FSU's Gallagher and DeWire Join Aguado-Murray and Haughn in Faculty-Guest Artist Series Concert

The FSU Department of Music will present clarinetist Dr. Mark Gallagher, pianist Dr. Jay DeWire, mezzo-soprano Francesca Aguado-Murray and violinist Heather Haughn in a Faculty-Guest Artist Series concert on Sunday, Nov. 4, at 3 p.m. The recital is free and open to the public.

The program will include "Pastorale Cévenole" by Louis Cahuzac, "Verge" by Sebastian Currier, "Three Etudes on Themes of Gershwin" by Paul Harvey, "Parto, parto, ma tu, ben mio" from "La Clemenza di Tito, K. 621" by Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart and "Six German Songs, Op. 103" by Louis Spohr.

French composer Cahuzac was one of the few clarinetists who made a career as a soloist in the first part of the 20th century. "Pastorale Cévenole" radiates with the Mediterranean light of his beloved southern France and echo-type effects suggest open, mountainous spaces.

Composed in 1997 for the Verdehr Trio, who commissioned and recorded it, "Verge" is one of Currier's best-known and most often played pieces. Each of the nine brief movements is on the "verge" of some state, and except for the last movement ("almost too calm"), the movements are in contrasting pairs.

"Three Etudes on Themes of Gershwin" – "I Got Rhythm," "Summertime" and "It Ain't Necessarily So" – were written for three different clarinetists.

"La Clemenza di Tito" ("The Clemency of Titus") is an opera seria in two acts composed by Mozart to an Italian libretto by Caterino Mazzolà. The work premiered in 1791 in Prague. In "Parto, parto, ma tu, ben mio," one of the opera's most famous arias, after Servilia orders Sextus to kill his friend Titus and set fire to Rome, Sextus meekly acquiesces and sings that he will do anything for Vitellia's beauty and love.

Spohr was a German composer, violinist and conductor who wrote "Sechs deutsche Lieder" ("Six German Songs") in 1837. Spohr's compositions for clarinet, with their long beautiful melodies and virtuosic tendencies, were in many ways influenced by his background as a violinist, and these songs are no exception.

One-Act Play Festival to Feature Baltimore-Based Playwright

The FSU Center for Literary Arts will host its annual One-Act Play Festival on Saturday, Nov. 10, at 7 p.m. in Frostburg's Palace Theatre on Main Street. The festival will feature a staged production of the winning play from CLA's 2018 One-Act Play Competition and staged readings of the two runners-up. A discussion with playwrights will follow the performances.

The winning play, "4/4/68," was written by Sharon Goldner of Baltimore. The play revisits the landscape of Baltimore on the day of the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., and during the Holy Week Uprisings that swept through many American cities following King's death. Through the microcosm of two Baltimore families – one white and one black – "4/4/68" examines the emotional turmoil of a tumultuous week.

The second-place play, "Agathe," by Angela J. Davis of Los Angeles, takes place during the first days of the Rwandan genocide, April 6 and 7, 1994. Set around a UN compound in Kigali, Rwanda, it is inspired by the history of Rwanda's first female prime minister, Agathe Uwilingiyimana. "Agathe" explores her bravery until her assassination, and the heroic efforts of an unconventional Army captain who hoped to save her five children from the same terrible fate.

The third-place play, "When Good Times Say Goodbye," was written by Carl L. Williams of Houston. The play follows three women who assemble in a funeral parlor to say their final goodbyes to the deceased, a man each had loved and lost.

Tickets are $10 for general admission and $5 for students and are available for purchase from the Allegany Arts Council, Main Street Books in Frostburg or the FSU Center for Literary Arts.
