EMERITI ADMINISTRATORS

Emeritus status for officer, professional and administrative staff may be conferred by Frostburg State University on the basis of exemplary and lengthy service to the University community. Administrator Emeritus, a title of distinction, is conferred by the President upon Officer and Professional and Administrative staff whose personal and professional contributions to the University community have been of the highest merit.

Eligibility considerations for Emeritus status include: at least 10 years full-time Frostburg State University employment at the level of Director or above; a recommendation made by the Executive Officer to whom the nominated person reports; Executive Committee approval, by signature, of the President.

Emeriti administrators are listed under Emeriti -- Administration in the University catalog and enjoy use of University facilities, privileges and services as available to the University community.

When merited, the President may make exceptions to this policy.

POLICY ON AIRPORT TRANSPORTATION

Whenever air travel is required for University business, it will be the University's intent to fly out of the Cumberland, Maryland airport. Unless there are compelling reasons such as clear overall savings to the entire University expenditure involved (not just one departmental budget) for a department to require ground transportation to Baltimore, Washington, or Pittsburgh for air travel, such service will not be provided. If such service is necessary, the cost of the service will be charged to the department, or grant, securing the service.
