FSU Foundation Gives Pinnacle Award to Leonard Schwab

The FSU Foundation, Inc., has honored Leonard Schwab with the Pinnacle Award, its highest honor, in recognition of the decades of counsel and spirit he has offered to the Foundation. The award was granted at a banquet in his honor held at Bedford Springs Resort on Friday, March 20.

Schwab, only the fifth person to receive the Pinnacle Award, is a founding member of the Foundation and one of the longest-serving members of the Board of Directors and a longtime leader on the Executive Board. Now an emeriti member, he has helped guide the organization through many important transitions in the Foundation's mission and scope.

He and his wife Jane established the Leonard and Jane Schwab Theatre and Speech Scholarship for sophomore, junior or senior theatre majors in 1996, which has helped numerous students since then and supports the art form about which both Schwabs care so much.

"It is his service to Frostburg State University and its students, his leadership of the S. Schwab Company and his dedication to his community overall that has inspired the FSU Foundation to award him the Pinnacle Award," said B.J. Davisson II, vice president for University Advancement and executive director of the FSU Foundation.

"Your vision ensures that our institution can provide an exceptional education for our students and that the Foundation will continue to uphold its mission: to foster, encourage and promote the growth, progress and general welfare of Frostburg State University," said FSU President Jonathan Gibraltar.

Leonard and Jane Schwab were presented with a book of letters of gratitude from past recipients of their scholarship.

Created in 1993, the Pinnacle Award recognizes individuals who have made significant contributions of time, talent or treasures in support of the educational mission of FSU through the Foundation. Categories of support may include board membership, financial contributions, service or other acts of leadership and service to the Foundation and FSU. Previous recipients are Ralph Race, Lillian Wellner, Al Boxley and Walter Hedrick.

Theatre

War-of-Sexes Comedy Coming to FSU

FSU Theatre presents "Lysistrata," Aristophanes' war-of-the-sexes comedy, Friday, April 17, and Saturday, April 18, and Thursday, April 23, through Saturday, April 25, at 7:30 p.m. in the Performing Arts Center. A matinee performance on Saturday, April 18, will begin at 2 p.m.

Athens and Sparta have been locked in civil war for 20 years with no end in sight. In a bold attempt to save Greece from ruin, Lysistrata unites the women of Athens and Sparta in a "sex strike" to force the soldiers to come to their senses. At the same time, the older women take over the treasury to cut war funding before the entire male population is wiped out.

For info or reservations, contact the University Theatre box office at x7462, Monday through Friday, from 9 a.m. through 12:30 p.m. and 1:30 p.m. until 4:30 p.m. Tickets are $6 for students and $12 for general admission.

Visual Arts

'X-formation' to Be on View at FSU

"X-formation," an exhibition that culminates four years of work by FSU seniors Josh O'Rourke, Sara Otto, Trayshia Rogers and Amiyon Ross, will be on view through Wednesday, April 8, in the Stephanie Ann Roper Fine Arts Gallery.

O'Rourke's sculptural design emphasizes the rhythmic flow of static objects and the geometric simplicity of dynamic objects portraying the basics of life. Otto's figurative paintings, prints and drawings apply tonality, color and gestural marks to examine ordinary life in an unexpected way. Rogers' richly toned prints focus on line and mass to examine the spirit of the environment in which she lives. Ross' artwork focuses on the complexity of scientific drawings and the optical effects of color in abstract, organic forms.

Artworks will be available for purchase from the artists throughout the duration of the exhibit.

The Stephanie Ann Roper Gallery has free admission and is open to the public Sunday through Wednesday from 1 to 4 p.m. For info, contact FSU Department of Visual Arts at x4797.

'MMIX' Art Exhibition Showcases Seniors' Talent

"MMIX," an exhibition featuring artwork by FSU seniors Erin Cunningham, Michelle Nash, Kristina Schurg, Sarah Sine and Monika Wertman, will be on view from Saturday, April 11, through Wednesday, April 15, in the Stephanie Ann Roper Fine Arts Gallery. An opening reception will be held from 2 to 4 p.m. Saturday, April 11, in the gallery.

Cunningham's expressive use of color and texture allows her artwork to communicate with viewers on two distinct levels: through her own fears and the fears of the viewers.

Nash's work mostly consists of detailed portraits of objects found in nature. These intimate portraits engage and inspire the viewer through the use of organic lines and vibrant colors.

Schurg's work focuses on conveying a message and creating an atmosphere through the use of images and type.

Sine creates functional sculptures that show off the beauty of the material from which they are constructed. Her work is intended to collect the scuffs and scrapes from years of use as well as the aged, patched look from tender care.

Wertman's work consists of portraiture depicted in the 1930s/1940s Hollywood aesthetic of photographer George Hurrell and is influenced by the Art Deco style of Jean-Gabriel Domergue.

Artworks will be available for purchase from the artists throughout the duration of the exhibit.

The Stephanie Ann Roper Gallery has free admission and is open to the public Sunday through Wednesday from 1 to 4 p.m. For info, contact FSU Department of Visual Arts at x4797.

Music

FSU Presents Spring Concert With Boys Like Girls and Vedera

Rock to the music of two up-and-coming national rock groups when FSU's CES Concerts and UPC present emo-pop group Boys Like Girls, with opening act indie-band Vedera Sunday, April 26, in the Cordts Center Main Arena. The spring concert kicks off at 8 p.m. with doors opening at 7 p.m.

The Boston-area band includes Martin Johnson, lead singer and guitarist; John Keefe, drums; Bryan Donahue, bass; and Paul DiGiovanni, lead guitar. An early demo version of "The Great Escape" and acoustic spin on "Thunder" were the sparks that ignited a firestorm of attention to the band's MySpace and purevolume.com pages. By the end of 2005, the band was topping the purevolume.com New Artists chart and gathering thousands of MySpace friends.

Boys Like Girls embarked on its first nationwide tour in 2006. Following that tour, the group entered the recording studio to record the debut album, "Boys Like Girls." The album eventually went gold, and tracks like "Thunder" helped "Boys Like Girls" maintain a presence on the Billboard charts. They have been touring and recording ever since.

"I like to listen to music that makes me feel a certain way – either it reminds me of something important that happened or a certain time in my life," says Boys Like Girls frontman Martin Johnson. "If kids are feeling that way about our songs, I couldn't ask for more." Stylistically, the band lists its musical influences as a variety of contemporary pop rock groups like Jimmy Eat World, Blink-182, Story of the Year and Dashboard Confessional.

Opening for Boys Like Girls is the indie/art rock band, Vedera. Hailing from Kansas City, Mo., the band was formed in 2004 by singer and guitarist/pianist Kristen May and lead guitarist Brian Little, with drummer Drew Little and bassist Jason Douglas.

Tickets for Boys Like Girls and Vedera are $25 for general admission and $10 for FSU students (purchased with valid ID). All tickets are festival general admission for floor-level standing and bleacher seating. Tickets may be ordered by calling 1-866-849-9237 or x3137, or by visiting ces.frostburg.edu.

Presentations

'The Road to Obama' to Be at FSU

The panel discussion, "The Road to Obama: Celebrating African American Leadership," will be held Tuesday, April 14, from 6 to 8 p.m. in Lane Manicur Hall.

The panel discussion, sponsored by the FSU J. Glenn Beall Institute for Public Affairs, the African American Studies program, the Leadership Studies program, the Diversity Center and the Black Student Alliance, will feature historians of regional and national African American leadership and public servants who will help attendees understand the historical context and importance of public service in our nation and local communities.

Guest panelist include Pansye Atkinson, former director of Affirmative Action/Equal Employment Opportunity at FSU and an FSU alumna; Daryl Boffman, president/CEO and founder of Acela Technologies Inc. and Frederick County's first African American countywide elected official; Al Feldstein, Allegany County historian and author; Baltimore Assistant Deputy Mayor Antonio Hayes, also an alumnus; Taft Terry, executive director of the Reginald F. Lewis Museum of African American History in Baltimore; and Dr. Dwayne Williams, historian and founder of A.B.L.E. The discussion will be moderated by Dr. Kara Rogers Thomas, professor of sociology and folklore at FSU.

The event will also include a networking opportunity before and after the program. The discussion is free and open to the public. For info, contact Tim Magrath, executive director of the Beall Institute, at x4080 or tmagrath@frostburg.edu; or Dr. James Saku, coordinator of the African American Studies program, at x4724 or jsaku@frostburg.edu.

FSU to Host MLK Celebration

In memory of the life and accomplishments of Martin Luther King Jr., FSU will hold its annual MLK Celebration, "The Dreamer and the Dream," featuring guest speaker C. Fraser Smith. The event will be held at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday, April 16, in the PAC Pealer Recital Hall.

Smith is a columnist from the Baltimore Sun and news director of WYPR Radio in Baltimore. He has also written a book, "Here Lies Jim Crow: Civil Rights in Maryland," which recounts the tale of Jim Crow policies in Maryland through the stories, words and deeds of famous, infamous and little-known Marylanders. He traces the roots of Jim Crow laws from Dred Scott to Plessy v. Ferguson and describes the parallel and opposite early efforts of those who struggled to establish freedom and basic rights for African Americans.

The celebration will be preceded by a special Harmony Walk: "Celebrating the Dream, Walking as One." All who are interested are invited to meet at the FSU Clock Tower at 6:15 p.m. The walk will begin at 6:45 p.m. and will go through campus and end at the Performing Arts Center by 7:15 p.m.

The celebration is free and open to the public. For info, contact the Office of the Provost at x4211.

History Lecture, 'Arming Slaves in the Confederacy'

FSU will present "Amor Patrie: Arming Slaves in the Confederacy," a lecture given by Dr. Stephanie McCurry, an Organization of American Historians Distinguished Lecturer, Tuesday, April 21, at 7:30 p.m. in Dunkle Hall 218. The lecture is sponsored by the Martha T. and Ralph M. Race Western History Lecture Series funded through the FSU Foundation under the auspices of the Department of History.

McCurry is a professor at the University of Pennsylvania and is the author of "Masters of Small Worlds: Yeoman Households, Gender Relations and the Political Culture of the Antebellum South Carolina Low Country."

For info, contact Paul Charney at x3120.

Proofreading for Better Writing

The Center for Teaching Excellence Advisory Group is sponsoring a presentation, "Efficient Proofreading Strategies for Even Better Student Writing," by Judy Pula, a professor in the English Department, and Mark Smith, the director of the Writing & Tutoring Center, Tuesday, April 14, 7 to 8 p.m. in Pullen 151. The session is geared toward faculty who want to help students improve their writing and suggests ways to help students become better writers.

The session includes discussion/demonstration of strategies and suggestions for how to help writers implement the proofreading strategies in or outside class.

Take Note

National Alcohol Screening Day

To address drinking among college students, Counseling and Psychological Services is participating in National Alcohol Screening Day Tuesday, April 7. NASD is a one-day education and screening event designed to raise awareness on how alcohol affects health and academic performance, help students evaluate their alcohol use and provide referrals to local treatment and support resources for those who need further evaluation. The college component of NASD targets students who are risky drinkers, with a focus on binge drinking.

As part of the screening event, students can take an anonymous, written self-test, pick up educational brochures on the dangers of alcohol abuse, and talk one on one with a staff member. If appropriate, students will be directed to support or treatment services on campus. Screenings will be held at the Lane Center from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. For info, contact Dr. Spencer Deakin at CAPS at x4234.

Enter Environmental Photography Contest

The Environmental Planning and Land Management Institute at FSU invites photographers to submit photographs to its sixth annual Environmental Photography Contest. The institute will accept entries until the deadline at 4 p.m. on Friday, April 10.

Entry forms may be obtained from the FSU Department of Geography/Bureau of Mines Lab or from the Institute's Web site at www.frostburg.edu/dept/geog/einstitute.

For info, call Gale Yutzy at x4369 or MaryLynn Pegg at x4721, or visit the above Web site. Entries can be delivered to Gunter 201 or Dunkle 307.

Academic Scheduling/ Religious Observances

It is FSU's policy that its academic programs and services be available to all qualified students who have been admitted to its programs, regardless of their religious beliefs. Students will not be penalized because of observances of their religious holidays and will be given an opportunity to make up, within a reasonable time, any academic assignment missed due to participation in religious observances. It is the student's responsibility to notify his or her instructor of conflicts between religious observances and scheduled course activities.

Students should notify their instructors of conflicts and make arrangements for making up missed work before an absence due to religious observance.

Faculty and staff have been sent the link to a Web-based interfaith calendar for reference.

Wanted! Student Input on College Experience

FSU is participating in the National Survey of Student Engagement and wants to know about your college experiences. Results are confidential and will be used to improve the collegiate experiences of undergraduates at FSU. Filling out the questionnaire takes about 15 minutes. Check your student e-mail account to see if you received an invitation to participate.

Spring Semester 2009 Blackboard Help

Student help sessions are now available Wednesdays from 7 to 8 p.m. and Thursdays from 12:30 to 1:20 p.m. in Pullen 108.

Get answers concerning e-mail, gradebook, assignments, discussion boards, file share, digital dropbox or any other features. You can also visit the online help guides for students at www.frostburg.edu/blackboard.

For questions or schedule conflicts, contact the Center for Instructional Technologies at cit@frostburg.edu.

Planning to Graduate in May?

The 134th commencement ceremony is scheduled for Saturday, May 16, in the Cordts PE Center. The College of Liberal Arts and Sciences will hold its service at 10 a.m., while the College of Business and College of Education will present their graduates at the 2 p.m. ceremony.

Two mailings with commencement information go to your home and local addresses. One mailing was sent at the end of March, and the other will be sent in late April. These mailings are also posted on the Commencement Web site (www.frostburg.edu/events/commencement) under "Information and Resources for Graduates."

Caps and gowns are provided at no cost to graduates and may be picked up in the Bookstore. They will also be available immediately before and after graduation rehearsal in the Cordts Center Main Arena lobby Friday, May 15, at 4 p.m.

Full details about commencement are on the University's Web site at www.frostburg.edu/events/commencement.

Points of Pride

FSU Named 'Fit-Friendly' by AHA

The American Heart Association recently recognized FSU as a "Fit-Friendly Company" for its efforts to promote and foster an institutional culture of health and physical activity in the workplace.

"I am extremely pleased that FSU has earned Fit-Friendly Company status from the American Heart Association and feel that this recognition opens doors for the University to continue developing a strong focus on health and wellness," said FSU President Jonathan Gibraltar. "Everyone at FSU who has been involved in promoting wellness in the workplace deserves recognition for their outstanding efforts in this area."

The recognition by AHA follows a year-long series of programs focusing on wellness, including many activities and events organized by FSU's Office of Human Resources and CHILL (Creating Healthy, Informed, Lasting Lifestyles), a campus-wide wellness initiative supported by a contribution from AstraZeneca. Highlights from FSU's efforts to promote wellness include several workshops with wellness and fitness expert Scott Cole as well as campus walks and other activities focusing on exercise and stress management.

The Fit-Friendly Company award will help FSU to raise its profile as an institution committed to fostering wellness at the workplace and enable it to partner with the AHA in offering resources, materials and consultation that support the University's workplace wellness endeavors. As part of receiving this new status, FSU will be recognized on the AHA's Web site as well as at local AHA events in Maryland. The AHA will also list FSU in various communication materials supporting the recognition program. Additionally, the University received a recognition plaque to display in its Human Resources office, where both current and prospective employees will be able to see the award and learn how FSU is committed to wellness.

"There are many different departments on the campus that are making significant contributions to the health and wellness of FSU employees," said Dr. Tom Bowling, vice president of Student & Educational Services. "There is a strong sense that, collectively, we can make a difference in the quality of life for both our students and our employees by focusing on wellness."

For info about the award, visit www.americanheart.org/start. To learn more about FSU, visit www.frostburg.edu.

Barkley's Novel Nominated for Award

Brad Barkley's young adult novel, "Dream Factory," has been nominated for the Charlotte Award by the New York State Reading Association and added to their Suggested Reading list for New York public schools. Barkley is an associate professor in the English Department.

For questions or concerns, call the Provost's Office at x4212.

Get Involved

Recycling in Frostburg

To increase awareness of FSU's recycling efforts and encourage campuswide recycling, students in Sociology 345: The Sociology of the Environment are launching a recycling campaign. Look for changes in waste management in Guild Center and support the upcoming Residence Hall Recycling Competition!

On the FSU campus, recycling bins are in most residence halls, academic buildings and the Lane Center. Be sure to throw your paper, aluminum and plastic in bins at these locations. Make sure you remove your bottle caps first! Those cannot be recycled.

Did you know you can recycle many other items in the Frostburg community?

For info on recycling on the FSU campus, www.frostburg.edu/lglg/recycling.htm. For info on recycling centers in other locations in Allegany County, gov.allconet.org/recycle/recycle_index.htm.

New High-Def Camera Kits for FSU Students!

Through a generous grant from SGA, the Department of Mass Communication and the National Broadcasting Society have purchased two Canon HF100 high-def camera kits. Previously, only students in the department could check out audio and video equipment.

Professor Micheal McAlexander, who had requested the funding, sees this new addition as an opportunity for students in other departments to gain a valuable skill. "I believe that media technologies, both audio and video, touch all disciplines. All students should be somewhat proficient with video and audio editing basics," said McAlexander.

In addition to the camera kits, the department also donated updated iMovie software to the Pullen computer lab.

The Canon HF100 kits will be available Friday, April 10, for two-day checkout (according to posted hours) from the equipment room in Guild 150. Students who check out equipment must first see Connie Capacchione in Guild 119 to show their student ID and sign the liability contract.

A launch party is scheduled for Thursday, April 9, in Lane 201 from 1 to 4 p.m. Students are invited to come learn how to operate the cameras as well as how to check them out.

Wildlife Society Sponsors Contest

The FSU Wildlife Society is sponsoring a pizza-eating contest to be held Wednesday, April 15, at 6 p.m. at Cici's Pizza in LaVale. There is a $10 entry fee and prizes will be awarded. To enter, contact Seth Stivala at sctivala0@frostburg.edu. Not competing? Stop in anytime between 4 and 8 p.m.

Note: Be sure to mention the Wildlife Society at the event!

Annual Mind Culture Original Music Project

Are you a part of a band or musical act looking to get your music out to the world? Would you like to have your music recorded and mastered? The Department of Mass Communication can help through its Sixth Annual Mind Culture Original Music project.

The goals of the project are to give students the experience of promoting and producing a music CD and to give local and regional bands another opportunity to be heard.

If you have an original song (with or without lyrics), submit your work to the department in Guild 119. If your song is already produced, submit it on CD. Produced music must be received by Tuesday, April 14. All submitted songs will be considered for the Mind Culture Original Music Vol. 6 CD to be released later this semester. Also, all musical acts will be considered for a live show on Friday, May 1, in the Lane Center. Submissions must be accompanied by a release form giving FSU permission to use the song for the CD. Forms are available in Guild 119.

Call x3049 if you would like to order previous CDs, which are available for $7. Proceeds from CD sales will benefit the department through the FSU Foundation, Inc.

For info, contact the department at x3049, e-mail mcom@frostburg.edu or visit the Facebook group, Mind Culture Original Music.

Upcoming UCM Events

The Nails of the Cross, a Good Friday special worship event sponsored by UCM and area churches, will be held April 10 at Frostburg First Presbyterian Church (33 S. Broadway) at 7 p.m. UCM is looking for student volunteers to assist with this event (no experience needed). If you would like to help, contact Chaplain Cindy Zirlott at x7490 or c.zirlott@frostburg.edu.

There will be no True North Meeting Easter Sunday, April 12, but it will resume April 19 with the Free Dinner and Movies as Parables program. As a continued observance of the MLK campuswide celebration, the film will be "Crash," which depicts racial tension among several characters during a 36-hour period.

The Run Kid Run Concert, a Christian Unity event, will be held Sunday, May 3, in Lane Manicur Hall. Doors will open at 5 p.m. with music videos and informational displays. CCC Praise Band will open for Run Kid Run at 6 p.m., and the concert will begin at 7 p.m. Tickets are $8 general admission, $7 with student ID and $6 for a group of 10 or more. Tickets are on sale now through the UCM office. For info, x7490 or c.zirlott@frostburg.edu.

Agape Latte Study Breaks will be held Mondays at 11 a.m., 3 p.m. and 7 p.m. in the Lane Center near Java City. Run Kid Run concert tickets are also available at the study break table until the concert date.
