FSU’s Department of Music Presents
Annual President’s Concert

The Department of Music presents its annual President’s Concert featuring outstanding student and faculty artists and the FSU Chamber Choir Sunday, Nov. 8, at 3 p.m. in the Performing Arts Center, Pealer Recital Hall.

The concert will feature newly appointed faculty artist William Koehler, bass-baritone, and the faculty Wind Trio with Pamela Murchison, flute; Mark Gallagher, clarinet; and Lynn Hileman, bassoon. Joan DeVee Dixon, piano, and Philip Klickman, horn, will also perform.

Seven outstanding FSU student musicians have also been chosen to perform in the concert: Lane Conklin, tenor (Pasadena, Md.); David Durham, horn (Sandusky, Md.); Sarah Galvin, clarinet (Sykesville, Md.); Hannah Lago, piano (Queenstown, Md.); Brittany Poindexter, soprano (Myersville, Md.); Adam Pomeroy, tenor (Cumberland, Md.); and Erin Wheeler, piano (Waldorf, Md.).

The Chamber Choir’s performance, under the direction of Karen Soderberg, will include “Twa Tanbou” by Sidney Guillaume, a song from Haiti that tells the tale about three drums in playful competition; the beautiful “Snowflakes” by Lane Johnson; and the novelty song, “Sweater Weather,” using familiar phrases by Kenneth Jennings. Betty Jane Phillips will accompany the Chamber Choir. The President’s Concert is free and open to the public.

Dance
Tribute to Tap Comes to FSU

“Thank You, Gregory” Honors the Late Gregory Hines, Other “Hoofers”

Eight tap dancers, a trio of jazz musicians, multimedia projections and live narration combine when the FSU Cultural Events Series Main Stage Series presents “Thank You, Gregory! A Tribute to the Legends of Tap,” which pays tribute to the late Gregory Hines and past and present “hoofers.” The performance will be on the PAC Drama Theatre stage Wednesday, Nov. 4, at 7:30 p.m.

The cast features Joseph Webb, an award-winning actor/dancer of Broadway’s “Bring in Da’Noise, Bring in Da’Funk”; Chloe Arnold, a protégé of Debbie Allen and dance captain/choreographer; Dormeshia Sumby-Edwards, also a principal dancer from “Bring in Da’Noise”; Brent McBeth of Bob Fosse fame; comic tapper and singer Heather Holohan, a protégé of Bufalino; Donovan Helma, lead dancer from “Tap Dogs”; and Susan Nase, an internationally acclaimed highland dancer and vocalist.

Adding to the evening’s festivities is the Cultural Events Series’ Preperformance Dinner Club. Guests arrive on campus early, enjoy parking access in the PAC lot and dine on a catered meal in a private restaurant setting in the Lane Center. Dinner includes soup or salad, entrée with sides, dessert and coffee or iced tea. A cash bar is available throughout dinner. Cost of the dinner is $26 per person.

Tickets for “Thank You, Gregory! A Tribute to the Legends of Tap” are $20 for adults and $14 for young people under 17. Group rate tickets are also available. Tickets may be ordered by calling x3135 or 1-866-869-9237, or by visiting res.frostburg.edu.

Duncan to Read From ‘Dragaman’s Bride’

Writer Andy Duncan will read from his new story, “The Dragaman’s Bride,” at 7 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 12, at Mountain City Traditional Arts, 25 E. Main St. in downtown Frostburg, in an event co-sponsored by Main Street Books.

The final story in the new hardcover young-adult anthology, “The Dragon Book: Magical Tales From the Masters of Modern Fantasy” (Ace, $24.95), “The Dragaman’s Bride” is set in the Depression-era Virginia mountains, stars a young female wizard named Pearleen Sunday and draws on Appalachian folklore of Jack tales, hex magic, haunted coal mines and dragons, or “Old Fire Dragaman” as the old-timers called them.

A Frostburg resident, Duncan is an assistant professor of English at FSU. His next book, due in December from PS Publishing, is “The Night Cache,” a supernatural novelette set in Western Maryland.

For info, call MCTA at x8040 or Main Street Books at 301-689-5605.

Theatre

FSU Theatre: ‘TopDog/UnderDog’

Poverty, jokes and sibling rivalry are the foundation for FSU’s Music and Theatre Department’s production of “TopDog/UnderDog,” which will be presented as part of the student-directed Second Stage Productions.

Performances are set for Thursday through Saturday, Nov. 5, 6 and 7, beginning at 7:30 p.m. in the F. Perry Smith Studio Theatre of the Performing Arts Center.

Recipient of the 2002 Pulitzer Prize for Drama, “TopDog/UnderDog,” by Suzan-Lori Parks, is a darkly comic fable concerning two African American brothers, Lincoln and Booth, whose names were given to them as a joke by their father. Abandoned by both parents and forced to depend on one another for survival, the men, now in their 30s, struggle to shed their poverty amid a past haunted by sibling rivalry and escalating resentment.

Tickets for “TopDog/UnderDog” are $6. For info, call the Theatre and Dance box office at x7462, Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and 1:30 to 4 p.m.

CES Presents ‘To Kill a Mockingbird’ at FSU

The courtroom scene from “To Kill a Mockingbird”

Racial tensions of the 1930s Deep South are the focus with FSU’s Cultural Events Series presentation of the play based on the Pulitzer Prize-winning novel by Harper Lee, “To Kill a Mockingbird,” Tuesday, Nov. 17, at 7:30 p.m. at Mountain Ridge High School in Frostburg.

The full-length play, transferred to the stage by Christopher Sergel in 1997, is a faithful reproduction of Lee’s classic American story, set in a sleepy Southern town in 1935. Told through the eyes of Scout, the tomboyish daughter of Atticus, the story is about dignity, tolerance and the difficulties of growing up in rural Alabama during the depression. The town is rocked with scandal when a young black man is accused of raping a white woman. Atticus Finch stands against his fellow townpeople by defending the accused man. The racial tensions have polarized the town and most white folks are against Atticus in this gothic melodrama. The play focuses on Atticus’ heroic battle, as well as the growth and development of the Finch children as they watch prejudice and racism erupt in their community. The play offers high drama, wit and hope as the characters explore themes that are still relevant today.

Tickets for the play are $26 for adults and $18 for those under 17. Group discounts and FSU employee and student discounts are available. For info, contact CES at x3137 or visit http://ces.frostburg.edu.

With the stage play, FSU will present the storied 1962 film “To Kill a Mockingbird” in Lane University Center 201 Friday and Saturday, Nov. 13 and 14, at 8:30 p.m. and Sunday, Nov. 15, at 2 p.m. The film, directed by Robert Mulligan, stars Gregory Peck, John Megna and Frank Overton. The film is free and open to the public.
FSU Alum Is Maryland Teacher of the Year

Northern Middle School teacher Jennifer Burdock Rankin has been named the 2010 Maryland Teacher of the Year.

Rankin, who holds a bachelor's and a master's degree from FSU, holds a bachelor's degree in education with a minor in Spanish, a master's degree in education in special education and a master's degree in administration and supervision. She is working on her doctoral dissertation in the area of educational leadership, which she expects to complete this year, and has also achieved her national board certification in early adolescent mathematics.

Rankin, who has taught for 13 years at Northern Middle School, was one of seven teachers who made the short list of finalists for Maryland Teacher of the Year in August. She was selected as Garrett County's Teacher of the Year for 2009-2010.

Saku Wins Award

Dr. James Saku, a professor in the Geography Department, received the 2009 Pennsylvania Geographical Society Distinguished Scholar Award at PG's annual meeting at West Chester University Oct. 23. Saku was cited for his research and publications on aboriginal Canadians and overall professional development. He also presented a paper, “Poverty Reduction in Ghana: A Model for African Countries,” and chaired a session at the meeting.

Joyce Receives Award

Conor Joyce, U.S. Army, received the John (Pat) Harden Practitioner Award that recognizes supervisory/managerial professionals who have worked in armed forces recreation at the operations level for no more than seven years, planning, producing and executing programs in direct contact with participants. The award recognizes excellence in prospective career armed forces recreation employees and AFRS/NRPA members.

Joyce, one of the brightest young Outdoor Recreation program managers in the Army, transformed a run-down checkout center into a dynamic program with new equipment and a full schedule of DCR events, activities and classes. His greatest achievement has been implementing the Warrior Adventure Quest program, in which several thousand redeploying combat troops assimilate back into the community safely, learning stress coping mechanisms through high-adventure ODR programs. Joyce is a professional, extremely hard working, and loves the military community he serves. He is a credit to himself, USAG Hawaii and the U.S. Army.

Gibraltar will answer questions from Rodrigo, Barri and Bentley, then the session will be opened up to viewers for discussion.

“We recently added a message board called ‘FrostBURG Forum’ to Blog From the BURG as an additional way for people to communicate with Dr. Gibraltar,” said Becca Ramsport, public information specialist, Technology and New Media. “FrostBURG Forum is where people can tune in to watch this online Q&A session, and participate in the forum afterward. We thought we’d kick off the message board with a Q&A session with students, as so many of them are already chatting online. Dr. Gibraltar also enjoys hearing from students and learning what’s on their minds.”

To watch the online Q&A session, go to blogfromtheburg.blogspot.com at 7 p.m. on Tuesday, Nov. 3, and locate the message board, FrostBURG Forum, on the right-hand side of the Blog. To participate in the online discussion following the Q&A session, go to www.frostburg.edu/facebook/blogger/forum-board and log in with your FSU username and password. Participants may also post comments anonymously on the message board. Ramsport will moderate the Q&A session.

For info about the online Q&A session, e-mail hurghblog@frostburg.edu.

Charity Campaign Under Way

The Maryland Charity Campaign 2009 is again under way. The Office of Human Resources is once again coordinating this campaign. Assisting the office are several site coordinators:

- Anita McGregor, Academic Computing, Pullen 102, x7090
- Beth Andrews, Theatre/Dance, PAC 302, x4145
- Bonnie Jackson, Residence Life, Annapolis, x4122
- Kathy Leck, Physical Plant, Stangle, x4125
- Carla Boone, Networking & Telecomm, Lowndes 210, x4317
- Linda Steele, CLAS, Compton 241, x4137
- Linda Brumage, CoF, Framptom 218, x4759
• Tamera Shockey, Qb, Frampton 319, x4025

The theme for this year is the Link That Bonds Us Is Our Commitment to Caring. By now faculty and staff should have received their packets that contain a letter from the president, Directory 2009 and pledge sheets. There are three ways to contribute: payable deduction, credit card and check.

Send your pledge sheet to the nearest coordinator. If there is no site coordinator in your building, send your pledge sheet directly to the Office of Human Resources, Hitchins. For info, call the site coordinator or Avalon Ledong at x7095.

Allen Hall Notice

Beginning Monday, Dec. 21. Allen Hall will undergo renovations of all bathrooms, student rooms and common areas. Similar to last year's renovations in Diehl Hall, this project will run through Intercession and spring semester, with the hall scheduled to reopen in summer 2010. Allen Hall students will be displaced from their rooms for the spring semester, but will have the opportunity to select another space on campus. Every effort will be made to assign students to a hall and with a roommate of their choice; this includes the effort to place students with their current roommate(s) in an empty room. To make this possible, residents of other halls who do not have roommates will be required to share rooms with other such residents. All room changes will be completed before students leave for the holiday break in December.

Students with concerns can speak with their hall staff or contact the Residence Life Office at x4121.

Activities for Life

For info and registration, contact Amy Nazekrod, AFL coordinator, at x7934 or anaze@frostburg.edu.

Stott Pilates

Stott Pilates classes will be offered Mondays and Wednesdays, Nov. 2 through 25, Nov. 30 and Dec. 2 through 7, from 8:30 a.m. to 9:20 a.m. in Cordts PE Center 106. There will be no classes on Nov. 25.

Advance registration is required. A minimum of five participants is needed.

Stott Pilates is a contemporary, anatomically based approach to Joseph Pilates’ original exercise method. With an emphasis on breath, core conditioning and body awareness, Stott Pilates exercise is a safe and effective way to stretch, strengthen and streamline the body without building bulk or stressing the joints.

The class will be led by Stott-certified instructor Susan Manger. Participants must provide their own Pilates mats. A registration form can be found at www.frostburg.edu/events/affregform.htm.

Water Aerobics

Classes will be offered Tuesdays and Thursdays, Nov. 17 and 19 and Dec. 1 through 17, from 6 to 6:50 p.m. in the Cordts PE Center Pool. There will be no classes during Thanksgiving week.

Participants may register for the Tuesday or Thursday class, or both nights for a discounted price. The class is designed for those who want to increase cardiovascular fitness, flexibility and body strength. Water aerobics creates good muscle balance and is perfect for people with painful joints or other movement limitations.
