CES Presents ‘To Kill a Mockingbird’ at Mountain Ridge

Racial tensions of the 1930s Deep South are the focus with FSU’s Cultural Events Series presentation of the play based on the Pulitzer Prize-winning novel by Harper Lee, “To Kill a Mockingbird,” Tuesday, Nov. 17, at 7:30 p.m. at Mountain Ridge High School in Frostburg.

The full-length play, transferred to the stage by Christopher Sergel in 1997, is a faithful reproduction of Lee’s classic American story, set in a sleepy Southern town in 1935. Told through the eyes of Scout, the tomboyish daughter of Atticus, the story is about dignity, tolerance and the difficulties of growing up in rural Alabama during the depression. The town is rocked with scandal when a young black man is accused of raping a white woman. Atticus Finch stands against his fellow townspeople by defending the accused man. The racial tensions have polarized the town and most white folks are against Atticus in this Gothic melodrama. The play focuses on Atticus’ heroic battle, as well as the growth and development of the Finch children as they watch prejudice and racism erupt in their community. The play offers high drama, wit and hope as the characters explore themes that are still relevant today.

Tickets for the play are $26 for adults and $18 for those under 17. Group discounts and FSU employee and student discounts are available. For info, contact CES at x3137 or visit <http://ces.frostburg.edu>.

With the stage play, FSU will present the storied 1962 film “To Kill a Mockingbird” in Lane University Center 201 Friday and Saturday, Nov. 13 and 14, at 8:30 p.m. and Sunday, Nov. 15, at 2 p.m. The film, directed by Robert Mulligan, stars Gregory Peck, John Megna and Frank Overton. The film is free and open to the public.

Music

Flute Ensemble to Present Recital

The FSU Flute Ensemble and Studio will perform Monday, Nov. 9, at 8 p.m. in the Pealer Recital Hall in the Performing Arts Center. Directed by FSU faculty member Pamela Murchison, the performance is free and open to the public.

Conklin will perform several pieces by Vincenzo Bellini, George Frederic Handel, Robert Schumann, Henri Duparc, Samuel Barber, Kurt Weill and Gioachino Rossini.

Presentations

Duncan to Read From ‘Dragaman’s Bride’

Writer Andy Duncan will read from his new story, “The Dragaman’s Bride,” at 7 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 12, at Mountain City Traditional Arts, 25 E. Main St. in downtown Frostburg, in an event co-sponsored by Main Street Books.

The final story in the new hardcover young-adult anthology, "The Dragon Book: Magical Tales From the Masters of Modern Fantasy" (Ace, $24.95), "The Dragaman's Bride" is set in the Depression-era Virginia mountains, stars a young female wizard named Pearleen Sunday and draws on Appalachian folklore of Jack tales, hex magic, haunted coal mines and dragons, or "Old Fire Dragamen" as the old-timers called them.

A Frostburg resident, Duncan is an assistant professor of English at FSU. His next book, due in December from PS Publishing, is "The Night Cache," a supernatural novelette set in Western Maryland.

For info, call MCTA at x8040 or Main Street Books at 301-689-5605.

Points of Pride

FSU's Rosie Rocks!

FSU student Jordan Schupfer won the "Rosie the Riveter Look-alike Contest," which launched the 2009 Cumberland Goes to War community heritage project, running through Nov. 15. Schupfer will participate as Rosie in some of the activities for the event. Student Desiree Bullard was also among the contestants. Cumberland Goes to War is coordinated and promoted by Allegany County Tourism in partnership with the Canal Place Preservation and Development Authority, the City of Cumberland, Western Maryland Scenic Railroad and the Allegany County Chamber of Commerce. To learn more, visit www.cumberlandgoestowar.com.

Take Note

FSU to Promote Money Management Skills

FSU will host Making it Count's "Ultimate Money Skills: College," a financial success presentation to educate college students to develop smart money management skills. The free presentation, open to students of the tri-state area colleges, will be Monday, Nov. 16, at 4 p.m. in Lane 142.

The "Ultimate Money Skills: College" program prepares students with an understanding of appropriate credit card use, student banking options, how to develop and follow a budget and the importance of saving. According to College Board's 2008 Trends in Student Aid, almost 60 percent of four-year undergraduate students graduate with debt, and the average student loan debt among graduating seniors is $22,700.

The "Ultimate Money Skills: College" program emphasizes the importance of how the choices students make about money while in college can have a direct impact on their future financial success," said J.R. Cifani, vice president and general manager of Making it Count. "Knowing undergraduates are busier than ever with academics, internships and extra-curricular activities, we developed a succinct, yet informative program to help them make smart financial decisions."

The presentation is supplemented by ultimatemoneyskills.com, which offers more info on the topics covered in the presentation, as well as an opportunity for students to submit solutions to money-related challenges, provide their own money-making and money-saving related challenges, provide their own money-making and money-saving tips and a money-management blog written by college students.

Making it Count, an educational service provider for students and business unit of Monster Worldwide Inc., is teaming up with Bank of America to provide the presentation.

For info about the presentation, log on to www.makingitcount.com or call the Career Services Office at x4403.

Klickman Named CIE Director

Tracey Klickman, a long-time international education advisor and coordinator, has been named director of the Center for International Education at FSU.

Klickman's appointment completes a national search for a new director. Most recently, she served as coordinator of International Student Services at College of DuPage in Illinois. She has also worked as an advisor in the International Student Office at DePaul University in Chicago. Klickman has been praised for her work and commitment to students, professional skills and knowledge and dedication to international education. She has extensive international travel experience and a background in Japanese language and culture. She is also an active member of NAFSA: Association of International Educators.

"We are very pleased to welcome Tracey Klickman to Frostburg State University. She brings to the University and Center for International Education an outstanding professional background in international education and a strong commitment to helping the University expand its international student services, study abroad programs and international opportunities for faculty," said FSU Vice Provost John Bowman. "Ms. Klickman will provide strong leadership for the center as we welcome an increasing number of international students to our campus and continue to build closer relationships with our partner colleges and universities overseas."

For info about international education at FSU, log on to www.frostburg.edu/admin/cie.

Honoring All Who Serve

The Veterans Affairs Office, Sigma Tau Delta and the 3AM Society have joined forces to coordinate a Veterans Day reading Wednesday, Nov. 11, at 7:30 p.m. in Lane 201. Community members will read passages from writings by and/or about veterans and their service to honor all veterans, past and present. The event is free and open to the public.

For info, contact Clint Garner at cwgarn00@frostburg.edu.

Allen Hall Notice

Beginning Monday, Dec. 21, Allen Hall will undergo renovations of all bathrooms, student rooms and common areas. Similar to last year's renovations in Diehl Hall, this project will run through Intersession and spring semester, with the hall scheduled to reopen in summer 2010.

Allen Hall students will be displaced from their rooms for the spring semester, but will have the opportunity to select another space on campus. Every effort will be made to assign students to a hall and with a roommate of their choice; this includes the effort to place students with their current roommate(s) in an empty room. To make this possible, residents of other halls who do not have roommates will be required to share rooms with other such residents. All room changes will be completed before students leave for the holiday break in December.

Students with concerns can speak with their hall staff or contact the Residence Life Office at x4121.
