John Crawley, of U.S. Olympic Committee Sports Performance Division, to Speak at FSU

John Crawley, who works for the U.S. Olympic Committee on issues involving team sports performance, will present two lectures at FSU on Feb. 21 and 22. Both programs are free and open to the public.

“From Pheidippides to Phelps: Reflections on Athletic Performance in the Modern Olympic Games” will be presented on Monday, Feb. 21, at 7 p.m. in the Leake Room of the Cordts Physical Education Center. “Citius, Altius, Fortius: It’s Not Every Four Years ... It’s Every Day” will be presented Tuesday, Feb. 22, at 9:30 a.m., also in the Leake Room.

Crawley is the high-performance director of team sports with the Sport Performance Division of the U.S. Olympic Committee in Chula Vista, Calif. He has worked for over 11 years in various sport performance roles with the U.S. Olympic team, and has served with the U.S. delegations at the Olympic Games, Pan American Games and World Championships. He holds a level III Elite Coaching Certification from U.S. Triathlon, a level II Endurance Coaching Certification from U.S. Track and Field and a level II

Coaching Certification from U.S. Cycling.

The Wellner Scholar Program was created from an endowment from the FSU Foundation, Inc., to allow the Department of Health, Physical Education and Recreation to host a series of lectures by nationally acclaimed scholars. It was named for the late Lillian Wellner, a former FSU registrar and physical education instructor.

For info about the programs, call the Department of Health and Physical Education at x7017. For info about supporting the Wellner Scholarship program or the FSU Foundation, visit foundation.frostburg.edu or call x4161.

FSU Presents Documentaries on Natural Gas Drilling

“GasLand” and “Shale Gas and America’s Future” Preceded by Live Music by Soulmobile

FSU will present screenings of the films “GasLand” and “Shale Gas and America’s Future,” both documentaries on natural gas drilling, Wednesday, Feb. 23, at 8 p.m., preceded by the live music of Soulmobile at 7 p.m. in the Lane Atkinson Room (232).

Presenters will provide attendees with the opportunity to share their ideas and opinions of the films’ content through written questionnaires and by engaging in the online Practicing Democracy Facebook discussion.

“GasLand” is filmmaker Josh Fox’s look at the largest domestic natural gas drilling campaign in history. Fox set off his investigative journey after receiving an unexpected offer of $100,000 to drill on his land in Pennsylvania. Winner of numerous awards, including the Special Jury Prize at the 2010 Sundance Film Festival, and currently nominated for an Academy Award in the documentary category, “GasLand” features interviews with ordinary citizens, scientists and government officials.

“Shale Gas and America’s Future” provides a look at how communities in Pennsylvania are balancing the trade-offs of gas drilling for themselves and the nation. This film, produced by the American Clean Skies Foundation (an industry-based foundation), explores the issue from all sides and includes footage of the hydro fracturing process, community meetings and interviews with Pennsylvania’s top environmental regulator.

Soulmobile, which plays folk, bluegrass, world and reggae music, will perform a short set before the screening of the film.

This event is supported by FSU’s sustainability initiative, Learning Green, Living Green, and the Maryland Humanities Council. For info, contact the Maryland Humanities Council at 410-685-0095 or www.mdhc.org, or Dr. Kara Rogers Thomas at x3124.

Presentations

T.J. Coleman to Present ‘The Wereth Eleven’ at FSU

T.J. Coleman, president of the Aubrey Stewart Project, will present the untold story of “The Wereth Eleven” soldiers

Feb. 21, at 7 p.m. in the Lane Atkinson Room (232). This presentation will focus on Piedmont, W.Va., native, Aubrey Stewart, one of the 11 black U.S. soldiers who were executed by German troops during the Battle of the Bulge in 1944. The presentation is free and open to the public.

Stewart was 36, too old to be drafted, when he left his job at the Westvaco Paper Mill and volunteered to fight in World War II. He would become a part of The Wereth Eleven: 11 black soldiers from the 333rd Field Artillery Battalion, a black unit in the segregated U.S. Army, who were separated from their unit during that crucial battle.

Stewart and the other soldiers hiked for miles in the snow with no food, trying to rejoin American troops before coming on the tiny town of Wereth, Belgium. They were welcomed in to the home of Mathias Langer and his family, who were risking their own lives by doing so. Soon, however, a woman sympathetic to the Germans informed the SS that the men were in town. The soldiers were executed by German soldiers, and their bodies were left in the snow for more than two months.

Years later, a wooden cross from the Langer family cemetery was placed on the site of the massacre to honor the 11 victims. The townspeople of Wereth continued to raise money to honor the soldiers, and today, a permanent memorial stands inscribed with the names of all 11 soldiers.

The Aubrey Stewart Project was formed by Coleman as a way to publicize the often-forgotten story of Stewart and The Wereth Eleven. Unifying all races is one of Coleman’s primary goals for the project. Coleman also hopes the project will encourage today’s youth to leave an impact on society. The mottos of the Aubrey Stewart Project are “Above and Beyond the Call of Duty,” “The Ultimate Sacrifice” and “Excellence Above All Things.”

Leadership Studies Minor Program to Feature Shan Ferch

FSU’s Leadership Studies minor, in collaboration with the Office of Student and Educational Services, College of Business, College of Liberal Arts and Sciences and Student Communication Studies Association, will host Dr. Shan Ferch as this year’s Leadership Scholar in Residence on March 7 and 8. One of the largest interdisciplinary minors at FSU, the Leadership Studies minor is marking its 10-year anniversary in 2011.

While in residence at FSU, Ferch will facilitate leadership studies and communication studies class sessions focused on servant leadership, restorative justice and forgiveness, and will meet with the President’s Leadership Circle. He will also facilitate a workshop for faculty on interdisciplinary scholarship on Monday, March 7, at 2 p.m. in Lane 111, and lead a session for student leaders of campus organizations on Tuesday, March 8, at 7 p.m. in the Lane Atkinson Room (232). Faculty interested in attending the workshop should RSVP to Jeff McClellan at jlmcclellan@frostburg.edu by March 1.

Ferch, an interdisciplinary scholar and leadership educator, is a professor of leadership studies with the internationally recognized Ph.D. program in leadership studies at Gonzaga University. His academic credentials include a baccalaureate degree in organizational communication, master’s in clinical psychology from Pepperdine University, a dual MFA in poetry and fiction from the Inland Northwest Center for Writers at Eastern Washington University and a Ph.D. in systems psychology from the University of Alberta in Canada.

Ferch has published numerous scholarly articles and book chapters on servant leadership, forgiveness, reconciliation and gratitude. In addition, he has published and received multiple awards for his short stories and poetry, which explore the nature of humanity with regard to violence and forgiveness. He also serves as a member of the Greenleaf Center for Servant Leadership’s Speakers Bureau, is on the board of the Greenleaf Scholars Program and is the editor of the “International Journal of Servant Leadership.” Ferch has also served as a research psychologist with the U.S. Centers for Disease Control. He is currently a systems psychologist in private practice and a lead consultant for Leadership Spirit International.

For info about the minor, go to www.frostburg.edu/dept/lead or contact co-coordinators Dr. Jeff McClellan, an assistant professor in the Management Department, at jlmcclellan@frostburg.edu or x4372; or Dr. Elesha L. Ruminski, an assistant professor and chair of the Communication Studies Department, at elruminski@frostburg.edu or x4480.

Appalachian Lab Spring Seminar Series

Dr. Gregory Hancock, The College of William and Mary, will present “A Field-Based Evaluation of Wet Retention Ponds: How Effective Are They for Stormwater Control?” Thursday, Feb. 24, at 3:30 p.m. in AL Room 109. For info, see www.umces.edu/al/seminar/schedule.

Theatre

‘Smokey Joe’s Café’

Front, Kai White and Sylvern Groomes; back, Brent Mitchell and Kristen Brown

Come to a raw, nitty-gritty, steamy production of the Tony and Grammy award-winning musical, “Smokey Joe’s Café,” on Feb. 25 and 26, and March 3, 4 and 5 at 7:30 p.m., with matinee performances Feb. 26 and March 5 at 2 p.m. All performances will take place in the Drama Theatre of the FSU Performing Arts Center.

With outrageous concert lighting and special effects, this rock-style production will honor the original recordings of superstars of the ‘50s and ‘60s, including Elvis Presley, Big Mama Thornton, Jimmie Littlefield, The Drifters, The Coasters, The Shangri-las, Buddy Holly and many more. Showcasing timeless hits by the writing team of Leiber and Stoller, like “Jailhouse Rock,” “Stand By Me,” “Kansas City,” “There Goes My Baby,” “Spanish Harlem” and “Hound Dog,” Smokey Joe’s Café reminds us of the rebellion and joy of American pop-culture of the time. With electric performances and smoking choreography, this show pulses with romance, magic and humor.

For reservations and info, contact the Theatre and Dance Box Office at x7462 (Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and 1:30 to 4 p.m.) Tickets are $6 for students and $12 for the general public. Group discounts are available when booked in advance.

CES Brings ‘The Glass Menagerie’ to FSU

“The Glass Menagerie,” one of Tennessee Williams’ most beloved plays, will come to FSU on Tuesday, March 8, at 7:30 p.m. Part of the Main Stage Series of the Cultural Events Series, “The Glass Menagerie,” presented by Walnut Street Theatre, will be performed in the PAC Drama Theatre.

The play takes place in 1937 in a small apartment in St. Louis at the home of Amanda Wingfield and her two children – Tom, an aspiring poet and shoe factory worker, and Laura, a painfully shy girl who wears a brace on her leg and spends her free time playing with her small glass animal collection. Amanda is Laura’s mother and a former Southern belle, who, since her husband left her, has been obsessed with finding an appropriate “gentleman caller” for her fragile daughter. The overbearing mother elicits the help of her irresponsible, dreamer son in hopes of making her own dreams come true.

“The Glass Menagerie” is considered by many to be an autobiographical play about Williams’ own life, with the characters and story mimicking his past more closely than any of his other works. Williams (whose real name is Thomas) would be Tom, his mother, Amanda, and his sickly and (supposedly) mentally ill sister Rose would be Laura (whose nickname in the play is “Blue Roses,” a result of an unfortunate bout of pleurosis as a high school student). It has also been suggested that Laura’s character is based on Williams himself, referencing his introverted nature and obsessive focus on one part of life.

Tickets are $22 for adults and $15 for those under 17. Group discount tickets are available. For info, contact the Cultural Events Series at x3137 or visit <http://ces.frostburg.edu>.

One-Act Playwriting Competition

The FSU Center for Creative Writing announces its second annual One-Act Playwriting Competition to showcase new works.

Writers are encouraged to submit their one-act plays (with a running time of 40 minutes or less) to the center by April 1. Entries will be judged on plot, character development, dialogue and overall quality.

The first prize winner will receive $750 and production of his or her play at the Frostburg One-Act Playwriting Festival to be held on the FSU campus in September. Second and third prize winners will receive $250 and $100, respectively, and staged readings of their works.

For submission guidelines, visit the Center for Creative Writing's website at www.frostburg.edu/cwcenter.

Film

Bridges to the World Int'l Film Series

World Artists Experiences and the International Division of Maryland's Office of the Secretary of State, with the Office of Student Activities and the University Programming Board, invite the Frostburg Community to attend free screenings of international films. The Bridges to the World International Film Series is a statewide, month-long initiative in recognition of the state's global reach and a reflection of those connections here in Maryland. These films will be shown on Tuesdays at 7 p.m. in Lane 111.

The series will run through March 15 at venues throughout the state and features films chosen by the embassies of the respective countries. Each film will be introduced and screened, and participants can sample food from that country. All films will be shown with English subtitles. The schedule at FSU is as follows:

- Feb. 22: "Cinco Dias Sin Nora" ("Nora's Will"), Mexico
- March 1: "Ile Wazy Kon Trojanski" ("How Much Does the Trojan Horse Weigh"), Poland
- March 8: "Hometown Baghdad," Iraq
- March 15: "Om Shanti Om," India

Literature

E=(LG)² Is Back!

All faculty and staff are encouraged to have their students submit materials for the spring 2011 issue of E=(LG)². Articles should be 50-500 words with an environmental or sustainability emphasis and pertain to student research, class activities, nature appreciations, club activities, reportage and more. Photos and digital artwork should be included. The magazine will be published in print and online. Submissions from all disciplines are welcomed.

E=(LG)² is a product of ENGL 402, Editing and Production. The magazine website, which includes previous issues, is <http://organizations.frostburg.edu/lmag/>.

Students should send their materials to lmag@frostburg.edu by March 11.

Where Would You Like to Study Abroad?

The Center for International Education offers various ways for FSU students to see the world. In some cases, students can pay FSU tuition, room and board and study for a semester or a year in Ireland, England, Spain, France, China, Italy, Mexico, Malta, Botswana or many other countries. FSU also offers summer study abroad programs. Financial aid, student loans and scholarships are available.

Limerick, Ireland (Fall 2011)

Students can study for a semester at Mary Immaculate College and pay FSU tuition. Credits will transfer back to FSU. For info, go to www.mic.ul.ie/.

Changsha, China (Fall 2011)

Through the China Exchange Program, FSU students can spend a semester at Hunan Normal University in Changsha, Hunan Province, P.R. China (www.hunnu.edu.cn/english/). Students pay FSU tuition and fees (based on residency status) through their student e-bill account and pay room and board costs to Hunan Normal University. Living costs are generally lower than at FSU and courses are taught in English.

Student Life

What's Your Opinion?

The Residence Life Office is once again asking all on-campus residents to complete the EBI Survey. This survey will be available via a link sent to each resident at his or her FSU e-mail account from Monday, Feb. 21, through Wednesday, March 9. If students have any questions, they can ask their building staff or contact the Residence Life Office in Annapolis Hall. Students who complete the survey will be eligible to win a grand prize!

For info, see the flyers in the residence halls.

Upward Bound Tutors/Counselors

Upward Bound is seeking tutors/counselors for its summer residential program on FSU's campus. Upward Bound is a federally funded program that encourages qualified Allegany County high school students to seek education beyond secondary school. The summer residence program provides the main focus and aims to provide students with a sample of the college experience. Tentative dates are from June 5 to July 22 (which includes five days of training). Tutor/counselor salary is $2,000. Room and board are provided. Applicant review will begin immediately and the deadline to apply is March 1.

For info, contact the Upward Bound office at x4994 or esteele@frostburg.edu, or visit the Upward Bound website at www.frostburg.edu/clife/ubp.

Preview Guides

The Office of Student and Educational Services is looking for students (preview guides) to mentor and guide students during Preview FSU, the summer orientation program. Interested students can pick up an application from the Office of Student and Educational Services (Hitchins 116) or the Lane Center (Information Desk). Applications must be returned by March 11. Preview guides are expected to commit both days and evenings to the position from June 13 to June 30. Students will be compensated $950, including room and board. Given the time constraints of the position, students will not be able to take summer school classes or hold other employment.

Students for Women’s Issues
meets at 5 p.m. Thursdays in Lane 110.

Upcoming UCM Events

Group meetings are in Tawes 161. For info, contact the Rev. Dr. Cindy Zirlott at x7490 or c.zirlott@frostburg.edu. Join the UCM Facebook community at United Campus Ministry at FSU.

Summer Educational Mission to Yankton Sioux Reservation – Information and Registration Meeting, Tuesday, March 1, 7 p.m.
This is an opportunity to participate in a summer learning camp for elementary children who are part of the Yankton Sioux Native American tribe. These learning camps aim to prevent children from low-income homes from falling behind and encourage them to stay in school. Dr. Robin Bissell, camp coordinator, will give an overview of the learning camp and answer any questions. Registration forms can be picked up in the UCM office and will be available at the meeting (open to faculty, staff and students). The Ihanktonwan/Marty Indian School – Elementary Camp will run from June 24 to July 4.

Wednesday Spiritual Study Break, 9 to 9:45 p.m. Students, faculty and staff are invited to UCM’s Vesper-style worship experience.

Thursday FCA Huddle Bible Study, 8 to 9:15 p.m. UCM’s Christian Athletes group invites students to this student-led weekly Bible study.

Sunday Student Leadership Team Meeting, 5 p.m. The UCM student leadership team plans UCM events and addresses the needs and interests of students. If interested in serving on a leadership team this semester or next fall, come by for more info.

Sunday’s True North Meetings, 7 to 9 p.m. This series is an exploration and discussion on “Christianity and World Religions: Judaism, Islam, Hinduism and Buddhism.”
