Season Too! Presents 'This is Our Youth'

The final Season Too! production of the University Theatre season will be "This is Our Youth" by Kenneth Lonergan. Performances will take place on May 7 and 8 at 8 p.m. in the F. Perry Smith Studio Theatre of the Performing Arts Center.

Directed by Chris Coy, "This is Our Youth" takes place in 1982 at the dawn of the Reagan era, and follows the coming of age story of two New York teens, Warren (played by Louis Joe) and Dennis (played by Craig Lawrence), whose lives are dominated by drugs and violence. After Warren impulsively steals fifteen thousand dollars from his lingerie tycoon father, he runs to his charismatic drug-dealing friend Dennis, which starts a slew of troubles as the young men devise ways to spend and repay the money. Everything changes though when Warren meets Jessica (played by Michelle Mangan), a mixed-up prep-school girl who arrives for a date and causes Warren to contemplate what has become of his life. In the end, Warren must decide whether he will follow Dennis into a downward spiral or discover a way out.

"This is Our Youth" is recommended for mature audiences. All tickets are $3. For reservations and information, call x7462 weekdays from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. The box office opens one hour prior to curtain. Group discounts are available when booked in advance.

Physical Comic Brings FSU 'Comedy in Motion'

Dan Kamin, who created Johnny Depp's physical comedy routines in "Benny and Joon," brings his eye-popping movement illusions and mind-boggling sleight-of-hand magic to FSU's Cultural Events Series on Friday, May 7, at 7:30 p.m. in the PAC Pealer Recital Hall.

Kamin's show, "Comedy in Motion," is capped by some of the routines he created for movies such as "Chaplin." In addition to creating the physical comedy scenes, Kamin played the wooden Indian who came to life in the cult classic "Creepshow 2" and created Martian movement for Tim Burton's "Mars Attacks!"

At age 12, Kamin began his performing career by doing magic shows at the birthday parties of "often obnoxious children." Attending Carnegie Mellon University to study industrial design, his hopes for a "normal career" evaporated when he saw the eye-popping movement illusions practiced by master mime Jewel Walker. He promptly became the sorcerer's apprentice.

The great silent comedy films of Buster Keaton and Charlie Chaplin added more fuel to his fire, and soon Kamin was touring the country with his first original show, "Silent Comedy...Live!" Undeterred by the fact that vaudeville was long dead, he cobbled a new vaudeville circuit out of colleges, theatres and schools. His "Comedy Concertos," which blend lowbrow comedy with highbrow music, have become popular with symphonies nationwide. Kamin also creates special programs and pranks for corporate clients.

Kamin returned to his comedy roots to write "Charlie Chaplin's One-Man Show," revealing the secrets of Chaplin's comic art. Hailed as a breakthrough work, the book boasts a preface by another Chaplin fan, Marcel Marceau.

For tickets or more information, call the Cultural Events Box Office at x3137 or toll free at 1-866-TIXX-CES, or visit online at ces.frostburg.edu.

Additional packages include the Arts Gateway Packages and the Dinner Show Package. This project is partially sponsored by a grant from Pennsylvania Performing Arts on Tour, a program developed and funded by the Vira I. Heinz Endowment; the William Penn Foundation; the Pennsylvania Council on the Arts, a state agency; and The Pew Charitable Trusts; and administered by Mid Atlantic Arts Foundation.

McCown's work has been described as "wickedly funny," with memorable, offbeat characters. He has twice won the American Fiction Prize, and his novel, "The Member-Guest" (Doubleday, 1995), received the Society of Midland Authors Award, as well as nominations for the National Book Award and the Pulitzer Prize. Another novel, "War Memorials" (Graywolf Press 2000, Houghton Mifflin 2002), also received Pulitzer and National Book Award nominations. In addition, he has published two volumes of poems, "Sidetracks" (1977) and "Wind Over Water" (1984). In 1978 he received the Associated Press Award for Documentary Excellence for his writings on organized crime and election fraud. Several of his plays have been produced. His stories, poems and essays have appeared widely. He is a former screenwriter for Warner Bros., and a former actor with the National Shakespeare Company. He has just completed another novel entitled "The Weatherman."

A book-signing will follow the reading. For more information contact Brad Barkley, FSU English professor, at x3092.

Film

International Film Series Presents 'Tycoon'

FSU's 2004 International Film Series will present the movie "Tycoon" at 7 p.m. on Tuesday, May 4, in Lane University Center Room 201.

Pavel Lounguine's "Tycoon," a savage portrait of Russia's volatile economy in the 1980s and 90s, paints the aftermath of Communism in chilling terms. Told in the form of an intricate detective thriller, the movie charts the 1985-2000 rise and fall of a fictional oligarch. Platon Makovski (played by Russian actor Vladimir Mashkov) builds a vast communications and industrial empire with dizzying rapidity, only to become the victim of corruption and intrigue. It's a rare example of a modern movie based on crucial contemporary historical material that crackles with dramatic and cinematic energy.

The event is free and open to the public, and refreshments will be served. For more information, contact the Lane University Center Information Desk at x4411. The International Film Series is sponsored by Center Stage and the FSU Department of Student and Community Involvement.

Safety Message

Be a Road-Wise Employee

Is your daily drive to work an exercise in highway survival? You wouldn't head off to work, a meeting or a big presentation without being prepared. Yet every day, people get on the road unprepared in many ways and never give it a second thought. These days it's more important than ever to drive with a clear head and a sharp focus. Being well rested, alert and attentive keeps you safe on the road and in a much better position to defend yourself from the drivers who do not make that choice.

Keep a safe distance from the vehicle in front of you. Use your rear view and side mirrors to know what vehicles are around you. Be aware of what is happening around your vehicle and act in a safe manner. Safe driving is everyone's responsibility. Have a safe and enjoyable ride.
