Learn About Renewable Energy

Conference an Educational Opportunity

Learn more about the possibilities of new energy sources and energy conservation methods, ideas, products and practices when FSU hosts the Renewable Energy Symposium and Exhibition Sept. 14 and 15 at the Compton Science Center on campus.

The two-day gathering, organized by FSU's Dr. Oguz Soysal and Hilkat Soysal, in collaboration with the Maryland Energy Administration, will bring together various facets of the academic and professional community from around the region, including faculty and students, entrepreneurs, small business owners, local and state administrators, legislators, media and industry representatives. The conference will explore topics such as a critical assessment of wind and solar energy potential; the socio-economic implications, design considerations and financial incentives of wind and solar energy; and the environmental impacts associated with wind and solar energy development.

The conference will also offer the public an opportunity to check out FSU's new Wind-Solar Energy Generation System (WISE) that was constructed near the Fuller House at 19 Braddock Road this summer. The grid-connected hybrid generation system, which features a 1.8 kW Skystream 3.7 wind turbine mounted on a 33-foot monopole tower and 10 solar panels, was constructed as part of a University-wide project Dr. Soysal began in 2006 with funding from a Maryland Energy Administration grant. In addition to the presentation of many papers highlighting ideas and challenges in renewable energy, the conference will also include displays of various renewable energy products and projects.

The Symposium and Exhibition are open to the public for a small registration fee to cover distributed materials and lunch. Registration is $20 for students, $60 for non-student participants. Interested parties may also register on site at the conference.

For more information on the Renewable Energy Symposium and Exhibition, visit www.frostburg.edu/renewable or contact Hilkat Soysal at renewable@frostburg.edu.

Theatre

Speed Through Shakespeare

Ever wonder what William Shakespeare's most memorable scenes would be like if they were performed in fast forward, hitting all the highlights? Don't miss the chance to find out when FSU's Cultural Events Series presents a laugh-out-loud parody of Shakespeare's most timeless tales of love and tragedy in "The Complete Works of William Shakespeare (Abridged)" at 7:30 p.m., Wednesday, Sept. 19, in the Lane University Center's Alice R. Manicur Hall.

An off-Broadway smash hit and the longest running comedy in London, this roller-coaster tribute to the immortal bard manages to condense his 37 plays and 154 sonnets into a hysterical two-hour performance by three actors. All 16 comedies become one story featuring a shipwreck, an influential duke and three sets of identical twins. Irreverent and hilarious, the dauntless cast speeds through 75 different characters, dozens of costumes and nearly 100 props. And in the true spirit of Shakespeare's Globe, "Shakespeare Abridged" requires its performers to improvise.

Audience members who are interested in making this performance a unique dinner theatre experience may purchase a $25 ticket that includes admission to the show as well as a choice of a delectable meal featuring either a steak or vegetable primavera entrée. A cash bar will also be available. Those who opt to attend the performance only can purchase a ticket for just the show: $16 for the general public; $14 for faculty and staff; $12 for children 17 and under and $5 for FSU students.

To purchase tickets or for more information about "The Complete Works of William Shakespeare (Abridged)," call the FSU Cultural Events Box Office at x3137 or toll free at 1-866-TIXX-CES, or visit online at ces.frostburg.edu.

Celebrate '101 Years of Broadway'

Broadway fans will get their money's worth and more when Neil Berg's "101 Years of Broadway," a medley of Broadway's most memorable musical moments, comes to the FSU Performing Arts Center Pealer Recital Hall during two showings at 3 p.m. and again at 8 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 22.

Created by award-winning composer Neil Berg, "101 Years of Broadway" recreates some of the biggest moments from the best-known Broadway musical shows of the century, including "The Phantom of the Opera" and "Les Miserables." The show features revivals of Broadway classics as well as numbers from Broadway's newest hit shows performed by the stars straight from Broadway and supported by an all-star New York band.

Five spectacular performers bring their talents to "101 Years of Broadway": Danny Zolli, Raymond Jaramillo McLeod, Erick Buckley, Rita Harvey and Carter Calvert. The cast and program are subject to change based upon possible Broadway and touring developments.

Tickets for "101 Years of Broadway" are $40 for the general public, $34 for FSU faculty and staff, $38 for children under 17 and $15 for FSU students. To purchase tickets or for more information about this show, call the FSU Cultural Events Box Office at x3137 or toll free at 1-866-TIXX-CES.

Tickets on Sale for UT's 2007-08 Season

University Theatre will present the musical "Into the Woods" and the plays "Abundance," "Machinal" and "A Raisin in the Sun" as part of its 2007-2008 Main Stage season. Second Stage (formerly known as Season Too!) will highlight the student-directed productions, "Anton in Show Biz" and "Almost, Maine."

"Into the Woods," with music and lyrics by Stephen Sondheim and book by James Lapine, will kick off the Main Stage season in The Drama Theatre on Oct. 12, 13, 18, 19 and 20 at 7:30 p.m., with matinee performances on Oct. 13 and 20 at 2 p.m. A dark yet beguiling take on the Grimm Brothers' fairy tales, "Into the Woods" is the Tony Award-winning musical in which the familiar stories of

"Cinderella," "Jack and The Beanstalk," "Rapunzel" and "Little Red Riding Hood" intermix with the story of a baker and his wife who cannot have a child until they break the curse of the witch next door.

Season Discount Flex Cards are now on sale to attend University Theatre performances. For $30, receive four main stage tickets and save $10! Card holders can spread tickets throughout the Main Stage season, or use any number of tickets for one show. Individual tickets prices are $5 for students and $10 for non-students.

The student-directed production series, Second Stage, begins its season with performances of "Anton in Show Biz" by Jane Martin Oct. 5 and 6; productions begin at 7:30 p.m. in the F. Perry Smith Studio Theatre. "Anton in Show Biz" follows three struggling actresses who are cast in a regional theatre production of Anton Chekhov's The Three Sisters. A fast-paced satire, this "backstage comedy" dives deep into the unconventional behaviors of theatre artists and dares to search for the purpose of an often underappreciated art form. All Second Stage tickets are $5.

For a 2007-2008 season brochure and information about Season Discount Flex Cards and tickets, please call the box office at x7462, Monday through Friday, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., or visit the box office in the Performing Arts Center lobby, Monday through Friday, from noon to 2 p.m.

Take Note

'Frostburg: Take 5' Seeks YouTube Talent

Want your work to be seen by thousands? Interested in impressing fellow Web surfers with your technical skills and innovation? If so, Frostburg: Take 5 could be your big ticket!

The Division of Communications and Media Relations and the Department of Mass Communication are looking for YouTube clips to help them spread the word about FSU, as part of Frostburg: Take 5, a University-wide contest coming that invites students and alumni to get involved in marketing FSU!

To enter, all you have to do is create a video that's 5 minutes or less expressing what you love most about Frostburg. We're looking for something creative that highlights the best that Frostburg has to offer. Give us your take on why Frostburg is unique and why it's a great place to go to college.

FIVE winners will be chosen by a panel of judges that includes award-winning TV writer/producer Greg Garcia. The best clips will be posted on a special Frostburg: Take 5 YouTube Channel, and winning selections will be shown during a special screening at Palace Theatre in downtown Frostburg on Oct. 24. Great prizes are also in store, including a Canon ZR830 Mini DV Camcorder and all accessories to help budding filmmakers continue their work in style.

To participate, you must be a student or alum. Deadline to submit entries is Oct. 8. Don't miss this exciting opportunity to let the world know how talented you are—and how fun Frostburg is! Learn more about Frostburg: Take 5 by visiting www.frostburg.edu/take5.

Religious Observances

It is the policy of FSU that the academic programs and services of the University shall be available to all qualified students who have been admitted to its programs, regardless of their religious beliefs. Students shall not be penalized because of observances of their religious holidays and shall be given an opportunity to make up, within a reasonable time period, any academic assignment that is missed due to individual participation in religious observances. It is the responsibility of the student to notify his/her instructor of conflicts between religious observances and scheduled course activities.

Courtesy suggests that students should notify their instructors of conflicts and make arrangements for making up missed work PRIOR to an absence due to religious observance.

All faculty and staff have been sent the link to a Web-based interfaith calendar for reference.

Exceptions to Grad Requirements

All students who would like to petition for approval of an exception to a baccalaureate degree or General Education requirement must appeal to the Academic Standards Subcommittee. A written request (including supporting letters and documentation, as appropriate) is due in the Office of the Provost, Hitchens 213, no later than Sept. 13, Oct. 11 and Nov. 15 during the fall 2007 semester. Please note that Nov. 15 is the last day of appeals for December 2007 graduates. For more information, contact x4212.

Students: Register for Fall 2007 BITS Test

FSU students following the 2005-2007 or the 2007-2009 FSU undergraduate catalogs can opt to take the BITS Test to meet their technology fluency graduation requirement. With this option, students must score 70 percent or higher on this 100-item, timed, online, group-proctored test. To review other options, look at "Undergraduate Degree Requirements" [Item #9] in the Academic Life section of the FSU undergraduate catalog.

To register for the BITS Test, go to the FSU Bookstore for Registration Week Monday, Sept. 10, through Friday, Sept. 14, from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m., present your FSU student ID and pay your non-refundable $15 registration fee. In addition to payment by cash, check or Bobcat Express, Visa, MasterCard and Discover are accepted.

BITS Test sessions will be offered at 7:30 p.m. on the evenings of Monday, Oct. 15, Tuesday, Oct. 16, and Wednesday, Oct. 17. The sessions will be held in Pullen Hall 107-110 depending on how many students register for each session.

PLEASE NOTE: You must present your student ID to register for the test and bring it with you to present it at your chosen BITS Test session. A student can register/pay and take the BITS Test only once per semester. NO credits are associated and/or available with this option. Any student with a disability needing accommodation should contact the Office of Disability Support Services (x4483) as soon as possible after registering.

For more info, contact the Office of the Provost, Hitchins 213 or at x4211.

Library Presentation Examines Constitution

Constitution Day, established in 2005, provides an opportunity to educate citizens about the U.S. Constitution. Sept. 17 is the third national celebration of Constitution Day.

The Lewis J. Ort Library will feature a looping DVD presentation titled "We the People: The U.S. Constitution & You." Caroline Kennedy, daughter of the late President John F. Kennedy, outlines this historical document and explains its application to the people. Produced by We the People Organization and introduced by FSU's president Dr. Jonathan Gibralter, who was the President of the State University of New York at Farmingdale when the program was filmed, this DVD includes interviews with students and historical video clips.

Barry Faulkner's print "The Constitution of the U.S." and the nation's original 13-star flag will complement library displays on the Constitution. MaryJo Price, Special Collections Librarian, will assemble a display to focus on the Magna Carta, a charter written in 1215 in England.

Both displays can be viewed on Floor 3 of the Library from Sept. 17 through Sept. 21. For more info, call x4889.

Majors Fair 2007 Coming Sept. 25

The Majors Fair 2007 will be held from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 25, in Manicur Assembly Hall in the Lane University Center. All academic organizations and departments are encouraged to participate and showcase all of the available majors offered at FSU. Each department/organization will have a table to display gadgets, offer demonstrations and interact with students from across campus who may be interested in finding a good academic fit.

We also encourage departments to participate in our campus-wide event by holding an Open House on the same day after 3 p.m. This is a great opportunity to show students the amazing possibilities with a major in your department. For more information, contact Amy Shimko in the Advising Center at x3132 or alshimko@frostburg.edu. Hope to see you at the Majors Fair 2007!

Planning to Graduate in December?

If you are planning to graduate at the end of this semester, please note the following: The 131st Commencement Ceremony is scheduled for Saturday, Dec. 15, in the Harold J. Cordts Physical Education Center. The College of Business and College of Education will hold its service at 10 a.m., while the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences will present graduates at the 2 p.m. ceremony.

Please complete your graduation application at the Registrar's Office now. This will enable you to receive information about your upcoming Commencement. The first Commencement mailing is scheduled for the first week in October and will be sent to both your local and your permanent address. Please update your address information in PAWS or with the Registrar's Office to assure that you will receive all the details.

Caps and gowns are provided at no cost to all graduates and may be ordered at the University Bookstore. Your order must be placed by Oct. 15.

A Grad Fair will be held Oct. 15 in the Alice R. Manicur Assembly Hall in the Lane University Center from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Vendors will be present for ordering your class ring and diploma frames, and you will also have the opportunity to order your cap and gown and announcements. Additional University services will be available and there will be giveaways and refreshments.

Full details about Commencement are on the University's Web site. Go to "Current Students" and Commencement information is under Academics on the left side. If you have any other questions about Commencement, please contact Brittnei Teter at x4423 or bkteter@frostburg.edu.

Law Enforcement Awareness Day

The FSU Police Department will host the first Annual Law Enforcement Awareness Day on Wednesday, Sept. 19, from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Bobcat Stadium on the FSU campus. The committee is headed by Cpl. Michael Ruppenkamp.

Representatives from the University Police, as well as a number of other state, county, municipal and federal agencies, will be on hand to provide professional demonstrations, displays, recruiting and crime prevention tips and hand-outs. Photograph and fingerprint identification for children will be provided.

A team competition featuring law enforcement-related games and skill tests will take place, with each member of the winning team receiving dinner for two at a nice restaurant. Food and Pepsi products will be provided, as well as live entertainment and giveaways. The team competition is open to everyone.

If it rains, the event will be held on Wednesday, Sept. 26. For more information about Law Enforcement Awareness Day 2007, contact Ruppenkamp at mcruppenkamp@frostburg.edu or by calling University Police at x4223 to sign up.

Attention All Education Students!

The application deadline for students entering Phase I, Phase II or Phase III of the Teacher Education Program in the spring semester is Monday, Oct. 15. ALL APPLICATIONS SHOULD BE RETURNED TO THE OFFICE OF UNIT ASSESSMENT, FRAMPTON HALL, ROOM 203-3 on or before DEADLINE DATE. If you need an application form or have questions, contact Barbara Bluebaugh at x7953 or babluebaugh@frostburg.edu.

Film

Check out 'The War'

FSU's Cultural Events Series is teaming up with Maryland Public Television (MPT) to offer a community screening of Ken Burns' new documentary about World War II, "The War." This sneak preview, which condenses Burns' seven-part, 14-hour series into a one-hour summary of program highlights, will be shown at 7:30 p.m., Thursday, Sept. 13, in the Lane University Center's Alice R. Manicur Assembly Hall. The event is free and open to the public; people who want to see the film may RSVP by calling x3137.

MPT representatives will attend the screening at FSU to introduce the program. FSU is one of many presenters throughout the state that is offering the sneak preview of the much-anticipated documentary series, which includes interviews with WWII veterans and officially debuts on MPT Sept. 23. The screening will be followed by a panel discussion featuring Greg Wood, an FSU assistant professor of history who specializes in American history; David Rands, an FSU history instructor who focuses on the history of Japan; and a World War II veteran. The discussion will be moderated by FSU History Department faculty.

For more information about the screening at FSU, call x3137.

Movie Night at LUC

Don't miss a free screening of the heart-warming comedy, "Knocked Up" in the Lane University Center Atkinson Room 201. The film featuring "Grey's Anatomy" actress Katherine Heigl will be shown at the following dates and times: 8 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 13; 8 p.m. and midnight Friday, Sept. 14; 8 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 15; and 6 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 16. For more info, call x4411.

Wrap Your Head Around 'Ringu'

FSU's International Film Series will show the Japanese film "Ringu," The inspiration for the American trilogy "The Ring," on Tuesday, Sept. 18, at 7 p.m. in the Lane University Center Atkinson Room. The viewing is free and open to the public.

The unrated film follows Reporter Reiko as she experiences strange occurrences after viewing a videotape of disturbing images. She investigates the tape's origin and attempts to stop the deadly chain of events.

The horror film, directed by Hideo Nataka, was a box office hit in Japan and is presented in Japanese with English subtitles. For more info, call x4411.

Visual Art

Exhibition Explores Art of Drawing

Read between the lines and study the art of drawing during an upcoming exhibition at FSU that features work by two artists, John Cline and Tim McDonald. "John Cline & Tim McDonald" will be on view through Sept. 30 at the Stephanie Ann Roper Gallery in the Fine Arts Building.

The Stephanie Ann Roper Gallery has free admission and is open to the public Sunday through Wednesday from 1 to 4 p.m. For more information about the exhibition, please contact the FSU Department of Visual Arts at x4797.

Music

Free Flute Recital in Sept.

Award-winning chamber musician Erinn Frechette will present a flute recital at FSU Thursday, Sept. 13, at 8 p.m. in FSU's Performing Arts Center Pealer Recital Hall. The recital is part of FSU Music Department's Guest Artist Series.

Frechette won first place in the National Flute Association's Young Artist and Piccolo Artist competitions and has been featured in the Charlotte, N.C., Providence United Methodist Church Chamber Music Series, the Vivian Major Society Classical Concert and Suzuki and Friends Chamber Music Series.

This recital is free and open to the public. For more information, call x4109.

Professor Performs Organ Concerts

FSU music professor Joan DeVee Dixon will present a series of organ concerts featuring music from the Czech Republic on Friday, Sept. 14, and Sunday, Sept. 16.

The Friday night "Mass for Spillville" will begin at 7 p.m. at St. John's Episcopal Church, 58 Broadway St., Frostburg, celebrated by the Rev. Rick Morley. The Sunday organ concert will begin at 4 p.m. at First Presbyterian Church on 11 Washington St. in Cumberland. Both programs, part of FSU's Faculty Artist Series, are free and open to the public.

Dixon's composition, "Polka Mass for Spillville" was commissioned by the Czech Heritage Partnership in Spillville, Iowa. The world premiere was given at St. Wenceslaus Church, the same congregation where Dvorak spent his famed Iowa summer in 1893. Dixon's Mass setting draws upon several influential Czech hymns, waltzes and chants.

"Polka Mass" is the term used for a worship service in which, traditionally, a polka band accompanies all of the music. Musical selections are based on the sacred texts of the Catholic Mass, arranged in a polka style.

Dixon's concert program at First Presbyterian Church in Cumberland will feature selections by Czech composers Dvorak, Nelhybel, Havlicek, Wiedermann and Strejc. American selections by Paul Manz and Fred Bock will include well-known hymn settings. The program will conclude with a set of original settings of American spirituals by Dixon, "Down by the Riverside," "I've got Shoes," "Give Me Jesus" and "When the Saints go Marching In."

For more information, contact St. John's Episcopal Church at (301) 689-6634 or First Presbyterian Church at (301) 777-3700. You may also visit www.joandeveedixon.com.

Celebrate Appalachian Culture at Festival

The public is invited to learn more about the region's rich cultural heritage during FSU's Second Annual Appalachian Festival Sept. 21 and 22. The event brings together a variety of performers and craftspeople to celebrate the natural landscape, history, food and musical and artistic offerings of Western Maryland and the surrounding areas. Film, live music performances, storytelling and public demonstrations of timeless traditions are among the countless festivities that make up this year's event, many of which are free and open to the public and suitable for the whole family.

The Appalachian Festival kicks things off with a special screening of two films at 8 p.m. Friday, Sept. 21, at downtown Frostburg's historic Palace Theatre on Main Street. The Palace will show "The True Meaning of Pictures" by Jennifer Baichwal, a documentary that examines the work of Shelby Lee Adams, a photographer who takes pictures of Appalachian "mountain people." "Ready for Harvest: Clearcutting in the Southern Appalachians" by Anne Lewis Johnson, a film that explores the complex questions associated with extensive logging in the Southern Appalachian Mountains, will also be viewed. Tickets to see both films are $5.50 and may be purchased at the door.

Then Saturday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., FSU's Upper Quad comes alive with a variety of activities, demonstrations and music performances, all free and open to the public. Regional music, displays and sales of traditional arts and crafts, Appalachian food, history presentations, children's activities, environmental talks, storytelling and more will be going on throughout the day.

Saturday concludes with a special music concert featuring Jay Ungar and Molly Mason at 7:30 p.m. at the Palace Theatre. Ungar and Mason perform a variety of musical selections, including hard-driving Appalachian melodies, Cajun and Celtic fiddle tunes, stirring Civil War classics, sassy songs from the Golden Age of swing and country and moving original works. They gained widespread recognition for their soundtrack work in Ken Burns' PBS series, "The Civil War," including the haunting performance of Ungar's original composition, "Ashokan Farewell."

Tickets for the Ungar and Mason concert are available for purchase at Frostburg's Main Street Books (2 E. Main St.) and at the Allegany Arts Council in Cumberland (52 Baltimore St.). Tickets are $15 general admission; $13 in advance; $8 for students and children 17 and younger. Allegany Arts Council members can pay $12 for an advance ticket or $13 at the door.

For more information about the Appalachian Festival or to volunteer at the event, please contact FSU folklorist Kara Rogers Thomas at x3124 or e-mail krogerstomas@frostburg.edu.

Students: Be Responsible

Students are invited to learn more about the legal and ethical aspects of college and community during "Your Rights and Responsibilities" at 5 p.m., Wednesday, Sept. 12, in the Pealer Recital Hall at the Performing Arts Center. The program, presented by Sgt. Donahue, University Police, Lt. Grove, Frostburg City Police, and Dr. Jesse Ketterman, Director of Student Development, intends to increase students' awareness of their responsibilities of living in the college environment. Information will be shared regarding University policies, local laws and their impact on the student population. For more info, call x4311.

Weight Watchers Meetings at FSU

FSU will host an information session about Weight Watchers meetings for all interested FSU employees at noon on Wednesday, Sept. 12, in Lane University Center 202. No advance registration is required and there is no charge for the information session. Stop by and learn more about the Weight Watchers approach to losing weight and keeping it off.

Comedian Preaches Against Racism

Preacher Moss, a comedian and social commentator who has written for "The Damon Wayans Show" and "Saturday Night Live," will bring his "End of Racism" comedy and lecture tour to FSU on Thursday, Sept. 13, at 7:30 p.m. in the Performing Arts Center Drama Theatre.

With his insight on "racial understanding versus racial interaction," Moss has quickly become the funniest social commentator on the college scene today. He delivers the goods on how Americans see race through laughter, respect and the humility of a man who felt the sting of racism.

Sponsored by the University Programming Council, Moss' performance is free and open to the public. For more information, call the Lane University Center Information Desk at x4411.

A Mother's View on Iraq

FSU and United Campus Ministry will present the campus-wide event, "Losing a Son in Iraq: A Story of Betrayal and Faithfulness," on Tuesday, Sept. 18, at 7:30 p.m., at the Lane University Center room 201. This event is free and open to the public.

Celeste Zappala, a Gold Star mother from Philadelphia, will share the poignant account of her son, Sgt. Sherwood Baker, who was killed in an explosion in Baghdad. Sgt. Baker became the first member of the Pennsylvania Army National Guard to die in combat since 1945. He left behind a wife and young son.

Zappala is a member of Military Families Speak Out and a founding member of Gold Star Families Speak Out. She has been active in civic and community causes for over 20 years. Since the death of her son, she and her family have written many articles, given speeches in the United States, Canada and Puerto Rico and given countless interviews.

For additional information, contact the Rev. Larry Neumark at x7490.

Jobs, Jobs, Jobs

Western Maryland Food Bank Trip

United Campus Ministry will sponsor a trip to Western Maryland Food Bank on Tuesday, Sept. 11, from 5 to 6 p.m. to help distribute food to those in need in our area. Buses will leave from behind the Ort Library at 4:30 p.m. Volunteers who are willing to drive are needed. All students, student organizations, faculty and staff are encouraged to participate in this community effort. For more information, contact Erin Lauer, 231 Cambridge Hall, at x5178, or Larry Neumark, 114 Sand Spring Hall, at x7490.

BURG Booze Discussion, BBQ

The SAFE Office and BURG Peer Education Network will present "Sleep, Sex & Smashed" at 9 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 12, in Edgewood Commons. This educational program is designed to create awareness about some of the traps freshmen can avoid as it relates to college social life. Alcohol, sexuality and sleep deprivation are the main topics of discussion. The BURG will continue its activities with a BURG Info Barbeque from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 13, in the Lower Quad. Join them for chilling, grilling and the delicious smell of juicy burgers and hot dogs. For more info, call x4761.

Student Peace Rally

On Wednesday, Sept. 19, students will hold a Peace Rally from 4 to 6 p.m. in the Upper Quad (outside Compton Science Center). Activities include music, speeches and readings by students, faculty, staff and community members. Anyone interested in participating is encouraged to do so by contacting Dan Hull, Master of Ceremonies, at (301) 268-3698; Erin Lauer, UCM President, at x5178, or Larry Neumark, Protestant Chaplain, at x7490 as soon as possible. Rain location will be Cook Chapel in Frost Hall.
