Faculty Achievement Award Winners to Be Honored at Convocation

The recipients of the 2010 Faculty Achievement Awards, along with top graduating students from every degree program, will be honored at the University Honors Convocation on Friday, May 21, at 7:30 p.m., in the Pealer Recital Hall of the Performing Arts Center. All members of the University community are invited to attend the Convocation and the reception that follows.

This year’s Faculty Achievement Award recipients are Dr. Robert B. Kauffman, Recreation and Parks Management, for Academic Accomplishment; Dr. Mary W. Mumper, Department of Chemistry, for University and Community Service; and Dr. James C. Saku, Department of Geography, for University and Community Service. The awards are made possible through generous gifts to the FSU Foundation, Inc.

In addition to the faculty awards, one graduating student per degree program will be honored for academic excellence and leadership. Faculty members in each program have selected 12 graduate students and 34 undergraduate students to be recognized. Also commended will be 24 undergraduate students receiving honors in general education, based on completion of all requirements of the University Honors Program.

Presentations

Nobel Laureate Presents Universe in a Nutshell

The Department of Mathematics and Kappa Mu Epsilon announce a special presentation, “From the Big Bang to Life and the End of the Universe,” by Dr. John C. Mather on Wednesday, May 12, from 7 to 8 p.m. in Compton 226.

The history of the universe in a nutshell, from the Big Bang to now and the future – Mather will tell how the universe began with a big bang, how it produced Earth and how its inhabitants are discovering their history. He will explain Einstein’s biggest mistake, show how Edwin Hubble discovered the expansion of the universe, how NASA’s Cosmic Background Explorer (COBE) satellite was built and how the COBE data support the Big Bang theory. He will also show NASA’s plans for the next great telescope in space, the James Webb Space Telescope.

Mather is the senior project scientist for the James Webb Space Telescope at NASA Goddard Space Flight Center. His research centers on infrared astronomy and cosmology. He is the recipient of numerous awards, including the Nobel Prize in Physics (2006) with George Smoot and the NASA Distinguished Service Medal in 2007.

Mather’s presentation is intended for a general audience and is open to the public. Refreshments will be served following the presentation.

For info, contact Marc Michael at mmichael@frostburg.edu.

Herbalist Series

“The Mountain Herbalist Series” concludes Monday, May 10, from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. at MCTA, 25 E. Main St., in Frostburg. Mimi Hernandez, the coordinator for this series, will showcase “Medicinal Mints.” The program is free and open to the public.

For info, call 301-687-8040 or e-mail mhernandez@frostburg.edu.

American Spring With Joan DeVee Dixon

Dr. Joan DeVee Dixon, the featured soloist for the International Dvorak Society’s American Spring Festival, will perform at Windsor Hall’s Great Plates! Friday, May 14, at 8 p.m. Doors open at 7 p.m. for a food and wine reception.

Dixon is a featured soloist for the International Dvorak Society’s American Spring Festival. As such, she performs up to 20 concerts throughout the Czech Republic each summer. The festival features the music of Antonin Dvorak and other significant composers from the U.S. and the Czech Republic. Her program at Windsor Hall will include several of Dvorak’s “Humoresques” and “Poetic Tone Pictures,” as well as Gershwin’s “Rhapsody in Blue.”

Dixon is chair of the Department of Music at FSU. She is a five-time winner of the prestigious Individual Artist Award from the Maryland State Arts Council, author of the bio-bibliography of American composer George Rochberg and has collaborated with American composer Dr. Emma Lou Diemer in over 100 world premiere performances.
Dixon has recorded 11 CDs that are regularly aired on classical music stations and broadcasts such as “Pipedreams.”

Tickets, which are $25 for adults and $15 for students, are available at the Book Center, 15 N. Centre St., Cumberland (301-722-2284) and at the door. This is a fundraiser to benefit Windsor Hall. More information is available online at windsorhall.org.

Family Celebrates Love of Helping Others

Morris H. Willey Scholarship Supports Aspiring Mathematicians, Scientists

For nearly 40 years, the Frostburg community was lucky enough to know Morris H. Willey, a long-time educator and colleague at FSU who fused his passion for knowledge with his easy ability to form lasting friendships and change people’s lives.

Jay Begeman, FSU’s registrar and assistant vice president for Student & Educational Services, probably knows this better than most — in addition to living in the same hall during college (he and Morris graduated from Frostburg), Jay also shared an office with Morris for many years, with only a bookshelf dividing the space in half, and was one of Morris’ closest friends.

“Neither of us had any personal secrets during those years,” Jay laughed.

It was his amiable personality that later made it easy for students to approach Morris when they were having problems or needed his classes. After completing a bachelor’s degree and a Master of Education in mathematics in the early 1970s, Morris stayed on at Frostburg to fill various teaching assignments, including serving as an orientation and mathematics instructor, a math/science instructor for Upward Bound and a math tutor and instructor. In November 1976 he was hired as an academic counselor, a position that paved the way for his promotion to director of Programs for Academic Support & Studies (1980) and University Registrar (1996), a position he held until his battle with an aggressive brain tumor prevented further work. He passed away in June 2008.

“Morris helped many, many students to complete their math requirements at FSU due to his patience and understanding of how each one of them approached problems differently,” Jay said. “He was a master of helping students find a personal approach to math.”

A Familial Love of Learning

Not surprisingly, Morris’ passion for learning was shared not only with his students, but also with his beloved daughters: Tara, 34; Lindsay, 31; Madison, 14; and Blair, 11. This love of learning spilled over into a deep love for his family.

“Growing up, he was always playing math games with us — teaching us about adding, subtracting, multiplication by using blocks or weights,” Tara said. “When I was a teenager, he was incredibly patient as I struggled with trig and calculus. Even as I was working on my master’s, he was helping me with statistics.”

Math and science were the subjects Morris loved the most. “When we were little, he was always working to grow our ‘mathematical minds,’ and as adults, he was always ready to delve into a discussion of logic,” Lindsay said.

Adding It Up

After their father passed away, Tara and Lindsay realized they needed to do something to embody Morris’ life and everything he gave to others.

“He really cared about education and wanted to help students make the most of theirs. He was particularly interested in helping students who had obstacles to overcome,” Tara said. “We thought a scholarship was a way to continue helping students even in his absence.”

Together with Morris’ wife, Vicki, they established the Morris H. Willey Memorial Scholarship for undergraduates in FSU’s College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, with a preference for students majoring in math and/or science.

“He dedicated so much of his time and energy to the students of FSU, finding ways to help them with a multitude of issues — we really wanted that compassion to live on,” Lindsay said.

Tara added, “As a full-time student, I know how expensive school is firsthand — and the costs keep growing. So it would be nice to make a bigger contribution to students in need. One of the key things about Dad was that he valued people for what they are — not because they were rich, smart or pretty or whatever. And he saw their potential and tried to help them achieve it. So I would be really happy if this scholarship could help students in the same sort of way — not necessarily the students who have achieved straight A’s and have lots of family support, but those students who need a little nudge to be their best and achieve their goals.

“Dad valued and enjoyed education — he was like a sponge, soaking up every experience,” Lindsay said. “Working at Frostburg put him in contact with so many different people and I know he really loved that. In some way I hope this scholarship does what he tried to do — help students focus on and enjoy their education.”

Open Enrollment

A correction period for Open Enrollment will run from May 12 to May 19 for last-minute changes. For info, contact Lee Ann Nightingale at x4398.

It’s Required — Preventing Sexual Harassment Refresher

FSU administrators, faculty members and staff are reminded to complete the required online Preventing Sexual Harassment refresher course if they have not already done so. More than 225 employees have completed this refresher training to stay up to date on ways to identify and prevent sexual harassment since the request went out April 12. Make it a point to complete the required training as soon as possible, but no later than June 30.

Any current FSU employee who last took the training before July 1, 2009, is required to complete the online refresher. Instructions for employees are available on the Office of Human Resources Web site. Because this is required training, departmental supervisors are asked to set aside time during the workday to encourage employees to complete the refresher.

Sexual harassment is against the law and will not be tolerated within the FSU community. Likewise, sexual harassment training is required as part of University employment for all administrators, faculty members and staff. Protect yourself from becoming a victim or finding yourself accused of improper conduct.

The Office of Human Resources will continue to monitor training completions in the coming weeks to ensure that everyone complies. For info, contact Beth Hoffman at x4102 or bhoffman@frostburg.edu, or Kelly Durst at x7487 or kdlurst@frostburg.edu.

Graduating in May?

The 136th commencement ceremony is scheduled for Saturday, May 22, in the Gords PE Center. The College of Business and College of Education will hold their service at 10 a.m., while the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences will present its graduates at 2 p.m.

Mailings are posted on the Web site (www.frostburg.edu/events/commencement) under ‘Information and Resources for Graduates.’

Caps and gowns are provided at no cost and may be picked up in the bookstore. They will also be available immediately before and after
Points of Pride

Dr. Sudhir Singh is New Associate Dean

FSU has named Dr. Sudhir Singh, a professor in the Department of Marketing and Finance, to the position of associate dean of the College of Business.

Singh has served as director of a grant-based entrepreneurship program, the Trident Initiative: Pathways to Entrepreneurship Education, since 2005, and played a significant role in establishing the Financial Planning Certificate program at FSU. In 2007, he was honored by the University System of Maryland Board of Regents with the Regents’ Faculty Award for Public Service for his efforts in enhancing the institution’s initiatives toward regional economic development.

Singh joined FSU in 1992. He has a Ph.D. in finance from Virginia Tech and a master’s degree in business administration with a concentration in finance from Georgia Tech.

For info about the College of Business, visit www.frostburg.edu/colleges/cob.

Visiting Academic Runs Workshop at FSU

Dr. Jason Jordan (far right) with FSU students

Dr. Jason Jordan from the Geography Department, Environment and Disaster Management, Coventry University, U.K., visited FSU during April to run a diatom analysis workshop and further develop palaeo-environmental research projects between the two geography departments. During the visit Jordan and Dr. Phil Allen led a field trip for Geography 431 – Quaternary Environments to Finzel swamp to develop student experience in sediment coring, data collection and interpretation techniques. Following the field experience, the students undertook laboratory exercises in diatom analysis (unicellular algae) to reconstruct the water quality, salinity and pH history from Icelandic lake sediment. Additional sediment was collected with the goal of combining the diatom analysis with Allen’s ongoing pollen analysis to reconstruct the long-term environmental history of Finzel swamp.

Management Students Win Scholarship

On April 26, three teams of students from MGMT 356: Leadership and Human Behavior competed in a case competition. The competition was sponsored by Target and based on a grant written by Dr. Mike Monahan, chair of the Department of Management. Students from the three courses were organized into teams and charged to examine the recruitment and retention policies and practices of Target. Each team wrote a 15-page paper and developed a presentation outlining their research and recommendations for improving recruitment and retention. One team was selected from each of the three courses to compete in the final competition. The winning team, which consisted of Brittany Harris, Julie Ballenger, Adrianna Sanders and Marcie Sloan (in photograph above with Jeni Alexander and Jessica Springborn from Target), received a $4,000 scholarship that will be divided equally among the team members.

FSU Alum Presents Philosophy Paper

Leigh Oates ’09 recently presented “St. Augustine’s Theory of Knowledge and Vedic Philosophy” at the Rochester Institute of Technology’s Undergraduate Philosophy Conference. Oates’ presentation was sponsored by the Philosophy Department and her paper – one of five selected for presentation – relates Augustine’s theory of divine illumination to strands of Hinduism. Oates intends to pursue an advanced degree in religious studies.

The Philosophy Department strongly supports undergraduate research and encourages students interested in presenting or publishing their philosophical reflections to contact Dr. Michael Mathias at x3094 or mmathias@frostburg.edu, or Dr. Jean-Marie Makang at x3089 or jmakang@frostburg.edu.

3 AM Fundraiser a Success

The 3 AM Society’s Window Boy event raised a total of $730 to bring a visiting writer to FSU next semester. The following local businesses were among those who contributed: A Touch of Class Salon, Adventure Sports, Duncan’s Bar and Grill, Edward Jones, Failing’s Hotel Gunter, Fatboy’s Pizza, Harris-Elliott-Mackay Insurance Agency, Independent Ink, J Bartles Jewelry and the Princess Restaurant.

PCA Buddle Bible Study: Thursday’s final meeting, beginning at 8 p.m., will be movie and pizza night to celebrate the end of the semester. The movie will be “The Blind Side”; pizza is $2 each.

Spring 2010 Finals DeStressor Picnic: This pot-luck covered dish picnic will be Saturday, May 15, at Frostburg City Park (near city pool). All student religious organizations are invited. There will be ultimate frisbee, water balloons and a movie. Picnic activities start at 6 p.m. and the picnic dinner and movie start at 7:30 p.m.

True North Meetings: These will not meet until the fall semester.

Deadlines

Last Day to Remove “I” Grades

The last day for graduate students to remove “Incomplete” grades from fall 2009 and Interesession 2010 is May 11.
Study Abroad

The Center for International Education offers ways for FSU students to see the world. In some cases, students can pay FSU tuition, room and board and study for a semester in Ireland, England, Spain, France, China, Italy, Mexico, Malta, Botswana or many other countries. FSU also offers summer study abroad programs. Financial aid, student loans and scholarships are available. For info, visit the Fuller House (across the street from Braddock House), call #4714 or e-mail Victoria Gearhart at vmgearhart@frostburg.edu.

CIEE Study Abroad Program

The deadline has been extended to June 1. The Council on International Education Exchange still has openings for fall 2010 for the following:

- China, Nanjing – Intensive Chinese Language and Culture
- China, Shanghai – Advanced Chinese Studies
- China, Shanghai – Business, Language and Culture
- China, Shanghai – China in a Global Context
- Ghana, Accra – International Business and Culture
- Ireland, Dublin – Arts and Sciences
- Tanzania, Daras Salaam – Language and Culture

On-Campus Rooms

It’s not too late! Students who want to reserve a room in the traditional halls for 2010-11 can come to the Residence Life Office in Annapolis Hall weekdays between 8:30 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Jobs, Jobs, Jobs

FSU-TV3 is looking for additional staff for the fall 2010 semester. Positions include graphic designers, editors, producers, program director and more. A Comcast grant will provide an educational stipend for some positions. Go to www.frostburg.edu/dept/imcom/channel3/staff.htm for job descriptions and an employment application, or stop by the FSU-TV3 office in Old Main 201. For info, contact Melanie Lombardi at x3011 or mlombardi@frostburg.edu.
University Neighbors to Hold Candidates’ Forum

University Neighbors, an association of residents and property owners in the neighborhood adjacent to FSU, will hold a candidates’ forum on Sunday, May 16, at 7 p.m. at City Place at the corner of Water and Mechanic streets. The forum is part of the association’s regular meeting but is open to the public. Candidates running for city offices in the June election have been invited. For info, contact any member of the association’s leadership team: Lois Deasy at 301-689-8082, Maxine Bond at 301-689-5464, Eleanor Miller at 301-689-3572, Patrick O’Brien at 240-580-4336 or Jeff Sellers at 321-604-5920.

MDP Will Host Public Forum

The Maryland Department of Planning will host a public forum at FSU on Wednesday, May 19, from 6:30 to 7 p.m. in the Lyric building at 20 E. Main St. in Frostburg. Registration for the public forum opens at 6 p.m.; the PlanMaryland open house and registration will run from 7 to 9 p.m.

PlanMaryland, a state growth plan, is a new planning process designed to create a better and more sustainable future for Maryland. The state legislature created the authority for such a plan in the 1970s, but a broader recognition of the costs of unsustainable types of land use has grown in recent years to the point where such a plan is needed.

For info, visit planning.maryland.gov or contact the Maryland Department of Planning at 410-767-4500 or 877-767-6272.
