FSU's 2012 Appalachian Festival to Celebrate Region's Unique Culture

Seventh Annual Event Features Music, Film, Presentations, Crafts, Food and Family Fun

The public is invited to experience and learn more about the Appalachian region’s rich cultural heritage during FSU’s 2012 Appalachian Festival to be held Thursday, Sept. 13, through Saturday, Sept. 15. Now in its seventh year, the much-anticipated free family event brings together performers and craftspeople to celebrate the history, music, artistic offerings and food of Western Maryland and the surrounding areas. This year, organizers are partnering with the Frostburg Bicentennial Committee to hold the event with the bicentennial celebration in an effort to present a unique and truly historic festival.

The festival will open Thursday evening with the annual film festival, offering insights into issues faced by residents of Appalachia. The first film, “The Electricity Fairy,” will delve into the costs associated with generating coal for electricity. The second, “Up the Ridge,” will examine the impact power lines have on the region in Appalachia. “Up the Ridge” filmmaker Nick Szuberla will lead a discussion following the screening. Both films will be screened beginning at 6:30 p.m. in Compton Science Center room 226.

On Friday at noon on FSU’s Upper Quad, Jay Smar will present traditional and original folk, mountain music, bluegrass and gospel music. Then, from 2 to 4:30 p.m., speakers will share their views on the economic and environmental impact of Marcellus shale in Western Maryland. The symposium will feature speakers from the Allegany and Garrett County Board of Commissioners, University of Maryland Extension Service, the Garrett County Marcellus Shale Natural Gas Advisory Panel, the Appalachian Climate Action Network, and the Chesapeake Climate Action Network. Activities on Saturday will start with a pancake breakfast provided by the Frostburg Rotary, with assistance from the United Methodist Men, from 7 a.m. to 2 p.m. at St. Michael’s Church. Several stages will be set up in the Quad area of the campus and various musical and dance groups are scheduled to perform beginning at 10 a.m., including Greg Latta, Barnstormers, RockCandy Cloggers, Blue Shades, Mountain Therapy, Bear Hill Bluegrass, Highland Grass, Host Mountain Revival, Smar, Ed and Kathleen Meyers, Amy Lough Fabbri, Time Travelers, Aurora Celtic, Ken and Brad Kolodner, Sparky and Rhonda Rucker, Allegheny Mule Team and Loretta Hummel. The Garrett Highlands Pipes and Drums and Frostburg Arion Bar also will perform.

One of the highlights of the festival will be the Footworks Percussive Dance Ensemble, the Incredible Feet, representing an exuberant fusion of live music, comedy, singing and an array of percussive dance forms rooted in different cultures, particularly highlighting Appalachian traditions.

The stories of Appalachia will also be shared through the traditional art of storytelling. Come listen as Adam Booth, Jo Ann Dadsman, June Riffle, Katie and Otto Ross and others spin their tales in the Cook Chapel, located on the lower level of Frost Hall.

As part of Frostburg’s Bicentennial Celebration, students from Mountain Ridge High School will share aspects of their oral history documentary projects and Lynn Bowman will discuss Frostburg’s African-American history. There will also be talks on medicinal roots, mountaintop removal and Marcellus Shale, as well as Scales to Tales, an upclose view of the region’s wildlife. At 4 p.m., segments of the Appalachian Independent’s Mountain Traditions Project will be shown in Cook Chapel, Frost Hall.

Other groups, such as the Western Maryland Chapter of the Archeological Society, Home Ground, the ACM Peace Studies Club and FSU’s Ethnobotany Program, will also have booths. Horn’s Punch and Judy Show, filled with puppetry and magic, will be the centerpiece of the children’s activities at the festival. The FSU Children’s Literature Centre will provide stories and entertainment in the spirit of Frostburg’s Bicentennial. Other activities include creating “whammy-diddles” and other crafts and projects. More than 20 artisans will be featured during the festival, sharing the art of quilting, pottery, tatting, spinning, weaving and other crafts. They will demonstrate their skills and sell their creations.

Documentarians will also present works. Photographer Edwin Remsburg will discuss his images of traditional Maryland artists, and Roxy Todd and Emily Newton will share listening segments of their Traveling 219 Project, a collection of life and community histories of people living near U.S. 219 in Maryland and West Virginia.

Kathy Mattea to Perform in Frostburg’s Bicentennial Concert

The FSU Cultural Events Series presents the capstone event to the City of Frostburg Bicentennial Celebration with a concert from Grammy-winning artist, Kathy Mattea. The 7:30 p.m. performance on Saturday, Sept. 15, will take place in the FSU Cordts PE Center Main Arena.

Mattea’s passionate alto vocals earned her 15 consecutive top-10 hits and four number-one singles on the country charts. Her latest project, “Calling Me Home,” celebrates the folk music and culture of Appalachia; she performs the traditional songs of bravery, pride and grief that speak of life in the world’s oldest mountains. This is Mattea’s third visit to FSU, after appearing as part of the Cultural Events Series in 2008 and 2010.

For info, contact the Cultural Events Series box office at x3137 or visit CES’ webpage at ces.frostburg.edu.

Bicentennial Chorus of 200 to Perform at FSU

The Frostburg 2012 Bicentennial Signature Weekend festivities will culminate in the Sunday concert on Sunday, Sept. 16, at 3 p.m. at PAC Pealer Recital Hall. This event is free and open to the public.

The concert will feature a chorus of 200 voices: the Bicentennial Chorus made up of the University Chorale, FSU Chamber Choir and choir members from the Frostburg United Methodist Church, St. Michael Catholic Church, First Presbyterian Church, First English Baptist Church, Frostburg Church of the Nazarene, as well as members of the Frostburg community.

The Frostburg Bicentennial Committee commissioned a new choral work for this occasion, “Mountain City Reverie,” composed by Dr. Sean Beachy on text by local poet Nina Forsythe. Beachy is a nationally recognized composer and the organist at Frostburg United Methodist Church.

The Choir of 200 Voices will also perform “In the Heart of the World” by Bob Chilcott and “How Can I Keep From Singing,” arranged by American composer Z. Randall Stroope. Beachy will also accompany the choirs for this performance.

The concert will also feature Dr. Mark Gallagher, an associate professor in FSU’s Music Department, on clarinet; a performance by Dr. Greg Latta, a professor in FSU’s Department of Physics and Engineering; and selected works by the Frostburg United Methodist Church Choir under the direction of Debi Beachy.

For info, contact the FSU Department of Music at x4109.

CAST to Present ‘Antony & Cleopatra’

FSU’s Department of English will host the Cambridge American Stage Tour presentation of one of Shakespeare’s most moving yet underperformed masterpieces, “Antony and Cleopatra,” on Tuesday, Sept. 18, at 7:30 p.m. in the Performing Arts Center’s Pealer Recital Hall.

In this tragedy set in ancient Rome, Mark Antony, triumvir and legendary soldier, has abandoned his domestic duties in favor of his beguiling Egyptian queen. Into a spinning backdrop of furious wars, forced smiles and too-firm handshakes, Antony must come home. Yet even the titans of Rome cannot sever him from the pull of Cleopatra, the volatile point around which Antony whirls and anchors his world. Devastatingly poignant and

McClellan to Speak on Hardy Leadership

Creating hardy leaders will be the topic of a lecture and discussion led by FSU’s Dr. Jeffrey McClellan, an assistant professor of management, on Wednesday, Sept. 19, at 7 p.m. in Lane Manicure Hall. This event is free and open to the public.

McClellan’s presentation will focus on what it takes to become a hardy leader. McClellan has a passion for studying and promoting servant-leadership development. He believes that those who could be great leaders will face tremendous challenges in their efforts to lead others, and must be hardy to meet the demands of these challenges.

Before becoming a professor at FSU, McClellan served as a training and development director, university administrator and a career and academic counselor at three universities. He is an experienced consultant, teacher, trainer and speaker. McClellan earned a doctorate in leadership studies from Gonzaga University in 2008.

startlingly comic, “Antony and Cleopatra” is a rising star against a hero in decline, while pushing to a breaking point the passion that could topple empires.

CAST is an annual theatre tour from Great Britain to the United States that has been running for the last 12 years. Each year, a company of the Cambridge University’s most talented directors, producers, actors and technicians bring one of Shakespeare’s plays to universities, high schools and professional theatres across the east coast of America.

Nikki Moss, director, has an extensive background in physical theatre, and in her own words is “aiming to create a fresh piece of classical work from an incredible story, in our own way, with our own energy and passion, and to create a performance that is as tremendous as its heroine.”

She’ll be helped along the way by the largest company the tour has taken to the U.S., in its most ambitious production yet. The tour also boasts a number of performers with professional film credits, including Genevieve Gaunt (Cleopatra), an alumna of the Harry Potter franchise.

Ticket prices are $6 for students and $12 for the general public. Tickets can be purchased at the door on the night of the performance.

For info, call CAST. For info about CAST, visit http://castcambridge.com

This event is sponsored by the FSU Department of English, with support from the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, the Office of the Provost and the FSU Foundation, Inc.

Frostburg One-Act Play Festival Winners Announced, Date Set

FSU’s Center for Creative Writing announces that Roger Strauss’ play, “Delicious,” is the winner of the 2012 One-Act Playwriting Competition for the Frostburg One-Act Play Festival. The plays were judged on plot, character development, dialogue and overall quality. His play, and those of the runners-up, will be produced for the festival, to be held Friday and Saturday, Sept. 28 and 29, in Frostburg.

Strauss, of Moroetown, W.Va., came late to playwriting. He began his writing career upon semi-retirement from 30 years as executive director of a community mental health center. His play, “Caring,” won the new play contest of the Tennessee Theatre Company in Knoxville in 2005. Strauss is also a founding member of the Vermont Playwrights Circle. In “Delicious,” Adam, Eve, Snake and God come back to deconstruct and reconstruct the classic myth that got us all to where we are today.

Lawrence Joseph’s “The Color in the Bathroom,” a play in which partners Martin and Louis discuss colors, relationships, Vegas, Aunt Polly and more, won second place. Joseph is a long-time actor who moved from the Denver area to Fort Worth, Texas. The third-place winner, “The Next Move,” about an elderly couple who uncover some difficult things while bickering their way through a Sunday afternoon, is by New Yorker William Fowkes. Fowkes is an award-winning playwright and published fiction writer.

Visual Arts

‘Invisible City’ First Show of Season

The first exhibition of the fall 2012 semester in FSU’s Stephanie Ann Roper Gallery will be by photographer and video artist Jenece Mateer, a show titled “Invisible City: An Installation.” The show will run through Wednesday, Sept. 26.

Through her art, Mateer explores the issues of desire, identity, gender and the complexity of language. Her work includes straight representational photographs, as well as pieces created through a process of layering of original photographs and appropriated images. Recently, Mateer has incorporated video installation and mixed media materials such as plaster, resin and wax. Her artwork has been displayed in national and internationally juried exhibitions and in such venues as the Biggs Museum, the Delaware Center for Contemporary Art, the Rhode Island Foundation, the Long Beach Island Foundation for the Arts and Sciences and the Convergence International Arts Festival. Mateer teaches photography and digital media at Towson University in Baltimore.

For info, go to www.matee-cronwell-art.com.

The Stephanie Ann Roper Gallery has free admission and is open to the public Sunday through Wednesday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. For info, contact the FSU Department of Visual Arts at x4797.

Lennon Chosen as Research Resident Scholar for 2012

Dr. Kristen Lennon of the Biology Department has been chosen as one of 16 exemplary biologists to participate in the 2012 Research Residency of the American Society for Microbiology/National Science Foundation Biology Scholars Program. As a national leadership initiative that seeks to improve undergraduate biology education based on evidence of student learning, the Biology Scholars Program has brought together more than 150 scholars to create and disseminate examples of scholarship in teaching in biology. These examples have been made possible through the program’s independent, but intertwined, virtual residency programs – the Assessment, Research and Transitions Residencies.

The yearlong Research Residency offers scholars an opportunity to design a project to investigate student learning; understand methods for collecting, analyzing and interpreting data on student learning; and identify appropriate venues for publishing results.

The scholars began their residencies with the intensive Scholarship of Teaching and Learning Institute, held in late July in Washington, DC.

For info, go to www.biology.scholars.org.

Kick Off the Semester With The Bottom Line

The Bottom Line, FSU’s student newspaper and the only entirely student-run publication on campus, is looking for new writers, photographers, graphic designers and advertising representatives.

If you’re looking for some first-hand experience in journalism, design, photography, business or marketing or if you just have a passion for these fields, then The Bottom Line is the place for you. No experience? No problem! The Bottom Line staff will be happy to teach you the basics or help you improve your skills.

If interested, stop by the first meeting of the semester on Tuesday, Sept. 11, at 6 p.m. in Lane Center 108. If you would like to get involved before the meeting, stop by the new office in Lane Center 217 or send The Bottom Line an email.

The Bottom Line will also be implementing an improved version of its Printer Cartridge Recycling program. Starting this year, inkjet printer cartridges, laser toner cartridges, cell phones, iPods and laptop computers can be recycled. To participate, drop the item off at the office, mail it or email The Bottom Line for pickup service.

For info, contact Keith Davidson at thebottomline@frostburg.edu or kedavidson01@frostburg.edu.

Community Dialogue Series to Continue

The Frostburg community is invited to participate in the continuation of the Sustaining Campus and Community Dialogue Series in Frostburg. This project supports existing collaborative efforts and promotes healthy relationships between campus and community, as well as a peaceful, non-violent culture in the Mountain City. Conflict resolution experts Drs. Frank Bukes and Marvin Johnson will continue their work with the community throughout the ongoing series, which is being funded by the Maryland Judiciary’s Mediation and Conflict Resolution Office through 2014. The events will be planned and advertised by semester, and online and on-air coverage of the events will help document the experience of working together.

You are invited to participate in this dialogue series in one or more of the following ways:

- As a formal public partner to be included in promotion of the series. A commitment of time and energy is all that is asked, as well as access to your network of colleagues or members.
- As an attendee at the strategic planning retreat to be held Sunday, Sept. 30, from 1 to 5 p.m. in Lane Manicur Hall. Please RSVP by Friday, Sept. 21, if planning to attend. In the retreat the group will narrow the seven topical areas of problem-solving identified in spring 2012 to form working coalitions groups that can sustain contact through the dialogues to build partnerships and consolidate efforts in Frostburg.
- As a dialogue facilitator, willing to lead small group discussions about community concerns and coalition initiatives. Training will be provided on Monday, Oct. 1, with two session options: 11:30 a.m. to 1:45 p.m. in Lane 111 or 5 to 7:15 p.m. in the Lyric Theater, 20 E. Main St.
- As a community member contributing to the open dialogue sessions on Monday, Oct. 8, from 5:30 to 8:30 p.m. in the Lyric Theater and Thursday, Nov. 1, from 5:30 to 8:30 p.m. at the Frostburg Community Center at 23 S. Water St. If you would like to be listed as a formal partner of this project or to confirm your attendance at the Sept. 30 retreat, contact Dr. Elesha Ruminski at e.ruminski@frostburg.edu or x4480.

Clay Studio at FSU
A basic (non-credit) ceramics class will be held on Wednesdays from Sept. 12 to Oct. 31 from 6 to 9 p.m. in Fine Arts 107. The cost for the class is $160 (plus the cost of clay and tools). Sign-up forms can be obtained through the University and Student Billing Office in Pullen 109, from Patti Graham in Fine Arts 115.
For info, contact Jackie Brown at jbrown@frostburg.edu.

 Majors Fair 2012
The annual Majors Fair will be held Wednesday, Oct. 3, from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. in Lane Manicur Hall. The Center for Advising and Career Services is looking for student organizations to represent their major/academic area and submit interactive presentations with the campus. Look for information to be sent to your advisor or department.
For info, contact Amy Shimko at alshimko@frostburg.edu or x3132.

Fall 2012 Annual Diversity Retreat
FSU students interested in diversity issues will have the opportunity to participate in the 14th Annual Diversity Retreat scheduled for 4 p.m. Friday, Oct. 12, through 1:30 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 14. Offered by the Black Student Alliance, the Diversity Center and the President’s Advisory Council on Diversity, Equity and Inclusion, this year’s theme is “Building Community: With the Courage to Be the Change.” The retreat will include workshops and other related activities intended to promote student awareness and empowerment in diversity issues, coalition building and social justice.
Participants are challenged and empowered to explore their experiences and feelings about their own groups as well as the groups to which others belong. Skill training and action planning are included so the participants return to campus prepared to create and maintain a warm, welcoming environment at FSU.
Former participants are welcome; however, new students are encouraged to attend. This is an excellent opportunity to spend quality time with students from various identity groups to develop relationships and understandings that reach beyond the surface.
Applications are available at the Lane Information Desk and in the Diversity Center in Hitchins 126. Completed applications must be submitted before Sept. 28.
Participation is limited and there is a selective process based on information provided in the application. Applicants are advised to submit a thoughtful response to the paragraph prompt. Those selected to participate will be required to complete additional forms to confirm their commitment to attend and participate.
For info, contact Robin Wynder at x4050.

Graduating in December?
The 141st commencement ceremony is scheduled for Wednesday, Dec. 19, at 2 p.m.

The Colleges of Business, Education and Liberal Arts and Sciences will present their graduates at a single ceremony in the Cordts Pe Center. Tickets will be required for admission. The number of tickets allotted to each graduate will be determined later.
Check with the Registrar’s Office to ensure that everything is in order for you to graduate and all your information in PAWS is correct.
If you’d like to order your cap and gown, graduation announcements, class rings or diploma frames, you can do so now through www.grad.com.
For info, contact Brittni Teter at x4423 or bteter@frostburg.edu.

BURG Peer Education Network Events
Matt Bellace, Tuesday, Sept. 11, 3:30 and 7 p.m., Lane Atkinson Room (232). Bellace is an internationally known motivational speaker who will give you the essential tools to “get high” naturally. Freshmen, do you need ORIE Credit? This event counts! 17th Annual BURG Bash, Friday, Sept. 14, 10 p.m. to 1 a.m., Lane Manicur Hall. Come out for free refreshments and dancing and meet the BURG Peer Education Network members. Come celebrate BURG’s 25th anniversary, again on you all long! Get your free tickets in the Lane Center Box Office.
Btel1: Train the Trainer, Tuesday, Sept. 18, 6:30 p.m., Lane Manicur Hall. This new initiative is a high-energy, interactive workshop that challenges students to stand up and Btel1. This program stresses bystander intervention in various situations and incorporates interesting information to help students critically think about making a change.
Red Zone Forum, Thursday, Sept. 20, 8 p.m., Lane Manicur Hall. A panel of professionals will discuss sexual assault and its prevalence, some preventative measures and what to do if it happens to you or a friend.
Freshmen, this counts as an ORIE event!

Upcoming UCM Events

Activities for Life

Creative Movement II Class

A creative movement II class for children ages 6 to 8 will be offered on Wednesdays from Sept. 12 through Oct. 17. Classes will be held from 4:15 p.m. to 5 p.m. in room 106 of the Cordts PE Center.

The class, instructed by Nicole Frost, will emphasize the use of rhythm, space and awareness of movement. Students will learn advanced fundamental skills, musicality and experience the use of props to enhance the rhythmic/movement learning. Dance attire, such as leotards, tights and ballet slippers or socks, is preferred, although leggings and tight-fitting sweatpants and T-shirts are acceptable.

Space is limited to 12 students, and the registration and payment deadline is Monday, Sept. 10.

Swimming Lessons for a Range of Ages

Infant-toddler and pre-school swimming lessons (3 months to 3 years), as well as youth swimming lessons (ages 4 to 13) will be held Mondays and Wednesdays from Sept. 24 to Oct. 10 in the Cordts PE Center swimming pool.

The infant-toddler and pre-school lessons will be held from 5:30 to 6 p.m. Parents are required to accompany their children in the water during these lessons. Parents and children will participate in water exploration activities with the objective of having fun and becoming comfortable in, on and around the water.

The youth swimming lessons will be held from 6 to 6:50 p.m. The class will be separated into skill levels based on each child’s swimming ability coming into the class.

The Frostburg Museum will present an exhibition of paintings titled “A Wing and a Prayer” by Cindy Inmann from Sept. 11 through Oct. 6. The artist’s reception will be held Sept. 22 from 5 to 8 p.m. during the Frostburg Arts Walk. The reception is free and open to the public.

Highly regarded for her portraits of people and animals, Inmann has a gift of capturing the life likeness of her subjects. She is the author and illustrator of a children’s book, “Pappysvanita Pigtales” and has illustrated children’s books for various authors. She presently works as an art instructor and takes in commissioned artwork for clients throughout the U.S.

Braddock Stone Dedication

The Braddock Stone, a 3-ton, 5-foot-high engraved rock used as a highway sign during the 18th century, is moving to the Frostburg Museum.

The Braddock Stone Dedication, the premiere event of Frostburg’s Bicentennial Celebration Weekend, will take place on Thursday, Sept. 13, from 4 to 6 p.m. at the museum. Bob Bantz, a local historian, will be the keynote speaker for the event.

A new exhibition facility on the east side of the museum building will house the 200-year-old stone marker.

Donations for the Braddock Stone exhibit are welcome and can be sent to the Frostburg Museum, Box 92, Frostburg, MD 21532.

Captain Jack

Frank Blackwell Mayer’s 1858 painting, “Independence,” will be on exhibit during Frostburg’s Bicentennial. The painting features Squire Jack Porter, an early coal mine operator in the Eckhart-Frostburg area and represents the ideal of an American in the 1850s – the independent spirit that encouraged success.

The Frostburg Museum is a nonprofit organization located at the corners of Hill and Oak Streets. The museum is open Tuesday through Saturday from noon to 5 p.m. Admission to the museum is free. Donations are appreciated.

For info, contact Garry Ritchie at 301-689-1195 or FrostburgMuseum@verizon.net, or go to FrostMuseum.Allcomet.org.

A sculpture by Mike Edelman

“It’s All Here – Wood, Metal and Glass” will be on display at the C. William Gilchrist Museum of the Arts in Cumberland from Sept. 21 through Oct. 14. The exhibit will feature the work of collagist and mosaic artist Sherri Loomis, metal artist and jewelry designer Mike Edelman and furniture artisan Donald Dicken. There will be an opening reception on Sept. 22 from 5 to 7 p.m.

The museum is located at 104 Washington St. and is free and open to the public Friday through Sunday from 1 to 4 p.m. For info, visit www.facebook.com/gilchristgallery.
