Literature

Author to Give Reading

Kerry Neville Bakken will read from her short story collection, "Necessary Lies," at 7 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 6, at the fifth floor lobby of FSU's Lewis J. Ort Library. "Necessary Lies" is the winner of the USABookNews.com 2006 National Book Award for Short Fiction.

With quiet precision and ferocious candor, Bakken chronicles a young couple's torturous attempts to conceive a child, a man's pilgrimage to Greece to collect the body of his dead sister and several characters' attempts to ground themselves after various losses. The late Frederick Busch, author of "The Children in the Woods: New and Selected Stories," said "Bakken's storytelling turns the clumsiness of human need into remarkable grace." Most of the collection's stories take place in suburban neighborhoods on Long Island, N.Y., and often narrate love and the concern of characters for their troubled family members. Bakken holds degrees from Colgate University and the University of Houston, and currently teaches at Allegheny College in Meadville, Pa. For more information about this event, contact Jeff Maehre at x4734.

Exhibition Explores Art of Woodturning

'Wood 2007' on view Feb. 10-28 at FSU

An exhibition at FSU's Stephanie Ann Roper Gallery will take a closer look at how the ancient craft of woodturning is gaining modern-day popularity with a variety of area artists. Featuring an interesting mix of expressions in woodworking by craftspeople of all levels, including works created by the regional Quad-State Bodgers, "Wood 2007" will be on view Feb. 10 through Feb. 28 at the gallery, with a free, public reception from 2 to 4 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 10.

Woodturning is a form of woodworking that relies on a lathe, a tool that spins and shapes a block of wood into different objects. Bodgers were traditionally pole lathe turners who worked with green wood from the branches of felled trees, turning the branches into objects such as chair legs or candlesticks. Because bodgers relied on equipment that was easy to move, in the past, they would follow woodcutters into the woods and set up a workshop on site to create their crafts. Today, bodgers use different types of wood to make a variety of objects and keep the traditional craft alive through organizations.

"Wood 2007" will feature work of one such organization, the Quad-State Bodgers, a group of regional craftspeople who explore different sculptural forms and objects through woodturning. The Quad-State Bodgers meet on the third Saturday of every month in FSU's Fine Arts building, room 101.

"Wood 2007" will also highlight pieces by cabinetmakers and other artists just beginning to explore woodworking. The opening reception on Feb. 10 will include a woodturning demonstration and provide more information about the craft's presence in Western Maryland.

The Stephanie Ann Roper Gallery has free admission and is open to the public Sunday through Wednesday from 1 to 4 p.m. For more information about the exhibition, please contact FSU Department of Visual Arts at x4797. To learn more about the Quad-State Bodgers, contact Mike McGowan at mmcgowan@allconet.org.

Music

Music Professor Performing Feb. 18

Joan DeVe Dixon, associate professor of music at FSU, will present her spring faculty piano recital at 3 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 18, at the Pealer Recital Hall in the Performing Arts Center. The performance will feature Emma Lou Diemer's "Spirituals for Piano" and include a multi-media presentation. The recital is free and open to the public.

Together, Diemer and Dixon have commissioned and premiered over 100 new works (including four complete CDs). The Diemer "Spirituals" are musical interpretations of beloved tunes such as "There is a Balm in Gilead," "Give Me Jesus" and "I've Got Peace Like a River" and "Were You There?" The entire set was recorded by Dixon and released on CD in 2003.

The musical presentation/recital was selected as a winning proposal for the Athena Festival at Murray State University, Murray, Ky. Dixon will present this same program in Kentucky on March 9.

Dixon has conducted extensive concert tours of the United States, England, France, Germany, Switzerland, Austria, Italy, Palestine, Japan and the Czech Republic. She now performs for music festivals, universities, schools and churches all over the world and her recordings are frequently heard on radio broadcasts throughout the United States. She is a member of the American Guild of Organists (AGO) and Sigma Alpha Iota (SAI).

For more information, please call the FSU Music Department at x4109.

Black History Month Inspires Folk Artists

Internationally acclaimed folk artists Sparky and Rhonda Rucker will perform "Heroes and Hard Times: A Black Folk Odyssey" at 7:30 p.m. on Monday, Feb. 19, in FSU's Cook Chapel. The show is free and open to the public and appropriate for all audiences. No reservations are required, but arrive early, as space may be limited.

In recognition of Black History Month, the program weaves together a tale of the indomitable spirit of African Americans. The Ruckers take their audience on an educational and emotional journey that ranges from poignant stories of slavery and war to an amusing rendition of a Br'er Rabbit tale and Sparky's witty commentaries on current events. Overall, the performance is a journey through 400 years of African-American cultural and folk history, including old-time blues, Appalachian music, slave songs, Civil War music, spirituals, work songs, ballads, Civil Rights songs and Sparky Rucker's own compositions. Longtime residents of East Tennessee, the Ruckers incorporate much Appalachian regional lore into their rich performance repertoire.

Since 1989, Sparky and his wife, Rhonda, have been creating dynamic shows across the country. Sparky Rucker has been singing songs and telling stories from the American tradition for over 40 years. His performances include the Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts, the Smithsonian Folk Festival, Scotland's National Folk Festival, an American Folk Blues Tour in Europe and the Gurten-Bern International Festival in Switzerland. A former teacher, James "Sparky" Rucker masterfully employs song and story as an educational tool. He has released over 11 recordings and has appeared on numerous radio programs, including NPR's "Morning Edition," "Prairie Home Companion" and Mountain Stage.

Originally from Louisville, Ky., Rhonda Rucker began taking piano lessons from a ragtime player when she was just four years old. In addition to piano, Rhonda adds sweet-sounding vocal harmonies, a mean gutsy blues harmonica, old-time banjo and rhythmic bones to her music.

This event is sponsored by FSU's Folklore and Folklife Programming, African American Studies Program, United Campus Ministry, 91.9 WFWM and the Allegany Arts Council. For more information, contact Dr. Kara Rogers Thomas at x3124.

Theatre

Comedy by 'Six Feet Under' Creator

University Theatre's Season Too! student-directed series at FSU will present "Five Women Wearing the Same Dress," a work by "Six Feet Under" creator, Alan Ball. Performances are at 7:30 p.m. on Feb. 23 and 24 in the F. Perry Smith Studio Theatre of the Performing Arts Center.

This Southern comedy takes place in the bedroom of a Knoxville, Tenn., estate, where five reluctant, identically clad bridesmaids hide out in order to avoid the wedding proceedings below. The afternoon refuge, hosted by Meredith, the belligerent and outspoken sister of the bride, becomes a place for revelations and rebelliousness. In this hilarious and touching production, directed by Phil Hopf, dark secrets are revealed and world views are tested for five dynamic and very different women, as well as one bad boy usher.

"Five Women Wearing the Same Dress" features performances by Mallory Smith, Ashli Mazer, Jenny Tabb, Shea-Mikal Green, Shannon Huber and Tekle Ghebremeschel.

All tickets are $5. For reservations and information, please call x7462.

UT Explores Untold Story in 'Eurydice'

University Theatre will present "Eurydice" by Sarah Ruhl on March 2, 3, 8, 9 and 10 at 7:30 p.m. and March 3 at 2 p.m. in the Drama Theatre of FSU's Performing Arts Center.

The tragic story of Orpheus and Eurydice is a cornerstone of Western mythology and has been retold in nearly every art form. Ruhl, the playwright, has said, "We know a great deal about Orpheus' loss. But for some reason we never hear from Eurydice—she's always a cipher, someone who dies twice. I'm interested in her voice, a voice that hasn't been heard before. I'm interested in anyone who dies twice."

Avoiding the usual romanticism and melodrama, Ruhl's "Eurydice" is a unique, impressionistic interpretation of a timeless, haunting story. Whimsical, delicate, dreamlike and ironic, the play focuses more on Eurydice's relationship with her father than with Orpheus, and it unfolds in an Underworld setting that bears more resemblance to "Alice In Wonderland" than the mythical Hades. Ultimately "Eurydice" is a play about words and language, about forgetfulness and memory and about re-discovering one's voice.

Tickets are $5 for students and $10 for non-students for the Main Stage series. For reservations and information, call the theatre box office at x7462. Please note that evening performances now begin at 7:30 p.m.

Take Note

Open Sessions Offered at Library

The Library will offer two Open Library Sessions, to be held in the Library Instruction classroom, for students to answer any questions about navigating the electronic databases in Research Port in addition to CatalogUSMAI. The session times and dates are as follows:

Student Open Sessions

- 4:30 p.m., Tuesday, Feb. 13- Instructor Jeff Maehre
- 4:30 p.m., Monday, Feb. 19 - Instructor Kate Jenkins

If you notice a student in need of learning more about the electronic databases available in Research Port, please let him or her know that these Open Sessions are available. If a student would like to attend an Open Session and cannot attend the scheduled Open Sessions, please have the student e-mail kjenkins2@frostburg.edu to arrange a time to meet individually.

State's Environment Subject of Contest

The Environmental Planning and Land Management Institute at FSU, a cooperative effort of the FSU Department of Geography and the Maryland Bureau of Mines, invites amateur photographers to submit photographs to its fourth annual Environmental Photography Contest.

The competition is open to any amateur photographer over 11 years old who lives, works or attends school in either Allegany or Garrett counties. Images should depict environmental or natural habitat scenes of Allegany or Garrett county that reflect the natural environment that defines Western Maryland. Each photograph should be 8 by 10 inches and matted.

Please submit entries to the Department of Geography (Gunter Hall, room 201) of the Maryland Bureau of Mines Lab (Dunkle Hall room 307). Participants may submit no more than three photographs. The deadline for submitting entries is April 6, with an April 19 awards ceremony in Compton Science Center. Numerous prizes, cash and certificates will be awarded. Contest winners won over $1,600 in cash, prizes and gift certificates last year.

For additional information call x4369 or x4721 or visit the Institute's Web site: www.frostburg.edu/dept/geog/einstitute.

FSU Logos to Go

The resolution of the FSU logo copied from our Web site is not suitable for printed documents. High resolution versions of the FSU logo are available on the Campus U drive in a folder named "FSU Logos." The selections include several formats (tif, eps and jpeg) and both black and two-color versions.

Also, please do not use any creative renditions of the FSU logo, i.e., no homemade or student-created logos, no more "I don't have the font that's used in the logo but I like this one better anyway" substitutions. In addition, it is no longer appropriate to use the FSU centennial logo.

If you are unable to access the U drive or have any questions, e-mail cstamp@frostburg.edu.

If you're involved in a department, organization or a group that is scheduling an activity for 50 or more, keep in mind that the State Fire Prevention Code requires that we inform those attending public activities where building exits are located and that they are unlocked and unobstructed. The person in charge shall inspect all exit doors to confirm they are unlocked and unobstructed and read the following: "For your own safety, look for your nearest exit, in case of emergency, walk, do not run to that exit." For a complete copy of this part of the State's Fire Prevention Code, please call x4897.
