FSU Again Honored With Tree Campus USA Recognition

FSU has once again been honored with Tree Campus Higher Education recognition by the Arbor Day Foundation for its commitment to effective urban forest management.

The Tree Campus Higher Education program honors colleges and universities for effective campus forest management and for engaging staff and students in conservation goals. FSU achieved the title by meeting Tree Campus Higher Education’s five standards, which include maintaining a tree advisory committee, a campus tree-care plan, dedicated annual expenditures for its campus tree program, an Arbor Day observance and student service-learning project. Currently, there are 403 campuses across the U.S. with this recognition.

The Arbor Day Foundation has helped campuses throughout the country plant thousands of trees, and Tree Campus Higher Education colleges and universities invested more than $51 million in campus forest management last year. This work directly supports the Arbor Day Foundation’s Time for Trees initiative — an unprecedented effort to plant 100 million trees in forests and communities and inspire 5 million tree planters by 2022. Last year, Tree Campus Higher Education schools collectively planted 39,178 trees and engaged 81,535 tree planters.

Theatre and Dance

Department of Theatre and Dance Presents Live Performance of 'The Spoon River Project'

FSU's Department of Theatre and Dance, in partnership with the Cultural Events Series, will present a live performance of "The Spoon River Project" Thursday, April 8, through Saturday, April 10, at 7:30 p.m. in the Drama Theatre of the Pealer Performing Arts Center.

Tickets are available to FSU students, faculty and staff only due to COVID restrictions and guidelines.

Directed by FSU's Mairzy Yost-Rushton, this beautifully haunting play is based on Edgar Lee Masters' "Spoon River Anthology" and adapted by Tom Andolara. In it, nearly 50 former residents of Spoon River, all of whom have come back from the dead to share the secrets they've taken with them to the grave, examine life and the longing for what might have been. As the citizens reflect on the dreams, secrets and regrets of their lives, they paint a gritty and honest portrait of the town as all of their pasts are illuminated.

"Spoon River Anthology" (1915) is a collection of short free-verse poems that collectively narrates the epitaphs of the residents of Spoon River, a fictional small town named after the Spoon River, which ran near Masters' hometown of Lewistown, Ill. The aim of the poems is to demystify rural and small-town American life.

The creative team of "The Spoon River Project" includes Grace LaCount as Sarah Brown, Margaret Fuller Slack, Mrs. Purkapile and Zilpha Marsh; Kasey Taylor, featured soloist, as Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Merritt and Daisy Frasier; Laura Frederick, soloist, as Elsa Wertman, Mrs. Meyers, Hannah Armstrong and Lucinda Matlock; Luke Vought as Archibald Higbie, Harry Wilmans, Doc Hill and Searcy Foote; Brendon Eric McCabe, featured soloist, as Daniel M'Cumber, Elmer Karr, Hamilton Greene and Fiddler Jones; Madilyn McManaway as Flossie Cabanis, Nellie Clark, Mary McNeely and Lydia Puckett; Christopher Blackwell as Walter Simmons, Abel Melveny, Clarence Fawcett and Richard Bone; Brian Records, soloist, as George Gray, Tom Merritt, Knowlt Hoheimer and Doctor Meyers; Calaysia Michelé Hamilton as Dorcas Gustine, Rosie Roberts, Mrs. Kessler and Minerva Jones; and Andre Mason as Tom Beatty, Deacon Taylor, Roscoe Purkapile and Eugene Carman. In addition to Yost-Rushton, the production team consists of Danielle

Preston, costume designer; George Georgeson, light designer and sound engineer; Frank Bowles, scenic designer; Gray Walters, sound designer; Andrew Geier, properties designer; Nicholas Partonen, production stage manager; Alexus Niblack, assistant stage manager; Chris McCabe, music director; and Desiree Witt, choreographer. Choral singers recorded include Denise Adams, Connor McCabe, Trevor Mcabe, Laurel Plitnik and Christian Scott.

Tickets for the live performance are $7 for FSU students and $12 for FSU faculty and staff. Reservations for this group only can be made by visiting <https://frostburgtix.universitytickets.com>. Each show has a limited number of tickets to allow for social distancing, and tickets will be sold on a first-come, first-served basis. Walk-up ticket sales are not available for this production.

Music

Because of the coronavirus pandemic, musical performances before live audiences of the general public will not be held until conditions warrant. However, the Department of Music is continuing its series of online presentations. Links will be posted at www.frostburg.edu/concerts.

Visit www.frostburg.edu/concerts and click an event to be directed to the FSU Localist Events page; click the red “Join Steam” button on the right side of page to join the livestream.

Unless otherwise noted, concerts are free to view online. For info, contact FSU’s Department of Music at 301-687-4109.

If you miss the livestreams, Music Department recitals are available for viewing on YouTube: Frostburg Music Department.

Department of Music Presents Wind Ensemble in Concert

FSU’s Department of Music will present the Wind Ensemble in its concert, “Classics Reimagined,” on Friday, April 9, at 7 p.m. at FSU’s Upper Quad Amphitheatre. This event is free and open to the campus community.

Maximum capacity at this venue is 100 persons. To reserve your spot, email Dr. Brent Weber at bmweber@frostburg.edu. A 6-foot distance must be maintained between individuals or families, and attendees must maintain a 12-foot distance from the ensemble. In case of rain, the concert will be livestreamed from Pealer Recital Hall, and the audience will be limited to 50 members of the campus community. If this happens, the band members will use PPE (bell and instrument covers) to ensure safety.

The program will include “anti-FANFARE” by Andrew Blair; “Irish Tune” by Percy Grainger; “The Carnival of the Animals” by Camille Saint-Saëns, arranged by Bocoock; “Children’s March” by Grainger; “Serenade, Op. 7” by Richard Strauss, arranged by Weber; “Shepherd’s Hey” by Grainger; “Oblivion” by Astor Piazzolla, arranged by Robert Longfield; and “Powerhouse” by Raymond Scott, arranged by Murtha.

“anti-FANFARE” is a short, exciting concert opener for woodwinds and percussion inspired by Blair’s forays into contemporary jazz fusion and electronica.

“Irish Tune From County Derry” is a setting of a now-famous tune from the Irish county of Derry in the north (also sometimes called Londonderry).

“The Carnival of the Animals” (“Le Carnaval des animaux”) is a humorous musical suite of 14 movements by French romantic composer Saint-Saëns.

“Children’s March” was scored for band by Grainger in 1919 from a piano solo he had composed between 1916 and 1918. Grainger had a keen interest in folk music and used traditional folk tunes as the basis for many of his works. This folk tune, however, is his original.

“Serenade for 13 Wind Instruments, Op. 7,” from 1881, is the first work of the German composer Strauss to have survived in the concert hall. Although a youthful work, its charm, vivacity and technical assurance makes it a worthy successor of Mozart’s “Gran Partita,” upon which it is modeled.

Grainger made several different settings of “Shepherd’s Hey,” which is based on a folk tune. The first setting appeared in 1909. The band version came in 1918. The tune itself is a Morris dance, a centuries-old tradition of fluid, group dancing from England.

“Oblivion” is a hauntingly atmospheric piece by Argentine tango composer Piazzolla. Written in 1982, it was used in the soundtrack of Mario Bellochio’s film, “Enricho IV.”

“Powerhouse” (1937) is an instrumental musical composition by Scott, perhaps best known today as the iconic “assembly line” music in animated cartoons released by Warner Bros.

“Syrinx” (1913) is a solo flute work that tells of the story of the nymph Syrinx being pursued by Pan. To escape, Syrinx transforms herself into the reeds, which Pan turns into the panpipe once he gives up on his chase.

“Epitaphe de Jean Harlow” (1937) was created in memory of actress Jean Harlow who died in 1937.

Hofmann’s earliest compositions date from the 1750s. “Concerto in D Major” was originally written for solo flute and orchestral accompaniment; however, in this rendition, the piano will be the accompaniment.

Harty was a church organist who later moved to London and became a well-known piano accompanist. He composed “In Ireland” in 1915.

“La Gata – Milonga” (2016) is from a set of flute duets inspired by the milonga, a musical genre that originated in Argentina.

This comes after obtaining a master’s in applied physics at UMBC in 2017 and double majoring for a bachelor’s in applied physics and engineering at FSU. His doctoral research was based in the field of quantum optics and included designing interferometers that are insensitive to optical turbulence and aiding in the study of high-resolution X-ray ghost imaging. This work has led to publications in “Physical Review Letters,” “APL Photonics” and “Optics Express,” as well as multiple pending patents. He plans to continue conducting physics research that can potentially lead to practical applications such as quantum information, imaging or interferometry.

Aaron Littlejohn ’13 is a senior process engineer in Intel’s Logic Technology Development group, driving the optimization of high-volume semiconductor manufacturing processes. 'Reacting to the Past' Game for Faculty, Staff and Students

"Reacting to the Past" is an innovative teaching pedagogy that engages students in the learning process by assigning them historic roles for an extended in-class role-play game that encourages them to actively engage with discussion and debate around important "intellectual collisions." The Center for Teaching Excellence has sponsored several games in the past (Frederick Douglas, Greenwich Village and Climate Change), and FSU has been an institutional member of this group for many years.

With the support of the University Council on Diversity, Equity and Inclusion, the College of Business Dean's Office, the Center for Teaching Excellence and International Studies Program, the online role-playing game for students, staff and faculty will be held virtually on Friday, April 9, and Saturday, April 10, and participants should be available that Friday from 3 p.m. to Saturday at 4 p.m. for various sessions. The game will be played in Gather.town, an innovate online teaching tool that provides an interactive classroom space.

This RTTP game is about the presence of the U.S. company, Firestone Tire and Rubber, in the West African country of Liberia in the 1930s. There are 30 roles to be "cast" in the game, so each participant will play a specific role; a variety of issues will be discussed and debated. Roles include W.E.B. DuBois, Harvey Firestone Jr., Marcus Garvey, Winston Churchill and Amelia Earhart, among others.

If you cannot attend the entire event, consider attending a Zoom conversation with Jennifer Worth, the director of "Reacting to the Past," at 10 a.m. on April 10.

For info, contact Suzanne McCoskey at skmccoskey@frostburg.edu.

Civility Cup Nominations Sought

The Communication Leadership Lab will award the seventh annual Civil Citizen Communicator Award this May. This award is given to an FSU student who has, within the previous year, demonstrated communication leadership or a commitment through word and actions to civility and constructive change within an organization or community. This person should have demonstrated communication competence, leadership competence and an awareness of and responsiveness to matters of civility that impact others. This award aligns with the mission of our programs and FSU to support the oral communication competency and leadership development of our students, and it supports regional development through recognition of efforts linking the campus to community partners.

Do you know someone who fits this description, someone who is committed to changing the University, another organization or society for the better? Is that person you? If so, submit a nomination for the Civil Citizen Communicator Award. Nominations will be accepted until the deadline of Friday, April 30.

Nominate a candidate or yourself by emailing Connie Capacchione, administrative assistant of the Department of Communication, at ccapacchione@frostburg.edu.

Judges for the award include Trevor Jones '17, who works for Baltimore County Councilman Julian Jones; Renee Mason '16, of the Allegany County Library System; and Sherry White, who works for News and Media Services (Advancement) at FSU.

Throughout his tenure at FSU as a communication studies and philosophy major, Jones secured internships within all three levels of government – local, state and federal. While at FSU, he worked alongside the president of the regional NAACP in Allegany County, Md., as the FSU student liaison and member of the Political Action Committee. Jones was granted TS clearance through Pacific Architect Engineers and spent time working for the FBI as a legal administrative specialist. He works as a legislative aide and communications director for Baltimore County Councilman Julian Jones and plans to attend law school.

Mason is the Arts and Graphics coordinator for the Allegany County Library System. In 2017, she spearheaded the creation of the local chapter, Choose Civility: Allegany County, a grassroots initiative to improve and enrich Allegany County by promoting civil conversations and kindness toward others. Through partnerships with local entities like FSU, ACM, the Women's Action Coalition, Leadership Allegany, the Class of 2018 and NAACP, the local Choose Civility chapter remains viable and sustainable.

With more than 25 years of experience in communication and media, White is a writer/digital communication specialist at FSU. While she began her career writing and editing for companies such as Simon and Schuster, Houghton Mifflin and Pearson Education, White's interests and career have evolved toward graphic and website design. She is pursuing a graduate certificate in user experience/user interface design from the University of Baltimore.

For info regarding the award or nomination process, contact Dr. Elesha L. Ruminski, professor of Communication Studies and coordinator of Leadership Studies and the Communication Leadership Lab, at elruminski@frostburg.edu. A panel of reviewers external to the Department of Communication will rank and determine the award winner, and public announcement will be made later in May. Each award winner's name is etched on the Civility Cup, which is displayed in the Department of Communication. In addition to this public recognition, a formal certificate of acknowledgement will be given to the student who receives this honor.

Volunteers

Get Involved in FSU's Food Recovery Network!

FRN Cuts Food Waste and Feeds People in Need

FSU's Food Recovery Network collects unserved food from Chesapeake Dining Hall and the food court in the Lane University Center. It then donates those collections to the Western Maryland Food Bank, which warehouses and distributes food to charities serving 10,000 to 13,000 hungry people each month.

Working with Chartwell's, FSU's Food Recovery Network has recovered more than 4,000 pounds of food!

Students and others interested in becoming involved should contact Tracy Edwards at tedwards@frostburg.edu or 301-697-7699.

Beautify the 'Burg

Volunteers are needed for the annual Beautify the 'Burg event on Saturday, April 24, from 9 a.m. to noon. Due to COVID, the event will be smaller, so volunteer spots are limited and will be accepted on a first-come, first-served basis. If you and/or your student organization is interested in serving, fill out the volunteer registration and liability form and return it to the Office of Civic Engagement in Lane 234. To ensure T-shirts are available for you and your group, be sure to submit the registration and liability form by Friday, April 9. Health and Safety Messages

April Is Distracted Driving Awareness Month

In 2019, distracted driving killed 3,142 people – a 10 percent increase from 2018. During a portion of Distracted Driving Awareness Month, you may see increased law enforcement on the roadways as part of the national paid media campaign U Drive. U Text. U Pay. This campaign reminds drivers of the deadly dangers and the legal consequences – including fines – of texting behind the wheel.

For info, visit <https://www.nhtsa.gov/distracted-driving/april-distracted-driving-awareness-month>.

Follow these safety tips for a safe ride every time:

Need to send a text? Pull over and park your car in a safe location. Only then is it safe to send or read a text.

Designate your passenger as your “designated texter.” Allow them access to your phone to respond to calls or messages.

Do not scroll through apps, including social media, while driving. Cell phone use can be habit-forming. Struggling to not text and drive? Put the cell phone in the trunk, glove box or back seat of the vehicle until you arrive at your destination.
