FSU & City of Frostburg Historic Agreement to Improve Public Safety

President Jonathan Gibralter and City of Frostburg Mayor Robert Flanigan announced a historic agreement at the Feb. 16 Frostburg Mayor and Council meeting. The two-pronged approach is designed to improve public safety through shared jurisdiction in the neighborhoods surrounding the campus and through funding from FSU that will allow the City of Frostburg to boost its police staffing and salaries, as well as support other City safety measures.

Mayor Flanigan and President Gibralter, along with staff members, began meeting following the death of an FSU student in early November 2011. Their work targeted the twin challenges of the limited number of City police officers available for patrol work and the City’s budget limitations in funding adequate numbers of police officers. The two-pronged approach offered by FSU is designed to ease those challenges.

First, the FSU Police Department, with its force of 17 fully trained and Maryland-certified officers, will have joint jurisdiction in a defined area in the neighborhoods immediately adjacent to the campus. By adding the FSU police officers during their regular shifts, the City will have a dramatically increased capacity to respond to calls and enforce laws and codes. Frostburg police will still have responsibility for the most serious cases, but will be able to call on the FSU police for assistance in investigating these crimes.

Since July 2001, the City and FSU police departments had a mutual aid agreement that allowed each department to call on the other for assistance without delay, a program that has greatly enhanced the cooperation between the two law enforcement agencies. This expands that collaboration to allow FSU police to patrol those designated neighborhoods without first being requested by the City police.

For the second piece of the new approach, FSU will provide $200,000 each fiscal year for the Gty to invest in various safety enhancing measures. Among the most significant are to hire and train two new officers to bring the City’s force to 17 Maryland-certified officers. The City will also be able to increase the salaries of its current officers, reducing the disparity between pay for Frostburg’s officers and those of other agencies, most notably the FSU Police Department, a situation that had resulted in a near-constant drain of officers – those the City was paid to train – to other agencies.

The City will also be able to use those funds to assist other agencies that share responsibility for the safety of the people in and around the University. Technology investments in the Allegany County Sheriff’s Department will increase that agency’s capacity to support other agencies, in particular in collecting intelligence on illegal activities related to drug and alcohol abuse. The funds will also provide additional support to the Frostburg Volunteer Fire Department beyond the University’s annual contribution, to the Frostburg Area Ambulance Service and to the Shaft Volunteer Fire Department, which is the second company automatically dispatched to calls on campus.

Since FSU’s fiscal year begins July 1, FSU will implement a half-year of funding to cover the current fiscal year.

This unique two-track approach has been developed as a result of the close and personal involvement of both Gibralter and Flanigan.

Sheriff Craig Robertson has also been a party to the discussions leading to the cooperative agreement, with support being provided by Steve Spahr, FSU vice president for Government Relations and Economic Development and chief of staff; University Counsel Karen Treber; City Attorney Michael S. Cohen; Frostburg Police Chief Royce Douth and FSU Police Chief Cynthia Smith.

Community members wishing information about the agreement should contact Frostburg City Administrator John Kirby at 301-689-6000 or jokirby@allconet.org, or Stephen Spahr at 301-687-4111 or espahr@frostburg.edu.

A Telling of ‘Women in the Civil War’

To commemorate Women’s History Month, the Women’s Studies Program at FSU will present a dramatic telling of the experiences of women in the Civil War. Spies, nurses, wives and soldiers (some women fought as soldiers – disguised as men) will tell

Theatre

University Theatre Takes on Comedic Steve Martin Play

Imagine overhearing Pablo Picasso and Albert Einstein debate the art of physics and the physics of art. That’s exactly what happens at the Lapin Agile (Nimble Rabbit) when, in Paris, 1904, these two young geniuses engage in a playful conversation on the eve of their greatest accomplishments – Picasso’s shift from his blue to cubist period and Einstein’s publishing of his special theory of relativity. “Picasso at the Lapin Agile” is a witty romp that also gives audiences much to chew on about the significance of art and science in the 20th century, as well as the thrill of being on the verge of something extraordinary.

Performances by FSU’s Department of Theatre and Dance will take place March 2, 3, 8, 9 and 10 at 7:30 p.m., with a matinee performance March 3 at 2 p.m. in PAC’s F. Perry Smith Studio Theatre.

Before the performances, a series of mini-colloquia by FSU faculty members will engage the audience on the art of physics and the physics of art. Lectures will begin at 7:15 p.m.

For info, call the Theatre and Dance box office at x7462 (Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and 1:30 to 4 p.m.). Tickets are $6 for students and $12 for the general public.

To follow the season, “like” Theatre and Dance at FSU on Facebook.
their tales Tuesday, March 27, at 7 p.m. in Lane Manicure Hall. If interested in bringing these women from history to life, consider auditioning for one of the roles. Auditions will be held Friday, Feb. 24, from 7 to 10 p.m. in PAC 224.

For info on auditions, contact Dustin Shaffer in the Department of Theatre at dksshafer@frostburg.edu.

Third Annual One-Act Playwriting Competition

The FSU Center for Creative Writing announces its third annual One-Act Playwriting Competition to showcase new works.

Writers are encouraged to submit their one-act plays (with a running time of 40 minutes or less) to the center by April 2. Entries will be judged on plot, character development, dialogue and overall quality.

For submission guidelines, visit the Center for Creative Writing's Web site at www.frostburg.edu/cwcenter.

‘Backbone Mountain Review’ Reading

A public reading from the “2012 Backbone Mountain Review” will be held Saturday, Feb. 25, at 2 p.m. at the Allegany Arts Council’s Community Room, 9 N. Centre St., Cumberland.

The reading is free and open to the public, and complimentary copies of the 2012 publication will be available.

Sponsored by FSU’s Center for Creative Writing, Allegany Arts Council, Allegany County Library System, Community Trust Foundation and NewPage Corp., the “Backbone Mountain Review” is an annual publication that features poetry and prose by area writers. Works are reviewed and selected by a six-person editorial board.

Some language in the publication may not be suitable for young readers or listeners. A reception will follow the reading. For info, contact the Frostburg Center for Creative Writing at x4340 or the Allegany Arts Council at 301-777-2787.

QDMA’s FSU Branch Hosting Educational Event

The FSU branch of the Quality Deer Management Association will host an educational event on deer and deer management Saturday, March 3, from 9 a.m. to noon in Covert 112.

Maryland QDMA President E.W. Grimes will give a hands-on seminar on fetus measuring and jawbone aging, two essential techniques in deer management. The event is free and open to the public. All ages are welcome.

For info, contact Dr. Thomas Lambert at x4167 or tlambert@frostburg.edu.

Call for Presentations

“FOCUS FROSTBURG 2012: ‘Learn-In’ for a Sustainable Future” will be held Wednesday, April 18, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Lane Center.

FOCUS FROSTBURG is FSU’s annual day of learning on sustainability and climate awareness that is free and open to FSU students, faculty, staff and the community. As in previous years, faculty may want students to attend a FOCUS FROSTBURG session in lieu of class attendance or make any of the FOCUS FROSTBURG seminars and activities an extra-credit assignment.

To participate as a presenter, email lglg@frostburg.edu or krogers@frostburg.edu and submit a presentation title and one-or-two sentence abstract. Topics may be varied but should cover a sustainability or climate awareness issue. Formal presentations should not exceed 50 minutes, since the normal MWF class schedule will be followed. Programs and workshops that fall beyond the scope of formal presentations are also encouraged. If the proposed program falls into that category, make a note of that in your response. Indicate a time of day when you would like to present.

Room space for presentations is limited; confirm your interest as soon as possible! LGLG will accept proposals through March 1.

Student presentations are also highly encouraged.

This event is sponsored and organized by FSU’s Learning Green, Living Green Sustainability Initiative.

Bridges to the World Int’l Film Series Continues

The Office of Student Activities and Greek Life and University Programming Council present their third annual Bridges to the World International Film Festival. The following films will be shown on Tuesdays at 7 p.m. in Lane 111. The event is free and open to the public. All movies will have English subtitles.

- "Hura Gāru" ("Hula Girls"), Japan, Feb. 21
- "Die Siebteblauern," Austria, Feb. 28
- "Sarkanthi," Sri Lanka, March 6
- "Dondurumam Gyma," Turkey, March 14

"Hula Girls" is based on a true story. Through the 1950s, the Joban Mine in Iwaki was Japan’s largest coal mine. As Japan reduced its dependence on coal, the future of the mine was threatened. To reverse this economic disaster, the mining company decided to exploit the hot springs of the area and create a resort.

One year later the Joban Hawaiian Center opened – the first theme park in Japan and the only one to feature a dance troupe. In the first of many “green approaches” to sustaining the local economy, the center trained 18 girls from the town to perform the hula. Today, as Spa Resort Hawaiians, it is the 10th most popular theme park in the country. Damaged in last year’s earthquake, the resort reopened in October 2011. This history of the founding of the resort is told through the imagined interaction of the miners’ daughters and their families, the company executives and a hula teacher from Tokyo. "Hula Girls" offers a warm-hearted and funny success story as it examines topics of economic survival, friendship, cultural misconceptions and fears, growing up and being an outsider.

"Hula Girls" was nominated for 11 Japanese Academy Awards and won four. It was also Japan’s entry for Best Foreign Language Film at the 2007 Academy Awards. Recent screenings of the film helped raise money for the Northern Japan Earthquake Relief Fund. You can watch the official trailer at www.youtube.com/watch?v=3nHakMcqHbg.

All FSU Student Show

Interested FSU students are invited to enter the 2012 All FSU Student Show. For an entry fee of $3 per artwork, students can enter up to five pieces of art in each of the following categories: painting, printmaking, graphics, illustration, photography, ceramics and sculpture. Artwork can be dropped off at the Stephanie Roper Art Gallery on Friday, Feb. 24, from 2 to 4 p.m. and Saturday, Feb. 25, from 1 to 4 p.m. The judge for this year’s show is gallery owner Penny Knobel-Besa.

Work not accepted into the exhibit must be picked up Monday, Feb. 27, from 1 to 4 p.m. An Opening and Awards Ceremony is planned for Friday, March 2, from 7 to 9 p.m. in the Roper Gallery. The public is invited.

The Roper Gallery is open Sunday through Wednesday from 1 to 4 p.m.

For info, contact Dustin Davis at 301-722-6397 or Patti Graham at x4797.

Social Satire Exhibit

The INX Graphic Social Satire exhibit, a collection of editorial cartoon art, will be at the Stephanie Ann Roper Gallery through Sunday, Feb. 26.

The INX group was formed by New York Times editorial illustrators during the time of President Reagan. The name “INX” was coined by a play on the essential medium employed by these pen and brush artists. They all shared a desire to produce and distribute uncensored political images to news marketplaces, essentially keeping editorial control in the hands of the creators.

Since 1980, the INX group has produced compelling visual commentary on the big events that have spanned the millennium divide. The group became self-syndicated once more in 2002, this time employing the Internet by allowing subscribers to download the work directly from their website: inxt.com.

The exhibit is free and open to the public.

For info, contact the Visual Arts Department at x4797.

Kyle Raio’s History Paper Published

A paper by senior history major Kyle Raio, “Wailing Saves No Man From the Pit: How the Cult of Thoth Facilitated the Growth of the Cult of Imhotep,” was recently published by AnthroJournal: The Collegiate Journal of Anthropology, a site to which scholarly research papers are submitted by undergraduate and graduate students and then carefully evaluated for quality before publication. Raio wrote the paper, which discusses how the Cult of Thoth aids in the growth of the Cult of Imhotep throughout Ancient Egypt and the Ancient Mediterranean, for his fall 2011 history capstone class, and it was reviewed by several noted scholars of Ancient Egypt. The published paper can be viewed at the AnthroJournal website at http://bit.ly/punAG9.

FSU Students Visit National Great Blacks in Wax Museum

In early February, students in Dr. Amy Branam’s class, English 231 African-American Literature, visited the National Great Blacks in Wax Museum in Baltimore. The museum showcases African-American ancestry, history and achievements from Ancient Egypt through today. It contains wax figures of great African-American men and women, along with tableaux to help illustrate the Middle Passage, the Underground Railroad, the Civil Rights Movement and lynching.

This trip was made possible by grants from the President’s Experiential Learning Enhancement Fund and the African-American Studies Steering Committee.
FSU to Collaborate With BOE/ACM on ‘Pathways to Success’

FSU recently received a $40,000 College Preparation Intervention Program award from the Maryland Higher Education Commission to provide information to second semester high school juniors and next fall’s seniors about the range of career options available through post-secondary education and prepare them to take college-level courses. This “Pathways to Success” Project will be done in collaboration with the Allegany County Board of Education and Allegany College of Maryland. Participating students will have the opportunity to attend enrichment activities at FSU, including the Western Maryland Science and Engineering Festival, a College of Liberal Arts and Sciences Undergraduate Research Symposium and the FSU Undergraduate Majors Fair. A team of FSU faculty will conduct classroom and laboratory demonstrations at FSU to increase awareness of Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics (STEM) career options.

Additionally, a panel of FSU freshmen and staff members will visit the four Allegany County public high schools this spring and next fall to discuss career options as well as the resources needed to complete college admission and financial aid processes. For info, contact Dr. Cindy Herzog, associate dean of FSU’s College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, at x4142.

Sociology Honor Society

Students interested in joining the Alpha Kappa Delta honor society for sociology should contact Dr. John McMullen at x3162 or jmcmullen@frostburg.edu by March 2. To be inducted into AKD, a student must have completed 12 credits of sociology courses and have a 3.0 GPA in sociology courses and a 3.3 overall GPA.

Academic Scheduling and Religious Observances

It is FSU’s policy that its academic programs and services will be available to qualified students admitted to its programs, regardless of their religious beliefs. Students will not be penalized because of observance of their religious holidays and will be given an opportunity to make up, within a reasonable time, any academic assignment missed because of participation in religious observances. It is the student’s responsibility to notify his or her instructor of conflicts between religious observances and scheduled course activities. Students should notify their instructors of conflicts and make arrangements for making up missed work before an absence due to religious observance.

All faculty and staff have been sent the link to a web-based interfacing calendar for reference.

Graduating in May?

Through the China Exchange Program, FSU students can spend a semester at Hunan Normal University (www.hunnu.edu.cn/english) in Changsha, Hunan Province, P.R. China. Students pay FSU tuition and fees (based on residency status) through their student e-bill account and room and board costs to Hunan Normal University.

Limerick, Ireland—Fall 2012
Students can study for a semester in Ireland at Mary Immaculate College and pay FSU tuition. Financial aid can be used to help cover the costs of room and board. Credits will transfer back to FSU. Check out the website for Mary Immaculate College at www.mic.ul.ie.

Jobs, Jobs, Jobs
Resident Assistants
The Residence Life Office and Edgewood Commons are seeking prospective and dedicated resident assistants for the fall semester. If interested, you are encouraged to attend information sessions in your hall. If you live off campus and are considering applying for an RA position, you can attend the session on Feb. 20 at 8 p.m. in the Edgewood Commons Main Lounge.

The session lasts about an hour and will touch on what is expected of an RA.

The applications can be picked up at the Residence Life Office or Edgewood Commons and will be due March 1 to the Residence Life Office.

For info, contact LaToyia E. Haynes at x4121 or lehaynes@frostburg.edu.

Preview Guides
The Office of Student and Educational Services is looking for students (Preview guides) to mentor and guide students during Preview FSU, the Summer Orientation Program. Interested students can pick up an application from the Office of Student and Educational Services (Hitchins 116) or the Lane Center Information Desk.

For consideration, all applications must be returned by March 9. Preview guides are expected to commit both days and evenings to the position from June 12 to July 1. Students will be compensated $950, including room and board. Given the time constraints of the position, students will not be able to take summer session classes or hold other employment.

Upward Bound
Summer Positions
Upward Bound is seeking applicants for the following positions for its summer residential program on FSU’s campus. Tentative dates are from June 10 to July 27 (includes five days of training). Room and board are provided. Applicant review will begin immediately.

Upward Bound is a federally funded program that encourages qualified Allegany County high school students to seek education beyond secondary school. The summer residence program provides the main focus and aims to provide students with a sample of the college experience.

For info, contact the Upward Bound office at x4994, estelee@frostburg.edu or visit the Upward Bound website at www.frostburg.edu/clic/hsp.

Tutors/Counselors
Tutor/counselor salary is $2,000. The deadline to apply is March 1.

Head Resident
This position requires a bachelor’s degree. The salary is $2,800. The head resident will supervise up to 50 students and nine staff members. The deadline to apply is April 1.

Internships
Summer/Fall Sociology Internship
Students interested in a summer or fall sociology internship should contact Dr. John McMullen in the Sociology Department at x3162 or jmcmullen@frostburg.edu by Feb. 24. The department offers full and part-time internships to students who have junior or senior status, 18 credit hours in sociology and a 2.0 overall GPA.

Poli Sci/Law & Society Summer Internship
Political Science and Law and Society majors interested in a summer internship should attend one – preferably all – of the following meetings:

• Thursday, March 8, 12:30 p.m., Guild 205
• Wednesday, April 4, noon, Old Main 104
• Thursday, May 3, 12:30 p.m., Guild 205

Majors unable to attend these meetings should contact Tim Magrath in Guild 141, or at x4080 or tmagrath@frostburg.edu.

Of special interest for the fall are the Beall internships on Capitol Hill. The program is sponsored by the J. Glenn Beall, Jr., Institute for Public Affairs. Applicants must be juniors or seniors and have a GPA of 3.0 or higher. A stipend is awarded for participation.
