CCIT NAMING OPPORTUNITIES

The Catherine R. Gira Center for Communications and Information Technology (CCIT) provides the most modern facilities for Frostburg State University students to learn and thrive in technology-intensive disciplines.

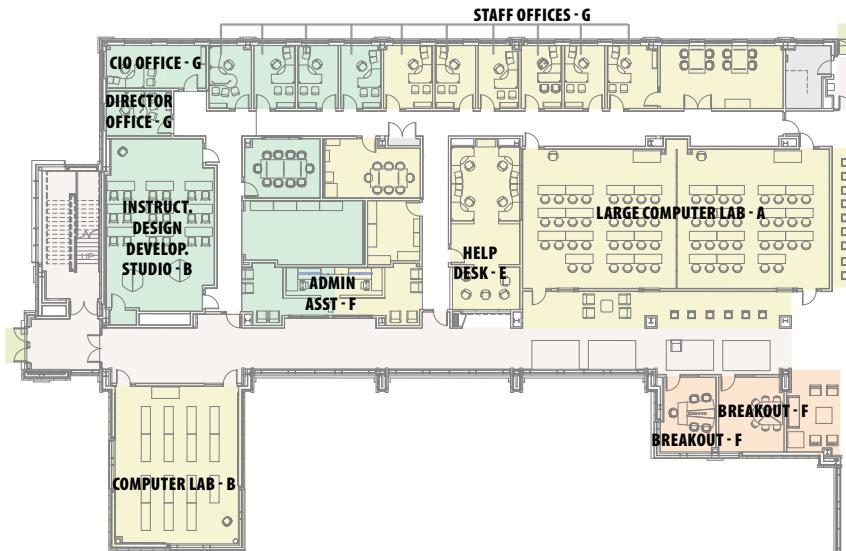

The building's many features include advanced graphics labs and video/audio studios and a "green" roof planted with vegetation designed to reduce the University's carbon footprint. A multimedia learning center features a Planetarium, which adds a significant teaching and regional outreach facility.

This amazing center, named in honor of FSU's 13th president, the late Dr. Catherine Gira, offers many additional recognition and naming opportunities for you or a loved one. Commitments can be fulfilled over time, up to five years.

Donor support is essential to the future of this technologically advanced learning center. Those wishing to support the CCIT at $25,000 and above will have a chosen space named in their honor and the option to endow a separate fund for restricted purposes. The endowed fund supports the department that houses the designated area, unless it is a shared space. Gifts made to name shared spaces are invested in a general endowment that supports all programs housed in the CCIT. For more information, please contact Liz Nelson '01/M'17, Planned Giving Officer, at 301-697-4438 or eanelson@frogsburg.edu.

Your gift will be counted toward FSU's Forging Futures campaign.
