

Good afternoon,
Here is an update of some recent activities:

Online education regarding gender-based harassment and violence. FSU is committed to ensuring we are doing our best to prevent gender-based harassment and violence. As part of that commitment we are asking all members of the campus (faculty, staff, and students) to complete an online training module. Increasing our sensitivity and awareness will help us address this national concern and make FSU a better place to live. Watch for emails giving you access to the training.

Over the next two months, task force members will engage with these stakeholders, and a website will be set up to share the data gathered. If you missed the message listing the members of the task force, read it here. Below is a Word Cloud that was based on the feedback from the task force at the end of the workshop.

technology facilities. His staff commented about the well-kept appearance of the campus – thanks to all in facilities who make that happen.

Student Recruitment. We are in the prime period for high school students and their families visiting FSU. We had a very successful open house this past weekend. I ask everyone to welcome these families when you see them on campus tours.

Foundation and Alumni Boards. The FSU Foundation and Alumni Association boards will be meeting this weekend as part of Homecoming. I'll share what we learn from those meetings in my next email.

With Homecoming this weekend, please enjoy as many events as you can and take in the festivities. Let's make it a great Bobcat Experience!
