CES' LIVE! at StarScape Presents Comedian Sandra Bernhard

FSU's Cultural Events Series will present a LIVE! at StarScape club event with iconic comedian and actress Sandra Bernhard. Bernhard's musical cabaret performance will take place on Thursday, Feb. 28, at 7:30 p.m. and Friday, March 1, at 8 p.m. in Lane Manicur Hall.

Described admiringly by The New York Times as "a living breathing bonfire," Bernhard's provocative cabaret performance encompasses all the boldness and vitality that have made her legendary in the entertainment world.

On March 1, Bernhard will also present a lecture on women's studies as part of CES' Inspiring Audiences program. This lecture is free but attendance is limited. Contact Hannah Byler at x7420 to reserve a space.

For info, contact the CES box office at x3137 or visit ces.frostburg.edu.

Presentations

McGovern to Speak on Slave Life in Allegany County, 1789-1864

FSU's African-American Studies Program will present "Liberty to Them Is as Sweet as It Is to Me: Slave Life in Allegany County, 1789-1864," a presentation by retired history professor and former FSU provost Dr. Constance McGovern, on Wednesday, Feb. 20, at 6 p.m. in Compton 226. The event is free and open to the public.

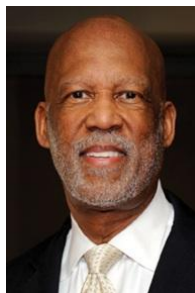

McGovern has nearly 40 years of experience teaching history. Her teaching fields include American social history and Colonial, Revolutionary and Early Constitutional America. She has published a book and multiple articles on the history of American Psychiatry, her field of research, and her forthcoming article on the same topic as her presentation will be published in the Maryland Historical Magazine.

Before she was the provost at FSU from 1993 to 1996 and a member of the history department until 2005, McGovern was the vice provost at the University of Vermont. There she was also a director of graduate studies, an associate dean and the director of the Living/Learning Center.

For info, call x4228 or email aabbay@frostburg.edu.

BSA to Host Dr. Terrence Roberts

FSU's Black Student Alliance will present Dr. Terrence J. Roberts, one of the "Little Rock Nine," the first group of African-American students to attend Little Rock Central High School in Arkansas three years following the Brown v. Board of Education Supreme Court decision that ruled segregated schools unconstitutional. The event will take place on Thursday, Feb. 21, at 6 p.m. in Lane Manicur Hall, and will be free and open to the public.

When the Little Rock Nine initially tried to enter the high school in September 1957, Arkansas governor Orval Faubus had them blocked by soldiers of the National Guard, and President Eisenhower had to send units of the 101st Airborne Division to safely escort the students. Once the school was integrated, Roberts and the rest of the Little Rock Nine faced daily harassment and discrimination, but he courageously powered through. Roberts went on to earn a Ph.D. Today, he is the CEO of Terrence J. Roberts & Associates, a consultant firm devoted to fair and equitable practices.

For info, contact the Diversity Center at x4050.

NECESSARY! Exhibit, with Guest Speaker Professor Griff

FSU's Diversity Center will present the Black History 101 Mobile Museum's NECESSARY! Exhibit, with guest speaker Professor Griff from the hip hop group Public Enemy. The exhibit will be on display Monday, Feb. 25, from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. and Griff will speak at 5 p.m., both in Lane Manicur Hall. This event is free and open to the public.

Griff is an internationally renowned educator, writer, producer, musician, platinum recording/spoken word artist, lecturer and founding member of the pioneering and revolutionary hip hop group Public Enemy. He holds a Bachelor of Science degree in education, is a licensed personal security defense instructor and an accomplished martial artist. Griff will speak on Malcolm X's influence on Public Enemy, the significance of being inducted into the Rock n Roll Hall of Fame and the future of Public Enemy.

The NECESSARY! Exhibit has over 150 rare artifacts that span the Black experience with a specific focus on the life and legacy of Malcolm X. Starting with artifacts from slavery, a context is built on the development and need for a revolutionary leader like Malcolm X. The continuity of struggle through the Black experience in America and Malcolm's influence is shown through the eras of slavery, Jim Crow, the Nation of Islam, the Black Power Movement and hip hop. This story is told through rare photographs, magazines, letters, figurines, posters, newspapers and other memorabilia.

For info, contact the FSU Diversity Center at x4050.

Math Should Make Sense!

Linda Gojak to Give Math Education Presentation

The President of the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics, Linda Gojak, will speak on Tuesday, March 5, at 7 p.m. in the Lane Atkinson Room (232). In her talk, “Everything You Do in Mathematics Should Make Sense!” targeting teachers and future teachers of mathematics, Gojak will provide examples of how they can help students make sense of what they are learning in mathematics. The event is free and open to the public.

Since 1999, Gojak has served as director of the Center of Mathematics and Science Education, Teaching and Technology at John Carroll University in Cleveland, Ohio. She brings to her NCTM leadership nearly 40 years of experience in teaching mathematics at all levels in the U.S., as well as considerable work with students, teachers and professional organizations throughout the country.

For info, contact the Mathematics Department at x4384 or email Karen Parks at kparks@frostburg.edu.

Appalachian Lab Spring Seminar Series

Dr. Richard Thomas, West Virginia University, will present “A New Story From Old Trees: Possible Causes of a Recent Anomaly in Tree Growth in the Central Appalachian Mountains” on Thursday, March 7, at 3:30 p.m. in AL Room 109. For info, go to www.umces.edu/al/seminar/schedule.

Theatre

Benefit Production of ‘Vagina Monologues’

V-Day@FSU will present benefit performances of Eve Ensler’s award-winning play, “The Vagina Monologues,” at FSU on Feb. 22 and 23 at 7:30 p.m. in PAC Pealer Recital Hall. This year’s student director is Shelby Herbert.

Doors open at 6:30 p.m. for the Information Festival, which features the Clothesline Project, campus and community groups who provide assistance, and V-Day merchandise. The Clothesline Project was designed to essentially “air out society’s dirty laundry.” Both women and men are invited to create their own T-shirts to be put on display as a visual representation of real stories of violence against women.

Alongside the Clothesline Project is the scarf sale, otherwise known as the Scarf Project, to be held in the Lane Center on Feb. 18, 19 and 21 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Scarves and other V-Day merchandise will be sold to raise money.

Tickets are $12 for the general public and $6 for students and may be purchased by phoning x7462 Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and 1:30 to 4 p.m. For the 12th year in a row, V-Day@FSU will donate the proceeds from ticket and merchandise sales. The Dove Center and the Family Crisis Resource Center will benefit, as well as this year’s V-Day Spotlight, One Billion Rising, a campaign that issued a call to one billion women and men to walk out, dance, rise up and demand an end to violence against women on V-Day’s 15th anniversary.

Hailed by The New York Times as “funny” and “poignant” and by the Daily News as “intelligent” and “courageous,” “The Vagina Monologues” dives into the mystery, humor, pain, power, wisdom, outrage and excitement buried in women’s experiences.

V-Day is a global activist movement to end violence against women and girls, and is a catalyst that promotes creative events to increase awareness, raise money and revitalize the spirit of existing anti-violence organizations.

To learn more about V-Day@FSU, call x4293 or email fsuvday@gmail.com. To learn more about V-Day and its campaigns, visit www.vday.org.

‘Bach at Leipzig,’ a ‘Farcical Fugue’

FSU’s Department of Theatre and Dance will perform the stage comedy “Bach at Leipzig” on Friday and Saturday, March 1 and 2, and Thursday through Saturday, March 7 through 9, at 7:30 p.m., with a 2 p.m. showing on March 2. Performances will be in the Smith Studio Theatre. Individual tickets are $12 for general admission and $6 for students.

This play has been called “a remarkably silly yet intellectually stirring comedy” by the Queen City News. Written by Itamar Moses and directed by Darrell Rushton, a member of the Department of Theatre and Dance faculty, the play takes place in Leipzig, Germany, in June 1722. The musical director of St. Thomas Church and master of St. Thomas School dies, and six of the best organists in Germany compete for his vacant post. The title guarantees fame and fortune throughout all of Europe, and the ambitious men resort to blackmail, betrayal and other crimes to secure their future.

“Bach at Leipzig” strikes chords with dexterous wordplay and sophisticated comedic wit. Nothing short of a farcical fugue, this play delivers a collision of ideologies about art, God and humanity, which resolves in a brilliantly crafted ending.

For info, contact the Theatre and Dance box office at x7462 Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and 1:30 to 4 p.m.

Center for Creative Writing’s Playwriting Competition

The FSU Center for Creative Writing will hold its fourth annual One-Act Playwriting Competition to showcase new works. Writers must submit their one-act plays (with a running time of 40 minutes or less) to the center by Monday, April 1. Entries will be judged on plot, character development, dialogue and overall quality.

For complete submission guidelines, go to www.frostburg.edu/cwcenter/one-act-play-festival on the Center for Creative Writing’s website.

Film

International Film Festival Continues

A Scene From “Eli and Ben”

FSU continues the Fourth Annual Bridges to the World International Film Festival with a film from Israel, “Eli and Ben,” on Tuesday, Feb. 19, at 7 p.m. in Lane 111. “Eli and Ben” offers a touching coming-of-age drama by weaving together two complementary stories: Eli’s recognition that his father (Ben) is fallible and negotiating the daily politics of school. Both stories address themes of peer pressure, corruption, disillusionment, deceit, faith, justice, friendship, personal ethics and social responsibility. As Eli faces a series of crises, he discovers new strength in himself and learns that growing up and entering the real world require sacrifice.

A story rich in character and surprising suspense, “Eli and Ben” won numerous international film festival awards, including Augsburg, Moscow, Bologna and Boston. The film runs 90 minutes. You can watch the trailer at www.youtube.com/watch?v=q_S44BLV03E.

Dates for the remaining films (same time and place) are as follows:

- Feb. 26: "Kung Fu Dunk" (Taiwan)
- March 5: "Red Dog" (Australia)
- March 12: "Citizen Havel" (Czech Republic)

The Bridges to the World International Film Series is a statewide initiative in recognition of the state's global reach and a reflection of those connections here in Maryland. Each film will be introduced, and participants will be able to sample food representing the various international locations. Films are free and open to the public.

For info, call the FSU Information Desk at x4411.

One Vision Many Voices Film Series

This film series, which explores environmental issues relevant to the region and its people, continues on Monday, Feb. 25, with "Home" at 7 p.m. in ACM's Zimmer Theatre. This event is free and open to the public.

In "Home," filmmaker Yann Arthus-Bertrand uses aerial-only footage to provide an awe-inspiring view of the planet and a concern for its health. His tour of over 50 countries provides a unique perspective and insight into the effects that humans have had on Earth.

The following films will also begin at 7 p.m. and will be screened at FSU in Compton 226.

- "Dirt! The Movie" – March 4
- "Getting to the Point: Five Issues, Five Films" – March 11

A panel discussion will follow each film screening, and representatives of local organizations who are working with these issues will be present for discussion with interested individuals.

The film series is a major component of the One Vision Many Voices project of The Appalachian Independent. OVMV uses the arts and humanities to spark dialogue about the community and its vision for a healthier, more sustainable future.

For info, contact Michael Snyder, OVMV project director, at 240-284-8400 or visit www.onevisionmanyvoices.com. Info is also available on the college and university websites, www.allegany.edu and www.frostburg.edu.

Dance

Auditions Set for 'Queen'

Thanks to a New Directions grant from Pennsylvania Performing Arts on Tour, the Cultural Events Series at FSU will join forces with the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences and the Department of Theatre and Dance to embark on an eight-month project with the Philadelphia-based hip hop dance company RHAW (Rennie Harris Awe-Inspiring Works). Four local dancers will be selected to perform with the professional company when they perform at FSU in September.

The project centers on the development of a new dance work, "Queen," inspired by the music of the legendary rock band led by Freddie Mercury. Award-winning choreographer Rennie Harris describes his new work as a "dance musical" portraying the story of a teenage boy becoming a man. The FSU campus will serve as a developmental retreat site for the nine-member company, which will be in residence in March and again in September. The world premiere of "Queen" will occur as part of the 2013-14 CES season.

Dancers from FSU and the region can audition for "Queen" when the company holds two public master classes in hip hop technique on Saturday, Feb. 23. A beginner class will take place at 1 p.m. and an advanced class at 3 p.m. The cost of each 90-minute class is $15; the cost to take both classes is $25. Dancers wishing to be considered for selection in the "Queen" project must register for both master classes. Dancers age 14 and older may attend the classes, but only dancers age 17 and older will be considered for participation in "Queen." Attendance in each class is limited. Classes will be held in the Cordts PE Center Dance Studio, room 106.

Dancers selected to perform with RHAW must commit to a rehearsal schedule from March through September. The schedule includes an intensive week of rehearsals March 14 through 20, a two-day visit to Philadelphia in the summer and the final residency and performances Sept. 10 through 13.

The "Queen" project allows multiple opportunities for campus and community members to participate in intensive dance workshops, including the master classes on Feb. 23 as well as a summer dance intensive in June. The entire project will be video-documented and a post-performance discussion will follow the premiere performance of "Queen" in September.

For info, contact CES at x3137, x7420 or x7495; or visit the website at <http://ces.frostburg.edu>.

Music

Rescheduled: Jessica Knouse Recital

The junior recital by mezzo-soprano Jessica Knouse (originally scheduled for Feb. 17) has been postponed to May 5.

Visual Arts

'I Have a Dream'

Come to the Lewis J. Ort Library to view the displays on the third floor celebrating Black History Month and the 50th anniversary of the "I Have a Dream" speech. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. delivered his speech on Aug. 28, 1963, to civil rights supporters during the March on Washington for Jobs and Freedom. The display includes a photograph of King, a copy of "I Have a Dream" and books on King.

Also learn about artists, musicians and writers from the Harlem Renaissance period by viewing the materials in the third display case on the third floor. Authors include Langston Hughes, Zora Neale Hurston and James Weldon Johnson. Art by Marvin Gray H. Johnson and Archibald J. Motley Jr. provides some images of the Harlem Renaissance.

'Recent Work' at the Roper Gallery

"The House of Green Lanterns" by James Giampaoli

"Recent Work," an exhibition by James Giampaoli and John Alderton, will run through Feb. 24 at FSU's Stephanie Ann Roper Gallery.

To view the artists' work, visit their websites at www.jimgiampaoli.com and www.aldertonart.com, or their Facebook pages at www.facebook.com/jimgiampaoli.fineart and www.facebook.com/pages/John-Alderton-Fine-Artist/178197472235267.

The Stephanie Ann Roper Gallery has free admission and is open to the public Sunday through Wednesday from 1 to 4 p.m. For info, contact the FSU Department of Visual Arts at x4797.

Points of Pride

Klickman in Band Workshops

Philip Klickman, FSU director of Bands, has been working with high school and middle school bands in St. Mary's County. In mid-February, he spent time in workshops with six bands as they prepared for their county adjudication next month. The workshops were held at Leonardtown High School.

Take Note

Was There a Teacher Who Inspired You?

Now It's Your Turn to Inspire Others!

FSU's Master of Arts in Teaching builds on your bachelor's degree to prepare you to be certified as a teacher in one year.

An information session will be held on Wednesday, Feb. 20, at 6 p.m. in Pullen 108.

Student Lobby Day

USM students have scheduled a student lobby day for Thursday, Feb. 28, in Annapolis, Md.

For info, go to www.usmd.edu/newsroom/news/1183.

Also, the student member of the USM Board of Regents, the chair of the USM Student Council and the UMCP SGA president offered powerful testimony in support of the governor's USM budget during the overview hearings in early February.

Scholarships Available for DelFest Academy

WFWM 91.9 and the Tri-State Community School for the Arts in Cumberland will provide two scholarships to this year's DelFest Academy being held at the Allegany County Fairgrounds on May 20 through 23. The DelFest Academy takes place before the annual DelFest, a music festival hosted by bluegrass legend Del McCoury. It is a friendly, but intensive, three-day experience that will give musicians the opportunity to work with some of the finest bluegrass musicians. Instruction is available for banjo, bass, fiddle, guitar and mandolin.

Two scholarships will be given, with both scholarships available to a young musician age 18 or younger. The WFWM scholarship will also be available to currently enrolled college students. Scholarships are limited to residents of Allegany, Garrett or Mineral counties, or students enrolled at one of those county's colleges or universities.

Applicants must have intermediate-level musical skills and are asked to perform two songs limited to two minutes each – one fast piece and one ballad, both unaccompanied.

Applicants will also be asked to demonstrate financial need. Applications are available at the Allegany Arts Council, Tri-State Community School for the Arts and WFWM, or by going to the Tri-State or WFWM Facebook pages at www.facebook.com/TriStateCommunitySchoolfortheArts or www.facebook.com/wfwmradio. Applications are due on Feb. 28 and can be mailed or dropped off at Tri-State Community School for the Arts or WFWM. Applications will be reviewed on March 2 and narrowed down to six.

On Thursday, March 14, the six finalists will perform at MCTA for the judges, including Del McCoury Band mandolin virtuoso Ronnie McCoury.

For info, contact Chuck Dicken at x4143 or cdicken@frostburg.edu, or Amy Riffle-Kouyeas at 301-876-1562 or tristatearts@gmail.com.

Community Dialogue Series Continues

The next session of the Sustaining Campus and Community Dialogue series will be on Wednesday, Feb. 20, at 5:30 p.m. at the Lyric Theater at 20 E. Main Street. Musical entertainment and refreshments will kick-start the ongoing work of coalition groups that have formed to offer solutions around six themes: preventing conflict, building community relationships, improving race relations, promoting pride in FSU and Frostburg, discovering Western Maryland and managing off-campus housing concerns. Everyone with an interest in the Frostburg community is invited to attend.

This session will feature musicians Jason Twigg and Fritz Kessler, who are a two-piece old-time string band from Frostburg. They play classic fiddle tunes, breakdowns and waltzes. Their repertoire consists of tunes from the turn of the early 20th century and earlier, focusing on melodic fiddle runs with the guitar added for a driving rhythm.

The dialogue series project, funded by Maryland Judiciary's Mediation and Conflict Resolution Office, focuses on community-based action plans to support improved campus-community communication and a non-violent culture in Frostburg. Nationally known conflict resolution scholar-practitioners Dr. Frank Dukes, lecturer and director of the Institute for Environmental Negotiation at the University of Virginia, and Dr. Marvin Johnson, founder and executive director of the Center for Alternative Dispute Resolution, will continue to offer their expertise for these events. Another session featuring members of the Frostburg faith community will follow on Tuesday, March 26, at 5:30 p.m. in the Lyric Theater. A celebration picnic will be held on Saturday, May 4, from noon to 3 p.m. at City Place on Water Street in conjunction with "Beautify the Burg," the annual community service day in Frostburg.

Details and documentary segments capturing the "Sustaining Campus and Community" efforts can be viewed at www.frostburg.edu/dept/cmst/dialogue-series. Contact project manager Dr. Elesha L. Ruminski at elruminski@frostburg.edu or x4480 if interested in the session. Ruminski is the chair of the Department of Communication Studies and coordinator of Leadership Studies at FSU, as well as the president of the Mountainside Community Mediation Center, a local partner that offers free dispute resolution services.

BURG Peer Education Network

The BURG Peer Education is displaying large butterflies in various buildings across campus to raise awareness for Self-Injury Awareness Day on March 1, and the Butterfly Project, an international campaign promoting self-injury awareness and recovery.

Community Lenten Observance. Come participate in the Communitywide Lenten Services for a time of reflection and spiritual nourishment each Wednesday starting this week. Hosted by Frostburg Presbyterian Church (33 S. Broadway), the evening begins at 6 p.m. with a free simple meal of homemade soups and sandwiches, followed by a prayer service featuring a mediation on the parables of Jesus. Local clergy from the Frostburg Ministerium will lead the weekly meditations.

Nothing but Nets – Stop Malaria Campaign. This is a campaign to buy mosquito bed nets for people in malaria-stricken regions in Africa, where malaria kills 3,000 children a day. Groups, offices and departments are asked to challenge each other for the next six weeks to give up a meal a week, a coffee break, candy bar or snack break and donate that money to buy misquote nets. One net costs $10. UCM has net bags for participants to use to collect donations. UCM will collect donations at the end of the campaign. If you want to make out a check, make it payable to United Campus Ministry at FSU and put "Nothing but Nets" in the memo line.

Winter Community Service Opportunity: FSU Snow Brigade. Sign up today and help shovel snow for elderly and disabled Frostburg residents. On snow days, texts go out to the snow brigade until enough people confirm they can help. Shovels are provided. You must have a cell phone number to sign up.
