

LGLG Meeting

Thursday, December 10, 2009

Members Present: Sydney Duncan, Kelly Martin, Adrian Uzurian, Erin VanMeter, Patrick O'Brien, Jeffrey Sellers, Matthew Sloan, Keramat Poorsolten, Way Lam, Dan Fiscus, Paul Kazyak, Sidni Giordano

A. Updates:

1. We revised and finalized the LGLG mission statement.
2. SCUP Sustainability Web cast has been rescheduled for sometime in early February.
3. April Baer is having a conference call on December 17th at 12:30pm about municipal recycling in Montgomery County.
4. Blackout days will be advertised in the Spotlight for every Thursday.

B. Paul Kayzak discussed FSU Grows is one of the projects the EPA sent to congress. $1.8 million dollars is available for funding from the EPA. The money is intended to be transitional.

C. Awakening the Dreamer symposium will be held on Saturday from 9 to noon at New Germany State Park in the Lakehouse.

D. Recyclmania - 3rd year at FSU. We need to start a campaign; get classes involved, have professors make announcements, have incentives for the dorms, show results and FSU ranking each week, keep in contact with RHA's, and contact recycling technicians to see if they have been keeping track of recycling. Sydney Duncan is working on taking the trash cans out of Dunkle Hall and putting them next to recycle bins to encourage recycling.

E. Earth Week:

1. Reviewed LGLG advisory proposal for Compton. Email staff by next Friday.
2. Look into Palace Theater to host activities.

F. Groups:

1. Mitigation will focus on recycling and recyclmania and having echo stars involved. They will also focus on transportation and work with Aramark and Physical Plant.
2. Outreach will focus on signs for Earthweek, getting in touch with local businesses and community groups, obtain stickers for light switches, and show de-lamping video.
3. Finance will focus on pricing strategies and developing a budget plan.

G. Sustainability survey will be handed out the 2nd week of February; online and in classes. Another one will be collected at the end of the year to see progress/results.

H. Scheduling - Next meeting is on January 28, 2010 at 12:30 in the President's board room in Hitchins
