FSU Employees, Frostburg Residents Help Fund Education Programs

New Scholarship

Benefits Special Education

In recognition of their son and the special education teachers who worked with him, Frostburg residents Kathy and Fred Powell have created a new scholarship through the FSU Foundation, Inc.: the Joshua Powell Special Education Scholarship Fund.

The new scholarship was established to support FSU graduate education students with a major in special education and is named for their son, Joshua, who was born with a degenerative neurological disorder and received assistance from special education teachers throughout the 14 years he was alive. He passed away in April 2006.

For more information about supporting the Joshua Powell Special Education Scholarship Fund, contact Jack Aylor at the FSU Foundation, Inc., at x4161. Apply for the scholarship through the FSU Financial Aid Office, X4301.

Stewart started his donations, bi-weekly payroll deductions, during a FSU Foundation, Inc., capital campaign during the mid-1990s. He anticipated that the scholarship for aspiring teachers would reach its endowment level of $10,000 around the time of his wife's retirement. He planned to surprise her with the honor as a gift.

"I felt like the University's done a lot for me. It's done a lot for Twylah. She's had a good career because of it," Bill Stewart said.

Twylah Stewart, a 35-year teacher who got both her bachelor's and master's degrees in elementary education from FSU and who is currently at Accident Elementary School, learned of her husband's secret a few years ago.

"I thought, 'Wow, what a great idea,'" she said.

The scholarship will benefit elementary education majors with the added expenses of their final internship. Scholarship awards will generally be in increments of $500. Applications are to be made through the Department of Educational Professions.

Recommended for adult and young adult audiences, the performance is a series of comic and poignant scenes played out against a backdrop of classical music. A combination of virtuosic manipulation, humor, pathos and poetic insight takes the audience on a journey celebrating the richness of human experience.

the Lewis J. Ort Library will celebrate the week with a poetry reading by Susan Tichy, a professor of English at George Mason University and author of the book "Bone Pagoda."

The library staff will also host area librarians for a workshop by the University of Maryland librarians on disaster preparedness for information professionals.

"At our library, people from campus and community can unite for meetings and programs, or do research with the assistance of a professional, search for a job or find homework help," says Dr. David Gillespie, Library director. "Libraries transform their communities."

The Lewis J. Ort library contributes to the Frostburg community by teaching information literacy, the ability to find and select appropriate information, evaluate it and effectively incorporate it in scholarship. The American Library Association invites people to "come together @ your library" during National Library Week. National Library Week was instituted in 1958 and is now observed all over the country every April.

Theatre

Steinbeck Classic Closes UT Season

The University Theatre 2006-2007 Main Stage season will conclude with an African American production of John Steinbeck's classic, "Of Mice and Men." Performances will take place on April 13, 14, 19, 20, and 21 at 7:30 p.m. and April 14 at 2 p.m. in the Performing Arts Center's F. Perry Smith Studio Theatre.

"Of Mice and Men" is the moving story of George and his simple-minded friend Lennie, two lonely and alienated Depression-era drifters who dream of buying a ranch together. Shortly after they begin to work on a Salinas Valley ranch, their hopes—like "the best laid schemes o'mice an' men"—take a turn for the worse. Based on the famous novella by John Steinbeck, "Of Mice and Men" is an evocative, beautifully rendered portrait of "outsiders" who struggle to survive in an unforgiving world.

For reservations and information contact the theatre box office at x7462, Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tickets are $5 for students and $10 for non-students.

A series of touching character portrayals and scenes from everyday life are set to original and classical music, including Vivaldi, Strauss, Beethoven and Copland. The vignettes celebrate the beauty, joy and wonder in life, exploring a range of emotions from comic to tragic.

Poet's Reading Part of Library Week Festivities

The Lewis J. Ort Library at FSU will host poet Susan Tichy at 7 p.m. Friday, April 20, as part of its National Library Week celebration. The reading, which is free and open to the public, will take place on the library's fourth floor, and is co-sponsored by the University Programming Council.

Susan Tichy's new book Bone Pagoda is part of a larger body of work that explores war-torn geographies and war's aftermath on a culture. As a protestor of the Vietnam War, Tichy met her future husband, a Vietnam War veteran, and her travels to Vietnam with him informed this latest work.

When not teaching, Tichy lives in a "ghost town" in the southern Colorado Rockies, where she works to preserve open space and wildlife habitat. For more information about the event, call Jeff Maehre at x4734.

Music

Calling All Local Musical Talent

The Fourth Annual Mind Culture Original Music project is under way at FSU. The FSU Department of Mass Communication is looking for bands, solo acts or ensembles with original music who are interested in becoming part of a compilation CD featuring the area's finest musicians. Songs in all forms, from completely produced to ideas on paper, are welcome.

As part of a class offered within the MCOM Department, students solicit original music from local and regional artists, create a compilation CD and produce and host a live show. This is a great chance for students to begin building an audience base. Other local artists featured on previous CDs include Hanna Bingman, Distorted Penguins, White Noise and Killa Kodiak.

For submission of your music or for more information or previous volumes of the MCOM CD, contact Connie Capacchione at x3049. You can drop off or mail submissions to: FSU, Mass Communication Department, 101 Braddock Road, Guild Center Room 118, Frostburg, MD 21532. Artists submitting will have a chance to appear on a full-length CD and in a live show to be held in May. Submission deadlines: April 20 for produced music and April 13 for songs in need of producing. All proceeds from CD sales will benefit the Department of Mass Communication through the FSU Foundation, Inc.

Goo Goo Dolls to Play FSU

The alternative rock superstars the Goo Goo Dolls will appear in concert at FSU's Cordts Physical Education Center Main Arena on Sunday, April 22, at 8 p.m. Tickets are available at the FSU Lane University Center Box Office and online at <http://ces.frostburg.edu>.

Best known for their chart-topping hits "Name," "Iris," "Slide" and "Here is Gone," the Goo Goo Dolls are on tour to promote their eighth album, "Let Love In," the result of a return to their Buffalo, N.Y., roots. Founding members John Rzeznik and Robby Takac left Buffalo for Los Angeles, but Rzeznik failed to find much inspiration in L.A. He headed back East, meeting bandmates Takac and drummer Mike Malinin in Buffalo to set up shop in a 100-year-old Masonic Ballroom.

Once again, Goo Goo Dolls will support the USA Harvest organization along the tour by collecting food for distribution in each city, which in turn is distributed on the same night in every city they play. The band urges fans to bring canned food to the Cordts Center and drop it off at the collection points at the entrance.

Tickets cost $65, $55 and $36, with $18 bleacher seats available to FSU students. For more information, call the Lane University Center Box Office Monday through Friday 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at x3137 or toll-free at 1-866-TIXX-CES or online at <http://ces.frostburg.edu>.

Lamar Williams Performs at FSU

Comedian Lamar Williams will perform at Frostburg State University on Thursday April 12, at 9 p.m. in the Lane University Center's Alice R. Manicur Assembly Hall (ARMAH).

Williams is a native of Rochester N.Y. where he attended Brockport College and graduated with a degree in communications. While in school, Williams took up comedy as a hobby performing at amateur nights at the local comedy club.

Besides touring colleges, Williams was chosen to attend the 2004 Las Vegas Comedy Festival, and he was chosen as one of the Club Comic Picks for the "Laugh Across America" comedy contest. William's unique comedy style is derived from his upbringing in western New York. During the long winter months stuck inside, one had to be creative, William's outlet was comedy. Cleverly written, his material is not just funny: at times, it has the ability to say what we are all thinking.

This event is free and open to the public and is sponsored by the University Programming Council. For more information, contact the Lane University Center information line at x4111.

Take Note

Withdrawal Deadline Extended

The deadline for undergraduate students to withdraw with a "W" has been extended through Tuesday, April 3, 4:30 p.m. This change was requested because the number of snow days FSU has had this semester (particularly affecting MWF classes) has made it difficult for faculty to schedule evaluations and give students feedback to make reasoned decisions about withdrawing.

Faculty are asked to please be sure students understand that withdrawals are still done in-person and on paper. The student needs to obtain a withdrawal form at the Registrar's Office, take it to the instructor and the academic adviser for signatures (or, most important, for faculty to give the student some good advice), and return it to the Registrar's Office no later than April 3 at 4:30 p.m. Beginning April 4 and thereafter, the student will receive a WF regardless of his/her actual performance. A WF counts like an F in the grade point average. For more info, call x4212.

Conference for Women in Higher Education

The annual conference for Women in Maryland Higher Education will be April 13 at the UMUC Inn and Conference Center. Women administrators and faculty and staff interested in considering administrative positions in higher education are invited to this career-enhancement conference. The cost is $95 for registrations received by April 5. Group transportation is arranged. For more information, contact Mary Gartner or Bonny Griffith at x4212.

On-Campus Room Registration Process

Students who want a single room, to live in a room in a particular hall or to share a cluster of rooms with friends are encouraged to take part. Current on-campus residents have first choice, but off-campus residents who wish to sign up should contact the Residence Life Office at x4121 to determine their priority for a room on campus.

Due to the expansion of the First-Year Experience Program to Annapolis Hall for next year, Annapolis students have been notified that they will be displaced and may not sign up there; however, they will have a priority for choosing a room in Frederick or Westminster Hall.

Students in single rooms in Frost also have been notified that they will be displaced; however, they also will have a priority for choosing a room in Frederick or Westminster Hall.

Here is the Room Lottery schedule:

Study Abroad News

Last-minute opportunities for summer programs include some very unique options:

The University of Aberdeen in Scotland is offering a program "Stone Circles, Celts, Picts and Vikings: A Journey through Prehistoric Scotland." The course involves classroom study, field trips and camping trips.

ISEP is offering a number of summer study opportunities that have interesting program possibilities. Consider the study of Buddhism in Thailand, or Northern environments in Finland, or Korean studies in Korea. There are also intensive language programs in French, German and Spanish.

Or, for fall, consider Kent State University's program with internships in Geneva, Switzerland. This program comes with a two-month Eurail pass, and planned field trips to other cities.

Ireland is a land of great opportunities. Frostburg students may go to Ireland to study at Mary Immaculate College for the Spring 2008 semester with Dr. David Dean of the Department of History. There have been some changes to the program, so ask for current program information.

For information on any of these programs, see the Center for International Education, Fuller House, x4714.

Study Abroad Programs

The Center for International Education offers a variety of ways for FSU students to see the world. In many cases, students register at FSU during a semester abroad and can take all financial aid with them and transfer credit back to FSU. For information, contact Dr. Henry Bullamore at the CIE in the Fuller House on Braddock Road, x4714, hbullamore@frostburg.edu or visit the CIE Web page at www.frostburg.edu/admin/cie.

Summer in Mali, Africa

Drew University offers a unique summer study program (July 8-Aug. 2) in Mali. The program allows a first-hand exploration of the culture and arts of Mali. Students are introduced to the ways in which art reflects the social, economic and cultural changes taking place in modern Africa. Application deadline is April 15.

Study in Shanghai

The Government of Shanghai is interested in increasing the number of foreign student studying in the area. There are over 20 institutions of higher education in the metropolitan area, and the goal is to have 60,000 international students in the city by 2010. To make this happen, the Government of Shanghai is awarding scholarships to international students in amounts from $500 to $5,000.

Work in Africa During the Summer

Tired of taking classes, but want a study abroad experience? Consider working with a non-governmental development organization in Africa for the summer. Visions in Action offers work experiences in several projects related to rural and community development. Additionally, they offer a program that provides a small stipend for work in more difficult settings.

Earthwatch

Earthwatch offers more than 100 opportunities for hands-on environmental work over the summer all over the world. Most will not generate academic credit, but will make you feel that you did your part.
