ENGL 101 – J. Morris

Course Name:	First Year Writing (ENGL101)
Instructor:	Dr. Jill Morris
Contact Info:	jamorris@frostburg.edu , 734-771-8371
Course Description:	Students learn how to conduct research using University resources and write papers about topics of the student's own choosing. Students will also read, discuss, and reflect on a wide variety of topics and interact with classmates in online peer review and other activities.
Course Recommended for:	This class will be best for students who want to get a little ahead in their coursework and also who feel like they have something that they want to say. The course helps students learn how to write argumentatively, so anyone that wants to respond to current world experiences positively through writing should enroll.
Course Materials:	There is no required book for this course.
Course Requirements:	There are no pre-reqs for the course.
Technical Requirements:	Students should have access to Microsoft Word or something compatible like Google Docs. Lectures are both in video format and written format, so having a computer or other screen to watch brief lectures and headphones is also recommended.
Message from Instructor:	In order to register for this course, you must visit Ms. Kurek immediately after you register for your fall classes. She will give you the essential course materials listed above and provide you with a quick orientation to the course so that you may begin working on the lessons right away. Students looking for a personal connection with an instructor who enjoys video games, dogs, and roller coasters should consider enrolling!
