu.

Brady Health Offers Vaccine Clinic

Brady Health Center will offer an "after-hours" meningococcal meningitis vaccine clinic on Sept. 8, from 4 to 6 p.m. The cost of the vaccination is $90 (including user fee) payable by cash, check or Bobcat Express. The clinic is by appointment.

Call x4310 for an appointment or more information. The vaccination is recommended particularly for freshman living in residence halls, but in Maryland all students living in on-campus housing must either sign a waiver or receive the vaccination. Re-vaccination may be considered in three to five years.

Sign-Posting Rules for Residence Halls

As we begin a new year, the Residence Life Office would like to remind the campus community of some guidelines for posting flyers/signs in the residence hall. The residence life staff will post up to 60 flyers in the residence halls for any organization recognized by the University. There is also an additional space in each hall to post flyers. All flyers must be approved by the Residence Life Office any time between 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. Approved flyers will be stamped with a "Fresh Through" date.

The staff in the Residence Life Office greatly appreciates your cooperation. These guidelines increase the appearance in the hall, reduce maintenance needs, and establish a set location in the building for students to find information. For more information or detailed guidelines, contact the Residence Life Office at x4121.

One-Day Retirement Seminars Coming Up

The State Retirement & Pension System of Maryland is offering one-day seminars at FSU this fall. Employees within 8 years of retirement, along with their spouses, are eligible to attend the seminars. If you have participated in a pre-retirement seminar within the last two years - you are not eligible to attend one of these seminars.

Registration is required. Forms are available in the Office of Human Resources by calling Kelly at x7487. Questions about registration should be directed to Sarah Cullip at 410-780-6632.

AIG VALIC Fall Schedule

Bill Spencer, financial advisor from AIG VALIC, will visit the University on the following days during the fall semester:

- Wednesday, Sept. 8.
- Wednesday, Oct. 6.
- Thursday, Nov. 4.
- Wednesday, Dec. 1.

Spencer will be in Lane University Center 203-204 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

each day to meet with FSU employees who currently are enrolled in a VALIC retirement plan and those who may be interested in enrolling. No appointment is necessary.

All classes are in Framptom 208 from 6 to 9 p.m. To register, call x4008. The cost of the class is $25 per session. Make check payable to FSU-CCP.

Points of Pride

Head Baseball Coach Chris McKnight, a member of the Clarysville Volunteer Fire Dept and his Search and rescue dog Nitro, recently participated in the Fire Safety and EMS camp. The camp was held on the FSU campus July 12-14. Nitro demonstrated his searching and agility skills for the campers.

Dr. Joyce Middleton, Accounting, attended and participated in the national meeting of the American Accounting Association in Orlando, Fla., from Aug. 8-11. She discussed a paper titled "Exploring Gender Differences in College of Business Educational Experiences".

Chris Harmon, FSU's director of annual giving, will be a member of the faculty at the conference Successful Annual Giving Strategies, sponsored by CASE (Council for Advancement and Support of Education) in November in San Diego, Calif.

Dr. Bill Anderson, Economics, has had two items published recently, "Law as a Weapon: How RICO Subverts Liberty and the True Purpose of Law," co-authored with Candice E. Jackson, in The Independent Review, Vol. 9, No. 1, summer 2004, 85-97; and "The Economics of World War II," chapter in the book The World War II Desk Reference, Douglas Brinkley and Michael E. Haskew, eds., 2004.

Dr. John Cheon, Marketing and Finance, has had the article, "Why do People Avoid Advertising on the Internet," accepted for publication in the Journal of Advertising's winter 2005 special edition.

FSU's McNair Scholars continue to distinguish themselves by winning multiple awards at the annual McNair ceremony held at the University of Maryland College Park.

Mathew Crawford, Flintstone, received the Academic Achievement Award, which is given to a student who displays academic excellence during the six-week McNair Scholar summer program.

Crawford and fellow McNair scholar Kristina Green, Baltimore, tied as runners up for the best presentation by a first-year student.

Emmanuel Cephas of Baltimore won the award for Best Presentation by a second-year scholar. Recently, Cephas won fifth place at a conference at the University of Tennessee for a research project presentation.

The current first year McNair Scholars are Katrina Anderson, Crawford, Green and Christopher Williams. The current second year scholars are Cephas, Cherise Mattheson and Melanie Spears.

The McNair program is designed to help students from low-income settings who aspire to earn a doctoral degree.

FSU junior Samantha Parsons spent about a month in Yuci City in the Shanxi Province of China this summer teaching English to Chinese children and teenagers, a trip sponsored by UCE (US-CHINA Education and Culture Exchange Center).

Volunteers

Read to Succeed and Mathletics Needs You

Read to Succeed and Mathletics are accepting applications for new tutors. This is a great opportunity for Education and Social Work students to earn service hours, but everyone is welcome.

Read to Succeed provides two hours a week of free literacy support to children in grades K-8. Mathletics is the math component of the program and is offered to students in grades K-8.

Literacy Tutoring is offered at FSU Ort Library on Tuesdays or Thursdays from 5 to 7 p.m. and at St. Michael's School on Tuesdays from 2:45 to 4:45 p.m.

Math Tutoring is offered at FSU Ort Library on Mondays or Wednesdays from 5 to 7 p.m., at St. Michael's School on Thursdays from 2:45 to 4:45 p.m. and at Route 40 Elementary School on Mondays, from 6 to 8 p.m.

Training workshops will be offered on Sept. 21, from 5:30 to 9:30 p.m. in LUC 202, Sept. 22 from 6 to 9:45 in the PE Center Leake Room, Oct. 27 from 5:30 to 9:30 in the PE Center Leake Room, and Nov. 17, from 5:30 to 9:30 in the PE Center Leake Room.

For more information, please contact Lesley Baker, Read to Succeed coordinator, at x7615.

Alumni Association Wants You(r Convertible)

Wanted: You and your convertible to drive FSU/area dignitaries in our annual Homecoming Parade. The date is Saturday, Oct. 23, 2004. The parade starts at 10:30 a.m.; we would need you and your car available from 9:30 a.m. until the end of the parade. Contact Dina Poland at x7588.

Come to the Volunteer Orientation Reception!

As classes begin once again, it might be challenging to decide which activities will make the best use of your spare time. With so many clubs and organizations available, many students and faculty overlook an important aspect of campus and community life: volunteering.

But how can you find out exactly what volunteer opportunities are out there? The easiest way to learn about volunteering in our community is to come to the Volunteer Orientation Reception on Tuesday, Sept. 7, at 7 p.m. At the reception, you'll hear about the service programs and benefits that FSU has to offer, you'll learn about our Online Community Service Database, and you'll have the chance to sign up for volunteer opportunities like teaching children to read and raising funds and awareness for health charities. Among the organizations that will be represented at the reception are the March of Dimes, the Volunteer Center of Allegany County, Read to Succeed, the Allegany County Health Department, Rock the Vote, the Student Center for Volunteerism, and the Peace Corps.

The Volunteer Orientation Reception will be held in LUC 201, and all students, faculty, and staff are invited to attend. For more information, e-mail AmeriCorps member and VOICE Clearinghouse coordinator Holly Harrington at voice@frostburg.edu, or call x7598.

Athletics

FSU Karate Club

FSU Karate Club will hold its training on Tuesday and Thursday at 6:30 p.m. starting Sept. 14 in the Cordts PE Center Dance Studio. All are welcome. You will learn the basics of punching, kicking, blocking, sparring, karate moves, and most importantly, good work-outs. Martial art experiences, while helpful, are not required to join.

Activities for Life

For information or registration, contact Center Coordinator Amy Nazelrod at x7934.

Yoga Fitness Class

A Yoga Fitness class will be offered on Tuesdays, Sept. 14 to Nov. 30, from 5 to 5:45 p.m. in the Cordts Physical Education Center Room 106.

Yoga can help the mind and body feel stronger and less stressed. It's a form of meditation that uses physical exercises and breathing techniques to develop awareness, stability and better health. Anyone can participate in yoga. Each person works according to an individual body's limits.

A minimum of eight students is required to have the class; advance registration is required by Sept. 10. Jo Mason will instruct. Participants must supply their own mats.

Aerobics

Evening aerobics classes will be offered Mondays, Wednesdays and Thursdays at 6 and 7 p.m. and Tuesdays at 7 p.m. from Sept. 13 through Dec. 9. There will be no classes Nov. 24 and 25.

The classes will be in Cordts Physical Education Center Room 165. The class schedule is as follows: Mondays at 6 p.m., Step Combo, 7 p.m., Aerobic Combo; Tuesdays at 7, 20-20-20; Wednesdays at 6, Step Combo, 7, Aerobic Combo; Thursdays at 6, Aerobic Combo, 7, 20-20-20.

For a single fee, participants are able to take part in any or all of the above mentioned classes for the entire semester. Instructors are Eve Schott, Jo Mason and Mandy Williams.

Community Membership Available to PE Center

Activities for Life at FSU is now offering Community Memberships to the Cordts Physical Education Center. Members will have the opportunity to utilize the PE Center activity areas to include the swimming pool, weight room, racquetball courts, squash court, tennis courts, practice gym, main arena and outdoor track.

Three levels of memberships are available to families and individuals. The Gold Level includes use of all activity areas as well as the Activities for Life Evening Land Aerobics. The Silver Level includes use of the weight rooms, swimming pool and Activities for Life Evening Land Aerobics. The Bronze Level includes either use of the pool or the weight rooms, which is specified upon registration.

Family memberships are based on a family of up to four. For each additional immediate family member thereafter, there will be an added charge. For more information contact Amy Nazelrod, AFL coordinator, at x7934 or e-mail anazelrod@frostburg.edu.

Fall Telemarketing Jobs

The Office of University Advancement, Office of Annual Giving is now hiring experienced telemarketers to help with the Fall 2004 Annual Fund Telemarketing Campaign. This is an excellent opportunity for students who are dependable and competent to earn extra money and gain experience in telemarketing. Candidates will be responsible for soliciting contributions from alumni, friends and parents for unrestricted gifts to the University. Thirty positions are available. The positions are part-time evenings for two months (October and November), paying $6.50 to $8.50 per hour.

The position requires prior telemarketing experience, excellent organization and communication skills. Advanced marketing and sales skills are a must. Candidates must be available to work for two nights Sunday through Thursday from 5:30 to 9 p.m.

If you know of any students that may fit the criteria and are interested in making a little extra money, please inform them of this position. Interested candidates must complete an application on or before Wednesday, Sept. 15, at the University Advancement Office, Hitchins Building Room 228, or call x4758.

Bobcat Ambassadors

The Admissions Office is looking for outgoing, motivated students to become Bobcat Ambassadors. Job responsibilities include open house tours, daily tours, and other duties as needed. If interested, please contact Julie Schibblehut in the Admissions Office, x4201.

AAUW Sept. Meeting

The September meeting of the Frostburg Branch, American Association of University Women, will be a covered dish supper on Tuesday, Sept. 7, at 6:30 p.m. at the Frostburg United Methodist Church Hall, 48 W. Main St. Following dinner, there will be a program led by Karin Tedesco, manager of Historic Frostburg—a Maryland Main Street Community. This program has recently received a $25,000 grant for the restoration of facades in Frostburg. Hostesses will be Amy Meek and Elizabeth West. Guests are cordially welcomed to attend. For more information, call Elizabeth West at 301-722-6445.

Safety Message

How Heat Affects You

Under moderate conditions, the body automatically adjusts itself to keep its temperature within a safe limit. Sweating is the body's most efficient means for getting rid of heat, but the more humid the air, the harder it is for sweat to evaporate and the harder it is for the body to cool off. Under hot and humid conditions inside and out, work becomes harder because much of our blood is going to the surface of the body, and less is available to the active muscles. Loss of salt from sweating can result in fatigue.
