Live! at the Loft Presents Sankofa Dance Theater

FSU’s Live at the Loft, sponsored by the University Programming Council, will feature the Sankofa Dance Theater in the Lane University Center’s Derezinski Lounge on Friday, Feb. 10, at 8 p.m. The performance is free and open to the public. The Sankofa Dance Theater was started in 1989 as a Baltimore-based Cultural Arts organization. “Sankofa” means “reaching back … to move forward,” an expression evolving out of the need for a community focused on creating authentic African arts forms as a vehicle for cultural expression. By “reaching back” into the rich legacy of African culture and history, the Sankofa Dance Theater hopes to create an exciting program of traditional dance, music and folklore. The company’s performers have been praised as exuberant dancers and percussionists.

For more information, call x4411.

Ward’s reading will be followed by a reception, sponsored by the Office of Student and Community Involvement, and a book signing. The event is free and open to the public. For more information, call the Center for Creative Writing at x4024.

‘Vagina Monologues’ to Highlight Month’s Events

FSU will present Eve Ensler’s Obie Award-winning play “The Vagina Monologues” on Friday and Saturday, Feb. 17 and 18, at 8 p.m. in the Performing Arts Center’s Pealer Recital Hall. All proceeds will benefit the Family Crisis Resource Center in Allegany County and The Dove Center in Garrett County.

The V-Day College Campaign strives to empower women to find their collective voices and demand an end to the epidemic levels of violence and abuse on their campuses, in their communities and around the world. Through benefit productions of “The Vagina Monologues” or on or around V-Day (Feb. 14), they raise money and awareness to stop violence against women and girls.

For more information, visit the Web site at www.vday.org or e-mail VDayFrostburg@hotmail.com.

UT Opens Spring Season with ‘Dames At Sea!’

University Theatre’s Season Too! will present “Dames At Sea,” with music by Jim Wise and book and lyrics by George Haimsohn and Robin Miller. A preview performance is scheduled for Feb. 23 with opening performances on Feb. 24 and 25. All shows will begin at 8 p.m. in the Center for Creative Writing at x4024.

the F. Perry Smith Studio Theatre of the Performing Arts Center.

Directed by Coty Warn, “Dames at Sea” is a heartfelt, comedic tribute to music of a bygone era. Set in the early 1930s, “Dames” takes us back to a time when people expressed their feelings through song and dance, and approached the world with inherent truth and goodness. The original Off-Broadway hit contains great musical numbers such as “Walk Street,” “Broadway Baby,” “Sailor of My Dreams” and, of course, “Dames at Sea.” With performances by Jenny Tabb (Cal), Deanna McDonald (Evan), Matt Cooper (Hennessey), Mallory Smith (Ruby), Colby Lehman (Lucky) and Ryan Adams (the Captain), “Dames” is a classic song and tap extravaganza sure to please everyone. All tickets are $5. For reservations and information, please call the University Theatre box office at x4762, Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Irish Classic ‘Playboy of the Western World’

University Theatre will present J. M. Synge’s Irish classic, “The Playboy of the Western World” on March 3, 4, 9, 10 and 11 at 8 p.m., and March 4 at 2 p.m., in the Performing Arts Center Drama Theatre. When Christy Mahon saunters into a small Irish town claiming to have killed his father in self-defense, the villagers become captivated by his mystique and bravery, proclaiming him, “Playboy of the Western World.” Their praise gives Christy newfound confidence and he quickly becomes a favorite among the village girls and Widow Quinn. He also wins the affections of the strong-willed Pegeen Mike who runs her father’s pub where Christy has taken refuge. However, when another stranger comes to town Christy’s image takes a turn for the worst, causing Pegeen Mike and other townsfolk to reveal some harsh realities that underlie their isolated community. When this humorous and satirical play opened at Dublin’s Abbey Theatre in 1907, it became a great success and is a must-see for people who love Irish life and women, for he scandalously mentioned “standing in their shifts.” Since those initial nationalistic shock waves, “The Playboy of the Western World” has become a poetic masterpiece, and as favorable to audiences as Christy Mahon to that small Irish town.

Tickets are $5 for students and $10 for the general public. For reservations please call the University Theatre box office at x2476, Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The Second Film of the Series is “Confidences Trop Intimes.” This film will be shown on Saturday, Feb. 11, at 7 p.m. in the Lane University’s Center Atkinson Room, 201. The film, which is rated R, is free and open to the public.

The French film begins with a troubled female named Anna, who intended to see a psychiatrist named Dr. Monnier to speak of her marriage problems. Instead of speaking to the doctor, she unknowingly confesses her problems to a tax accountant named William Faber. William decides to listen instead of telling the truth about not being able to help, and becomes compelled by her confessions.

There will be three other films shown during the Festival. The next two, “Moolaadé” and “A Very Long Engagement” will be shown at the Palace Theatre on Main Street in Frostburg.

“Moolaadé,” shown on Friday, Feb. 17 and Saturday, Feb. 18, at 8 p.m., takes on the controversial issue of female circumcision. It is unrated. “A Very Long Engagement,” Saturday, Feb. 25, at 8 p.m., follows the story of Mathilde, who is in search of her missing fiancé, Mane, and who served in World War I. It is rated R. Admission is free for FSU students and $5.50 for the general public.

The Festival will end with the film “Viva Laldjerie” on Tuesday, Feb. 28, at 7 p.m. in the Lane Atkinson Room, 201. The unrated film explores the lives of three women in Algiers trying to get by despite hardships. Admission is free.

For information, call the Lane University Center Information Desk at x4411.
be honored for receiving a MAHE Distinguished Program Award for the university/community engagement embodied in the Frostburg Community Outreach Center.

Due to the importance of, and potential wide interest in the topic, President Gira has graciously agreed to fund the conference registration fee of $50/person for an FSU delegation that includes faculty and at least one administrator from each division. If you are interested, please contact Mary Gartner, MAHE Institutional Representative, for further information. You must register through Mary to be considered for Presidential funding. Group transportation will be provided leaving very early in the morning.

Take Note

The Feb. 9 episode of “My Name is Earl,” created by FSU Alum Greg Garcia, visits a fictional place called “Frostburg State University.”

Must-See FSU on TV

Must-see NBC TV will be FSU-TV, when the hit comedy “My Name is Earl” airs an episode on Feb. 9 that takes place at a place called “FSU.”

“My Name is Earl” is the brainchild of FSU graduate Greg Garcia (Class of ’92) who also created the series “Yes, Dear” (which also features a character with ties to Frostburg.) “Earl” is centered around a reformed crook who is on a crusade to correct a list of wrongdoings from his past. The critically acclaimed show was recently renewed for another season and was honored with a People’s Choice Award for “Best New TV Comedy.”

In the “FSU” episode called “The Professor,” Earl is nervous about returning a laptop computer he stole from a college professor, mostly because he’s uncomfortable around smart people. When the professor turns out to be a beautiful and brilliant woman, he feels even more ill at ease, until she flatters him and asks him to speak about his list in front of her class. Meanwhile, Randy experiences fraternity life and absolutely loves it.

University of Southern California was transformed into Frostburg State in late November for the episode’s filming and actors wore FSU sweatshirts and hats. While FSU officials are recognizing that some of the college antics in the show will be sensitonalized for the small screen (and comedic value), the episode and entire series shows the great success of a real-life FSU graduate.

“My Name is Earl” airs at 9 p.m. Eastern time, Thursday nights on NBC.

E-Commerce Site Set Up for Discounted Software

FSU has signed onto a 2004 initiative between the Maryland Education Enterprise Consortium participants and Microsoft that provides FSU students, faculty and staff access to this Microsoft software at prices discounted from 50 percent to 80 percent. An agreement with e-Academy allows the FSU community to order this software through a secure on-line store with a VISA or MasterCard. The McAfee Antivirus software, through a second agreement with Network Associates Inc., is available through the FSU Bookstore.

You can log onto the secure store at http://elm08.e-academy.com/FSU. You will also need your FSU e-mail address (jdoe@frostburg.edu) and your password was e-mailed to this account. If you do not know your password, go to the e-Academy site, click on the Login icon and follow the directions under Login Help.

You can get further information on MEEC and the Microsoft Agreement by visiting one of the following sites:

• Maryland Education Enterprise Consortium - www.usmsc.edu/meec
• Bell Education Division - MEEC Web site - www.bellind.com/sig/customsites/meec/index.cfm

Products available under this new agreement are:

• Office 2004 Standard for Mac
• Office 2003 Professional (PC)
• Office 2003 Standard (PC)
• FrontPage 2003 (PC)
• OneNote 2003 (PC)
• Visio Standard 2003 (PC)
• Windows XP Professional Upgrade (PC)
• Visual Studio .NET 2003 (PC) (Work At Home only)

There are two choices on how faculty and staff may purchase several of the products: Select and WAH (Work At Home). The difference between these similar offerings is that the Select license is a perpetual license you own it and can use it for whatever purpose and allows for two installations either on the same computer or two different computers) whereas the Work At Home license is only valid while you are employed at FSU, is limited to one installation and is intended for FSU related work only. In doing the purchase of Work At Home, you agree to the terms of the Work at Home agreement and also that you will erase the software from your system when your employment with FSU ends.

Check the site periodically, as we are constantly looking for other academic titles to add to our “store”. Questions may be directed to oac@frostburg.edu.

The University System of Maryland was a leader in putting together the MEEC, a voluntary agreement among public and independent higher education and county school systems formed to leverage the volume of all Maryland schools to receive favorable pricing from major software vendors. FSU was active in the development of the MEEC and remains a member.

Historical Equipment in USGS Display at Ort

The U.S. Geological Survey is currently showcasing a unique collection of historical hydrologic equipment at Ort Library.

The display highlights “Real-Time Streamflow Data for the Nation,” since the USGS office in Ort works directly with the Water Resources Division of USGS. The display will show historic gauge height recording equipment, stream measuring equipment, photographs and much more.

Shutterbug Contest: Environmental Photos
The Third Annual Environmental Photography contest sponsored by the Environmental Planning and Land Management Institute (a cooperative effort of the FSU Department of Geography and the MDE Bureau of Mines) is under way.

Please submit environmental photographs of either Allegany or Garrett counties to the FSU Geography Department or the Bureau of Mines Laboratory (307 Dunkle Hall). The contest ends on April 5, with an April 20 awards ceremony in Compton Science Center. Numerous prizes, cash and certificates will be awarded. Contact either the Geography Department (x4721) or the Bureau of Mines Lab (x4721) or vie the FSU Web site for details, rules and entry forms.

Reduce, Reuse, Recycle
The Office of Human Resources Safety Office would like to remind everyone of our beautiful campus and surroundings. Help keep our campus environmentally safe and clean. We can do our part by using one or all of the following:

- REDUCE: Waste prevention, or "source reduction," means consuming and throwing away less.
  - Purchase durable, long-lasting goods;
  - Seek products and packaging that are free of toxics as possible;
  - Redesign products to use less raw material in production, to have a longer life or be used again after its original use.

- REUSE: Reusing items - by repairing the, donating them to charity and community groups, or selling them reduces waste:
  - Using durable coffee cups/mugs, using cloth napkins or towels, refilling bottles, donating old magazines or surplus equipment, reusing boxes and packing materials, turning empty jars into containers for leftover foods, garden supplies, purchasing refillable pens and pencils, and participating in a paper or plastic reuse programs.

- RECYCLE: Recycling turns materials that would otherwise become waste into valuable reources. In addition it generates a host of environmental, financial and social benefits. Materials like glass, metal and plastics, and paper are collected, separated and sent to facilities that can process them into new materials or products. Continue to recycle plastic soft drink containers, aluminum soft drink cans and paper products. Recycle bins are located in various campus buildings. Most containers are large, blue and have the recycle logo painted on the front.

Points of Pride
Dr. Barry Fischer, FSU Director of Dance, and six dance students attended the 2006 Mid-Atlantic Regional American College Dance Festival, at Wesleyan West Virginia University, on Jan. 25-29. FSU Dance Company member Jonay Aiken’s solo work “Spotlight,” directed under Dr. Fischer’s supervision, was chosen as one of two student works for the Gala Concert for the conference’s event. Fischer participated as a guest teacher for “Favorite Falls: Martha Graham.” (Only two student works and four faculty works were selected by adjudicators from 13 regional universities for this celebration). Aiken’s dance was a rapid quick tempo tap dance that blended traditional, stylized and original components of tap with modern dance influences. Other students who attended were Kelley J ones, Allison Eckert, Jessica Hartell, Maddie Bender and apprentice and Allegany High School student Josh Bernnard.

The FSU Dance Company raised nearly $450 for the Red Cross during the Winter 2005 Dance Concert for victims of Hurricane Katrina.

FSU sophomore Shavonne Shorter, a communications major and a leadership studies minor, is the third student to receive the Dr. Harold and Geraldine Delaney Leadership Award at FSU, a program designed to promote the development of student leaders. Shorter is a member of the University Systems of Maryland Student Council, a resident assistant, chair of the Senate Finance Committee, SGA Liaison and a School Spirit Committee member. The award was named in memory of the late Dr. Harold Delaney, who served as interim president at FSU in 1991, and his wife, Geraldine.

Spencer Deakin, Director of Counseling, was a co-presenter at the International Association of Counseling Services' Field Visitors Training Workshop held at the Association of University and College Counseling Center Directors Conference in Minneapolis, Minn.

Zach Olson, MS candidate in Wildlife and Fisheries Science, Department of Biology, has received a fellowship to support a Ph.D. program in the School of Forestry and Natural Resources at Purdue University. Zach’s Ph.D. research will focus on the development of landscape-level assessments for river otters and other meso-carnivores in North Dakota.
